Pa Beef Expo Highlights Member Achievements

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The four-day Pennsylvania Beef Exposition was held recently at the Penn State Ag Arena and gave owners of all cattle breeds a chance to promote their choice of breed through shows and sales, and to learn more about the trade.

The event was co-sponsored by the Pa. Cattlemen's Association (PCA) and affiliate organizations, Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences, the various state breed associations, and the Pa. Department of Agriculture.

It began with the arrival of cattle and an educational symposium entitled "Making Money with a Small Herd of Cows."

More than 200 people attended the symposium, according to Expo Publicity and Promotion Chairman David Seamans. Seamans said it was designed to show how the smaller producer can use to their advantage what the big producers have, such as information from extension services and college and industry-funded research.

In the first session, Dr. Bill Henning, assistant professor of Dairy and Animal Science at Penn State, addressed ways of marketing calves from a small herd.

Henning's topic was, "Evaluating a Bid Price from a Prospective Buyer," "Electronic Markets: Are They For Me?" "County-Wide Cooperative Sales," and "Direct Sales to Consumers: The Advan-

Anti-Biotech Supporters May Hurt Consumer Confidence

GAITHERSBURG, Md. — The meat and dairy industry may be facing one of its largest challenges to date in assuring the American consumer of the safety of its products.

The challenge is being offered in the form of a threat from an anti-biotechnology, anti-agriculture and anti-cattle organization that is preparing a campaign to create fear among Americans about consuming domestic milk and meat.

The parent organization is Foundation on Economic Trends, created and run by Jeremy Rifkin. Rifkin has established another non-profit group called Pure Food Campaign that has as its goal to ban the use of any biotechnology in the development of food.

Rifkin refers to Pure Food Campaign as an "international offshoot project." He has three people running it.

According to Ted Howard, director of Pure Food, the goal of the project is to create a rejection by the American people of milk or meat that is derived from cattle treated with supplemental bovine somatotropin (BST).

By his own description, Howard is a long-time Washington D.C.-based professional fund-raiser and associate of Rifkin. He said that over the past 10 years he has been working with various campaigns to raise money to fight world hunger. He said he started working with Rifkin during the 1970s and came back to work with Rifkin about a year ago with the start-up of Pure Food Campaign.

Rifkin is behind several different groups which hold non-mainstream opinions and views on agriculture and animal rights and raise funds to pay for spreading the message and to lobby Washington legislators.

Howard said the Pure Food Campaign is to "educate" the public about his and Rifkin's concerns about supplemental BST being

The Lutz Family Enjoys Life In 'Switzerland Of Northern Berks'

ANDY ANDREWS

KEMPTON (Berks Co.) — Lester Lutz said he lives in the "Switzerland of northern Berks."

A visitor who meanders through the mountains — on one side lie what countians refer to as "The Pinnacle" and, on the other, the majestic Blue Mountain — can appreciate the postcard-like beauty. And the Lutz Farm — recently honored as a Century Farm, with more than a 100 years in the family — sits in the lush valley.

Some of the land is tillable, and grows about 20 acres of grain crops, mostly soybeans. About eight acres is taken up by an orchard brimming with a variety of fruit trees that Lutz, since he stopped farming years ago, continues to develop and, free time permitting, maintains.

It's the "maintaining" part that has been tricky for Lutz, who has to try to find spare time away from his full-time job at TNT Red Star Express as a driver and from mowing and caring for a combination of woodland and open area alongside the homestead.

But it is something he enjoys most, and is grateful for, considering, since he was a child, he remembers how difficult it was for his family to make it as a dairy and how fortunate he feels to have inherited some prime farmland.

Lot of ground

"I always say we have a lot of ground but very little land on this farm," said Lutz, who rents a part of the farm to a neighbor to grow soybeans. Lutz and his family — wife Linda, son Lloyd, and daughters Lisa and Louise — have lived on the farm since 1972, when Lutz purchased it from his mother, Mary. The total farm encompasses

Delmarva Broiler-Fryer Market

Wednesday, April 7, 1993

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was generally moderate to occasionally better for the limited supplies of lighter sizes. Supplies were adequate. Weights were desirable to mostly heavy. Live supplies were moderate. Processing schedules were heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 48 - 57 cents. Trade sentiment was generally steady. In the parts complex, demand for wings improved for immediate, some interest in leg quarters was noted for future shipments, and the balance of items were at least steady.

Northeast Chicken Parts

Wednesday, April 7, 1993

Trucklot buying interest was fair and about as expected for mid-week. Supplies of boneless skinless breasts were in fairly good balance for immediate needs but short of covering an active demand for next week deliveries. Trading was reported at higher prices and the undertone was fully steady. Line run breasts were adequate and most product cleared the market at steady prices. A little extra buying activity was noted early this morning but not enough to change the overall market.

Dark meat items were well balanced. Supplies of wings were tight, prices trended higher, and some buying interest was not covered.

New York & Phila. Frozen Egg Report

Tuesday, April 6, 1993

The market tone was barely steady with underlying sentiment becoming increasingly cautious. Trading was light but interest improved as pricing became more competitive. Raw materials were readily available but processors were unaggressive as most did not want to build inventories. Floor stocks were sufficient for current needs.

Upgrade your operation and improve your cash flow.

Equipment doesn't last forever. And successful operations have a way of outgrowing their buildings. It's not easy to balance your needs and your cash flow.

Our lease financing program can help extend your capital and provide the necessary tools without restricting your cash flow or goals.

You decide.

With lease financing by Telmark you pick the equipment or machinery, new or used, including buildings. You determine the dealer and the deal. We also offer a TRAC lease for over-the-road vehicles. These decisions are yours.

Then talk to us.

At Telmark our only business is agribusiness. We take into account your seasons and your markets. We'll help make your operation grow with 100% financing and the tax advantages of leasing.

Count your advantages.

Leasing benefits vary by individual situation, but the lower net cost can put you ahead of ownership in many ways.

- ◆ No large upfront payment to tie up your capital.
- ◆ Individualized, flexible terms.
- ◆ Credit lines remain undisturbed.
- ◆ Tax advantages.
- ◆ Purchase, renew, or return at the end of the lease term.

Take the next step.

Telmark has leased millions of dollars worth of vehicles, equipment and buildings to thousands of agribusinesses like yours. The best way to find out how the leasing programs will work for you is to visit with your Telmark representative.

Just call us at (315) 449-7964 or call your local representative.

National Egg Market

Wednesday, April 7, 1993

NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE: Prices to retailers were unchanged to lower in the Northeast and Midwest, and prices to producers, distributors and breakers were generally lower. The market tone was barely steady to weak. Cartoned egg demand was moderate to very good, best where featured. Supplies were at least adequate, and surplus eggs traded at discounts. Breakers received adequate supplies of shell eggs from regular sources, the undertone was barely steady to weak, and most plants planned reduced schedules. Light type fowl offerings were at least adequate for the light to moderate demand, and the undertone was barely steady to weak.

National Grain Market

St. Joseph, Mo.

Wednesday, April 7, 1993

DAILY NATIONAL GRAIN SUMMARY LATEST NEWS ON POSSIBLE IMMEDIATE RELEASE OF FOOD AID PACKAGE TO RUSSIA CAUSED SHARP TURN AROUND IN GRAIN PRICES, ESPECIALLY CORN AND BEAN PRICES. WHEAT UNCHANGED TO 2 CENTS HIGHER. CORN 1 TO 5 CENTS HIGHER. SORGHUM 1 TO 4 CENTS HIGHER. SOYBEANS 6 TO 8 CENTS HIGHER. REPORTS THAT ALL 700 MILLION DOLLARS OF THE RUSSIAN FOOD AID PACKAGE MAY BE RELEASED AT ONE TIME RATHER THAN OVER SEVEN MONTH PERIOD PUT SUPPORT BACK INTO GRAIN AND SOYBEAN PRICES. THE PL480 PROGRAM RATHER THAN EXPORT ENHANCEMENT PROGRAM IS EXPECTED TO PROVIDE A QUICKER DISPERSAL OF THE AID PACKAGE. ADDITIONAL DONATIONS AND SALE OF WHEAT TO ROMANIA ALSO BOOSTED WHEAT PRICES. SOME WEAKNESS WAS NOTED IN WHEAT PRICES DUE TO FEARS THAT LESS WHEAT MAY BE NEEDED FOR RUSSIA THAN HOPED. WET WEATHER IN MIDWEST AREAS THOUGHT TO DELAY CORN PLANTING PUSHED CORN PRICES HIGHER. SLOW COUNTRY SELLING AS WELL AS RUSSIAN AID NEWS INFLUENCED PRICE UPTURN. IDEAS MORE SOYMEAL THAN EXPECTED WILL BE INCLUDED IN AID PACKAGE ALSO A FACTOR FOR INCREASE IN BEAN PRICES.

EXPORT NEWS: ROMANIA BOUGHT 67,000 TONNES U.S. WHEAT UNDER PL480 FOOD AID AGREEMENT FOR FISCAL 1993. ROMAINIA BOUGHT 100,000 METRIC TONS HARD RED WINTER WHEAT FOR 93 MARKETING YEAR. MEXICO BOUGHT 475 TONNES SUNOIL UNDER THE SUNFLOWERSEED OIL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM FOR MAY SHIPMENT.

Oklahoma City Feeder Cattle

Oklahoma City, Okla.
Wednesday, April 7, 1993

OKLAHOMA NATIONAL STOCKYARDS WEEKLY CATTLE SUMMARY: Compared to last week: Feeder steers and few heifers over 700 lbs. $1.00- $2.00 lower. Stocker steers steady; stocker heifers $2.00-$4.00 higher. Demand good for all steers and feeder heifers; excellent demand for stocker heifers. Genetic quality average, few attractive sets. Flesh increasing on feeders and this a minor detriment to price per cwt from last week; feeders in average to moderately fleshy condition. Stocker flesh more attractive, average to very thin. Weigh-ups comparable to last week mostly average to moderately full, with exception of stockers gaunt to average. Wheat pastures looking very good these past few weeks. Bulk sales slaughter cows and bulls steady with few closing sales on Wednesday $.50-$1.50 higher. Demand good for slaughter cows and bulls. Receipts this week 6,925; last week 9,933; last year 13,077. Supply consisted of 79% feeders over 600 lbs.; 19% calves and light yearlings under 600 lbs.; 2% cows and bulls. Bulk price ranges follow with weighted averages in parenthesis.

THE BIG WIND

These blustery days are a welcome sign of spring However, the wind becomes a damaging force at about 39 miles per hour According to Beaufort's Scale of Wind Speeds (used by the National Weather Service) any wind of more than 75 mph is a hurricane Although extreme wind speeds in tornadoes and hurricanes have never been fully measured, they have been estimated at around 200 mph One spring day, the wind broke its own record On April 12, 1934, a gust of wind on Mount Washington in New Hampshire, was measured at 231 mph It was "the strongest natural wind ever recorded on the earth's surface" Not a good day to fly a kite!

Many can brook the weather that love not the wind. — Shakespeare

TIP OF THE WEEK

A paste of vinegar and baking soda will often remove "ring around the collar."

EARTHWISE

Specialized cleaning problems don t always require specialized products You can make your own antimildew and disinfectant scouring powder Combine ¼ cup baking soda and ½ cup borax Wet the affected area sprinkle on the powder, and scrub with a damp sponge If the area is very dirty, allow the powder to stand for several hours before rinsing This cleanser is inexpensive and nontoxic, is safe for fiberglass, and deodorizes too!

SALMON STUFFED EGGS

8 hard-boiled eggs
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon vinegar
4 tablespoons mayonnaise
2 ounces smoked salmon, chopped salt and pepper to taste
paprika for garnish

Slice eggs in half lengthwise Remove yolks into a bowl and mash with a fork Mix dry mustard and vinegar to form a paste, then add to yolks with mayonnaise, salt, and pepper Stir in chopped salmon and gently mound into egg whites Sprinkle with paprika

Makes 16 halves

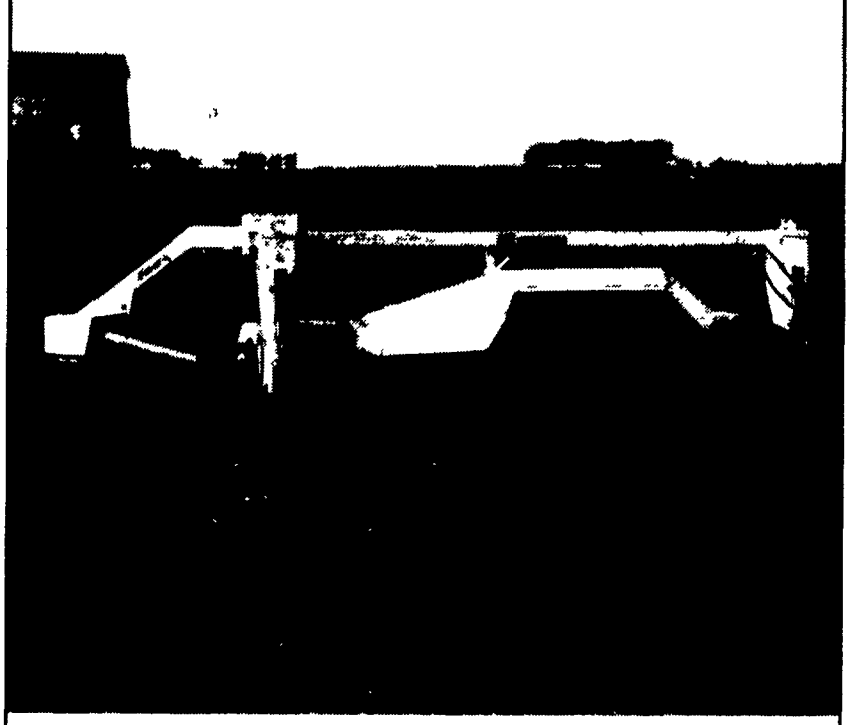
Cuts more than hay. Cuts time.



New Idea 5212 Disc Mower Conditioners cut a big 11'9" swath and condition with 9'6" intermeshing rolls. It's a wider version of our well-known 5209. With it, you cut and condition lots of hay...every trip. And that means you cut time.

Because the New Idea modular disc cutterbar design makes routine maintenance simple and, although unlikely, repairs a breeze; there's less downtime, too.

Best of all, you'll find our disc mower conditioners are just one segment of our hay equipment line. Others include round balers, disc mowers, sickle mowers and mower conditioners, rakes and hay handling equipment.

OPINION

BST: Dairy Farmer's Decision

The opponents of animal agriculture say they are ready to launch a national advertising and public relations campaign against milk, in anticipation that BST will be approved to increase milk production on the farm. In "The Pure Food Campaign," activist Jeremy Rifkin plans to authorize full-page ads and TV commercials advocating the boycott of meat, milk, and dairy products from cows treated with BST. On April 17, more than 2,000 activist teams in 800 cities are said to be ready to hand out one million anti-BST leaflets at McDonald's restaurants in the U.S. and Canada.

The problem here is two-fold. All milk contains natural BST, and there is no test to show if the BST in any milk sample came from nature or from an injection to the cow on the farm.

In addition, since there is no way to scientifically disprove the presence of syntethic BST in the milk, you have the perfect situation for half-truths and emotional projections to be made against agriculture and in support of animal worship.

We don't think the issue here is food safety. And fortunately, we have milk marketing organizations with check-off dollars to tell the farmer's side of the story.

But the decision to use BST in the management of your cows should not be done by people who want to put you out of business because of their own hidden agenda. As New York State Commissioner Richard McGuire told the Northeast Dairy Conference in Corning last week: "Don't give in to the tactics of those who try to scare the public."

The market for BST from the pharmaceutical companies should rise or fall on the practical aspects of BST in the individual dairy farmer's operation. Will the price of BST and the inconvenience of application be outweighed by additional benefits in increased production?

Dairy farmers who have been in on the trials for BST report that you should do everything else right to get top production before you look to BST as a management tool. Do you use TMR feeding and all the other best management practices now? If not, BST most likely will not be worth the investment to you.

In many animals, the selective methods for the genetic base built into our dairy animals has advanced their inherent capacity to produce milk beyond the ability of feedstuffs and good herd management to use. We saw a cow last week that was unofficially producing 190 pounds of milk per day. Is it really practical to use BST on animals you have trouble drying off for the next calving period anyway?

Then there is the ethical question. Everyone would inject a cow to relieve pain or to cure or prevent disease. But is it right to use a needle on a cow just to increase profit?

These are questions dairy farmers will need to answer for themselves. And it could be that the answers dairy farmers give to these questions will make the supposed marketing problem for milk irrelevant. At least the dairy farmer should have the opportunity to make the decisions.

To Lower Somatic Cell Counts

Higher somatic cell counts (SCC) mean losses in milk production for dairy operations.

It is estimated that a dairy cow will have 400 pounds less production per lactation for every point increase in SCC linear score (first lactation cows will decrease by 200 pounds). Increases in profits may be substantial for herds that lower SCC through good management.

For a 60-cow herd with 33 percent first lactation cows, every point reduction in SCC linear score would increase milk production by 200 cwt or $2,400 at $12.00 cwt milk. In addition, a reduction in SCC to a low level might also qualify farms for quality premiums that would be based on all milk marketed.

Also, various research studies have estimated the annual cost of mastitis, of which elevated SCC is a symptom, to be $50-100 per cow. A savings of $30 per cow for 60 cows would add an additional $1,800 savings for a total of $4,200.

Often the management strategies to reduce SCC are fairly inexpensive. Work with your dairy herd advisors and discuss ways you may reduce your SCC counts and place more money in your pockets.

To Obey The Law

The recent problems President Clinton had with cabinet appointees for not following laws have lessons for all of us.

First, when you least expect an issue to develop, one will.

Second, there is little reason to find comfort in the counsel of others who tell you "do not worry, the government does not enforce that law." Someone will find out about you at a time when you may least afford to be embarrassed or humiliated.

Third, you are placing your own assets at risk and losing everything, such as the farm, the car, the bank account, etc.

Some areas we need to be concerned about are speeding (one county DA is charging speeding motorists with manslaughter if someone is killed in a car accident), environmental regulations, health papers for animals, and withdrawal of drugs.

Remember the lessons from this administration and do not gamble away your reputation and assets.

To Promote A Good Farm Image

Spring has finally arrived. Now would be a good time to look at ways you may improve the appearance of your farmstead.

The appearance of buildings and the surroundings consistently generate images, good or bad, to our neighbors. Paint, tress, shrubs and fences, which beautify and screen our farms, are one of the best investments we may make to improve our relations with our neighbors and community.

Also, we need to improve our relations with our neighbors. Take time and learn who your neighbors are. Do neighborly things. Visit, take gifts, talk, and be friendly are a few things you may do.

Most people will tolerate other people and their problems if they know them and have some understanding of their problems. Therefore, initiate positive actions today to ease the pressure and head off complaints.

Feather Prof's Footnote: "Pay attention to details and sweat the small stuff."

Dairy farmers all across the United States have now had the opportunity to read the ads published in several dairy magazines by the National Dairy Campaign supporters.

The ads clearly illustrate the unity being exhibited by many dairy farmers throughout the country. Without any reservations dairy farmers are realizing, if any thing is going to be done to correct the inadequate-unreasonable prices being paid to them, then the dairymen themselves must grasp the problem and correct it.

John Pardoe, president of Pro Ag recently announced that Pro Ag was going to join forces with the National Dairy Campaign and help stimulate unity among dairy farmers across the United States.

Many of the dairy farmers and organizations that make up the dairy campaign are the same ones that diligently labored in support of the Leahy Dairy Bill in November of 1991. The bill was defeated in the United States Senate on a 51-47 vote.

Everyone involved in the battle swore to come back in 1993 with greater unity and work for passable dairy legislation that can and will correct dairy farmers' inadequate pay price.

The supporters of the Dairy Campaign have two major goals:

•Replace the M and W Price Series as the basic formula price in all federal milk marketing orders and, in its place, use the national average cost of production as

BELIEVING IS SEEING
April 11, 1993

Background Scripture:
John 20:1-18.
Devotional Reading:
John 20:19-23

I'll bet you thought I got that title turned around? Usually, we say "Seeing is believing." But, no, I meant it as it appears: believing is seeing.

Some people believe only what they see. Like Thomas. I'm sure that some of us sometimes react to the Easter message with just a little wistfulness: it is fine for the early disciples to have seen and believed in the Risen Lord, but we are asked to do so sight unseen. It seems a bit unfair, doesn't it?

NO NEAT PACKAGE

That may be because we have failed to grasp something important about the Easter story. Make a careful listing of all the experiences of the Risen Lord recorded in the gospels and then compare them. It is virtually impossible to put these all together in a nice, neat package. Whatever his disciples experienced when they saw the Risen Lord, there is no common agreement of what that experience was like.

In the Emmaus road experience in Luke 24, he walks with them, talks with them, and sits at supper with them. But then he disappears in a way that is not physical at all. Matthew 28 says they "took hold of his feet and worshipped him." In Luke 24, he says to them: "See my hands and my feet...handle me and see; for a spirit has not flesh and bones as you see that I have." Matthew then tells us "They gave him a piece of broiled fish, and he took it and ate it before them." In John, however, Jesus warns Mary Magdalene: "Do not hold me, for I have not yet ascended to the Father" and he appears to the disciples in a locked room.

Even more important is the fact that often the disciples did not recognize him. If Jesus appeared to them in the same physical body they had come to know, why would Matthew say, "And when they saw him they worshipped him; but some doubted?" Or why would Luke say of the two on the Emmaus Road, "...their eyes were kept from recognizing him?" And of the band of disciples, "But they were startled...and supposed that they saw a spirit?" And why would John tell us of Mary: "...she turned round and saw Jesus standing but she did not know that it was Jesus," or of the disciples in Galilee, "...yet the disciples did not know it was Jesus?"

BEYOND THE PHYSICAL

My point is that the appearance of the resurrected Lord was not just a matter of experiencing a physical being. For his disciples to recognize him, something more was required: faith. Whatever the resurrected Lord was— physical, spiritual or something in-between- it was not simply a physical encounter. Some people, Matthew tells us, were present but did not experience him at all.

What makes the difference? The answer: faith. Because there was an element of faith in them, some experienced the Risen Lord, while others who lacked that faith experienced nothing. Before some of the disciples could see Jesus, they had to believe in him. Faith helps to determine what we see and experience, just as doubt also helps to shape our experience. That is the whole point of John's Gospel. His words "are written that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ the Son of God, and that believing you may have life in his name" (20:31).

We have no less an opportunity than the disciples did, for, if we believe, we too can experience the Risen Lord.

being the price mover.

•Develop a supply management program to properly manage any potential surplus milk. A two-tier program is the preference.

The dairy farmers making up the nucleus of the dairy campaign are urging their fellow dairymen across the United States to contact the co-ops or organizations they belong to and urge them to support the National Dairy Campaign. Failure of the organizations to respond to their members will only mean the members will have to leap frog over their organizations and do the job themselves.

I'm asking all dairy farmers, regardless of your affiliation, to call your United States senator and congressmen and urge them to support the efforts of the National Dairy Campaign.

Let your elected officials know how it really is down on the farm. Any senator or congressman can be reached by calling the capital switchboard at (202) 224-3121.

Also, call the following people, Sen. Leahy's ag committee at (202) 224-5207; Congressman Harned Volkmer, chairman of the House Committee on Dairy at (202) 225-1867; U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Mike Esby at (202) 720-3631.

This movement of dairy farmers will be the greatest grassroots effort ever made by dairymen. Dairy farmers will be the ones that will make the change. Push the lame excuses aside that you have given and, in their place, pledge a united effort by all dairy farmers.

In Pennsylvania, the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board establishes minimum retail prices.

Currently, supermarkets in Towanda and Tunkhannock are selling one gallon of milk for $2.19. Three years ago, the same milk sold for $2.55 per gallon. This is a 36-cent drop in three years and every cent of that drop was taken away from dairy farmers.

It's time to call a halt to these inadequate prices. Dairy farmers must insist on a new pricing formula that reflects the cost of producing milk.

Please make your calls today.

PROFESSIONAL FARMERS RELY ON KUBOTA

Kubota's L-Series tractors are some of the most reliable for versatility and economical operation that today's farming requires. Choose from 20-49 PTO with direct injection diesel engines.

A superior selection of farm options, implements and accessories lets you decide on the L-Series tractor that is just right for your needs – narrow for orchard and vineyard work, mid-size versatility for maintenance and turf work, or heavy duty to take on big workloads. These Kubota's are tailor-made to deliver top, efficient performance with economical, low maintenance.

Then there are the comfort features – performance matched implements, comfortable seat, excellent visibility, reverse air cooling. And there are the professional options – power steering, optional glide-shift transmission, and improved hydraulics.

If farming is your business, an L-Series tractor from Kubota is built to be your reliable choice.

Crop Strategies Tied

GEORGE F.W. HAENLEIN
Extension Dairy Specialist
University of Delaware

NEWARK, Del. — Well, it's still white outside and the groundhog, on target once again, saw his shadow Feb. 2.

His predicted six more weeks of winter will be over soon enough, replaced by spring work in the fields.

Along with the eager anticipation of warmer weather comes planning for the next crops to feed our milking animals — cold-season forages, grazing, green chop, haylage, silage and hay.

Planning, supported by already-established crops, should focus on when and how best to harvest, given the almost certainty of weather interference.

"How best," where my planning is concerned, means first and last the calendar date for the most nutritious crop (not the highest crop yield). It also means harvest of all the nutrition in the crop, not just 75 percent or only 50 percent because of the fickle dictates of weather, plant maturity and labor.

So, how do we do it?

Grazing is ideal in many ways. It's certainly the most cost-effective harvest if rotation and electric fences are well managed. Weather and plant maturity can have only limited influence.

In recent years intensive, rotational grazing has again gained in popularity because of its low cost.

It has been called the Voisin system, or 90 years ago, the Hohenheim system, after the German agricultural college that pioneered the practice.

Farmers in this region who practice cold-season rotational grazing, with rye for example, usually laugh all the way to the bank!

More intensive is the green chop harvest, but weather and plant maturity can interfere. For this reason, it is used more in summer, when these variables are less of a factor.

Haylage, silage and haying are the remaining alternatives. The dual risks of weather and plant maturity clearly favor haylage for the first crop harvest.

Haylage harvest assures contents of the most nutritious crop, and even a narrow weather window is usually sufficient for good harvest.

This is especially true with the new technology of large bales wrapped airtight in plastic. I have seen and sampled large-bag haylage that was one year old and still as palatable and of excellent quality as when made fresh. Cows even prefer it over corn silage.

This system maximizes nutritional harvest with a minimum of labor and risks.

A bonus to large-bale haylage is the long fiber, which counteracts the bad effects of short-cut silage and heavy concentrate feeding. There is no more risk of displaced abomasum.

But what about hay? We certainly want to make some: however, the weather risks almost mandate forgetting the first cutting or even the cold-season forages.

A few years ago, a major study was published by Dr. A. Kivimae of the Animal Nutrition Institute of the Swedish Agricultural College in Uppsala.

"Chemical composition and digestibility of some grassland crops with particular reference to changes caused by growth, season and diurnal variation," a 142-page publication, contains tremendously useful information on alfalfa, red clover, alsike clover and timothy in planning the most nutritious feed harvest. It covers changes in protein, fiber, cellulose, lignin, fat, carotene, minerals, nitrogen-free extract, and what was then really new, soluble carbohydrates.

Today we hear more about carbohydrates, which can be very confusing.

One hundred years ago, Dr. Max Rubner, a famous animal nutritionist at the Munich Agricul-

Six Pa. Bulls Graduate To Proven St

DEFOREST, Wis., — Six Pennsylvania-bred Holstein bulls recently have had their status elevated to "proven" according to the approval rating system of a Mid Western commercial artificial insemination business.

All the bulls are graduates of the Progeny Test program used by the DeForest, Wis.-based American Breeders Service (ABS), a division of W.R. Grace & Co., Conn.

Through the company's progeny test program, a young test bull's semen is distributed within contracted PT herds across the U.S. As progeny are evaluated for production capabilities, a decision is made to promote the bull to proven status.

Among the six bulls raised by Pennsylvania Holstein breeders to receive that status is 29 H6085 Intergen-I Revere-ET, bred by Intergen I Ltd. of Pittsburgh, and was joint sampled through Golden Genes, Inc.

29 H6085 Revere is a Klark son from a good-uddered Bell daughter. Based on 36 daughters in 23 herds, Revere is rated with PTAs of +1904M, +85F, and +71P. With a PTAT of +1.23, Revere is a high total performance sire (+1104 TPI).

According to ABS, the daughters are slightly above average in size, with sloped rumps, and very high and wide rear udders.

Also joining the lineup is 29 H6155 Pen-Col R Dauphin-ET, bred by Pen-Col Farms of Millville.

Dauphin is an Arlinda Rotate son from a Very Good Ijon daughter. His dam is backed by the famous Pen-Col Bell Dream cow, an individual known for her superior offspring and high protein production.

Based on 59 daughters in 48 herds, Dauphin is rated with PTAs of +1426M, +50P, and +82F. With a PTAT of +1.35 and an udder composite of +0.69, Dauphin is a type and Total Performance Sire (+951 TPI).

According to the new release, Dauphin daughters are tall, strong, deep, and open. Additionally, Dauphin sires strong udder clefts and improved foot angle.

Dauphin should not be mated to virgin heifers, ABS warned in the release.

Two Holstein bulls bred by Obie Snyder of Imler, were added to the proven lineup. They are 29 H6217 Singing-Brook Benchmark-ET and 29 H6159 Singing-Brook Nittany-ET.

29 H6217 Benchmark is one of the first proven Melwood sons and, according to ABS's analysis, sires daughters that excel in both milk production and confirmation.

His proof was based on 34 daughters in 24 herds. Benchmark is rated with PTAs of +2506M, +103F, and +70P.

With a PTAT of +1.93, Benchmark is an extremely high Total Performance Sire (+1188, TPI). Benchmark daughters are tall, strong, deep-bodied cattle with superior rumps and deep udder clefts.

Benchmark is the only Melwood son from this elite cow family and has already used as a sire of sons at ABS.

Benchmark's dam is Paclamar Marietta Bows, the Excellent-90 Bova daughter of Jackbuilt Chairman Mandy.

Chairman Mandy has been a brood cow to such sons as Singing-Brook Mascot-ET.

Marietta Bows herself also has another proven son, 29 H6053 Marvel, who rose in some production areas this sire summary. Marvel is the Starbuck son ranked +1007 and is positive in all type composites.

The other Snyder-produced bull is a maternal brother to Benchmark, 29 H6159 Nittany.

Nittany is an Enhancer son from Jackbuilt Chairman Mandy (EX-92-2E).

...ies Tied To Feeding

tural Experiment Station in Germany, described an important principle in animal nutrition called the isodynamic action of nutrients. He said that all nutrients are used in the body as energy except for the nitrogen part in protein.

Today, we still consider foremost the energy content of a ration and look for energy density values when we feed high-milk-producing animals. We get energy calories from carbohydrates, starch, sugar, fiber, even protein and the most from fat.

However, in feeding ruminants we now focus much more on feeding, a two-phase system: the rumen microflora, and post-ruminally, the ruminant animal itself.

We try to harvest the rumen microflora in a maximum way. For 80 years we have known that the rumen microflora synthesizes protein from nitrogen, which is then harvested by the ruminant post-ruminally.

We can provide more protein for that "harvest" during digestion in the small intestines in two ways. Either we manipulate the rumen microflora to synthesize more, or we feed the rumen with protein that the microflora can't touch, so it passes through, making it more available in the small intestine.

This has led to the new concept of "by-pass" nutrients and the terms rumen-degradable and rumen-undegradable, not only for protein, but for fat and carbohydrates as well.

Instead of the simple approach of counting calorie contents for all nutrients, we now need to add specific identifications.

This is where the Kivimae study comes in.

His extensive data show significant differences not only in fiber, protein and minerals, but also in soluble carbohydrates; sugar contents; and plants, depending on stage of maturity, time of day, harvesting method, weather and between species of forages.

While we always promote alfalfa as extremely important for our milking animals because of protein and calcium contents, horse people have usually preferred red clover and timothy.

The Kivimae study gives some clues. Soluble carbohydrate contents in red clover and timothy are much higher than in alfalfa.

Although alfalfa has negative trends with advancing maturity, timothy actually has the highest soluble carbohydrate content after flowering.

We now look for these additional terms in a ration, not to make it more complicated, but because with our new computer capabilities, we can handle additional parameters. And it pays back in higher returns over feed costs.

It has been shown that in order to maximize milk production, we must increase both the microbial protein yield and the by-pass protein supply.

The process by which microbes produce protein is a major utilizer of carbohydrates.

In other words, we must feed energy to the microbes so that they can synthesize protein for later harvest by the ruminant.

What kind of carbohydrates?

Rumen-degradable carbohydrates were correlated with higher milk yields and milk protein percentage up to an optimum point.

Increased starch in the rumen resulted in higher milk yields; however, maximum milk yield resulted from an optimum combination of rumen degradable and undegradable carbohydrates.

At a milk yield level of 5 percent of bodyweight, it's now recommended that an optimum ration should contain 25 to 30 percent fiber and 35 to 40 percent non-fibrous carbohydrates, starch and sugars.

Fifty to 60 percent of the fiber should be rumen-degradable, and 50 to 55 percent of the non-fibrous

INTRODUCING CUSTOMIN™, CUSTOM BULK MINERALS IN PELLETS

Now Agway makes it possible for any farm to buy custom minerals in bulk. And get them delivered for less cost, less labor, and without the hassles of bags and bag disposal.

Because for the first time ever, pelleted custom mineral mixes are available in bulk. Through a process introduced by Agway, we are now able to process minerals with grain products, to produce pellets that can be delivered to more farms, smaller-size farms—custom-made and formulated for optimal uniformity. With CUSTOMIN™ Bulk Mineral Pellets, delivery, handling and storage are a whole lot easier. CUSTOMIN Bulk Minerals are dust-free, and a lot more cost-effective. They don't cost any more than what you currently pay for minerals. And if you haven't been able to order customized minerals because of quantity requirements, lead time or cost considerations, now you can. CUSTOMIN is only available from Agway. Don't get left holding the bag. Call your local Agway Feed Specialist today. AGWAY®

According to the ABS promotional news release, Nittany is a type specialist and ABS' number one type improver (+2.57 PTAT).

The company's analysis of Nittany daughters is that they rate high in dairy strength and milk from high, wide rear udders and smoothly attached fore udders. He also has a better than average type pattern, near average milk components, and a TPI ranking of +1115, according to the news release.

Two bulls bred by George and Paul Sheypuk of Jermyn, are 29 H6171 Shey-Land Mark Slogan-ET and 29 H6077 Shey-Land Cinderfella.

Slogan is a Chief Mark son from a Very Good Bell daughter with an Excellent mammary. Slogan's dam is backed by an 91-point cow that produced through 12 years of age.

Based on 109 daughters in 67 herds, Slogan is rated with PTAs of +1942M, +49F, and +49P.

With a PTAT of +1.93 and an udder composite index of +2.03, Slogan is a high type and good Total Performance Sire (+994 TPI).

ABS analysis is that Slogan daughters are similar to Bell daughters in conformation, but have an advantage in improving foot angle, something uncommon with Chief Mark breeding.

The other Sheypuk bull, Cinderfella is a Steady Spipper son from a Very Good Bell daughter. Cinderfella's dam is backed by the 95-point Quietcove Matt Cinderella cow.

Based on 45 daughters in 35 herds, Cinderfella is rated with PTAs of +1548M, +51P, and +75F. With a PTAT of +0.95 and an udder composite index of +1.47, Cinderfella is a good Total Performance Sire (+963 TPI).

ABS analysis of Cinderfella daughters is that they are smaller cattle with strong udder clefts and fore udder attachments. Cinderfella is a good choice for calving ease (5 percent DBH), according to ABS.

PFA Seeks Emergency Aid

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.) — The Pennsylvania Farmers' Association (PFA) is seeking emergency aid for dairymen who were forced to dump their milk during the March 13-14 "Blizzard of 1993" which paralyzed the state with one to three feet of snow, frigid temperatures and high winds.

In a letter to Gov. Casey, PFA president Keith Eckel said, "The blizzard of '93 has caused a severe financial hardship for some farmers in our Commonwealth." Because of the state of emergency declared by the Governor during the storm, milk trucks were not allowed to use roads leading to dairy farms for regular pick-up. As farmers' bulk milk tanks became filled to capacity while waiting for the milk trucks, they were forced to dump milk they could no longer store.

"A survey we have reviewed indicates that more than 1.7 million pounds of milk was dumped," Eckel said, "This would represent a loss of over $200,000 to approximately 548 producers." Additional reports are expected to reveal further losses due to dumped milk.

"It is our understanding that most farmers worked diligently to open their farm lanes and local roads, only to find that their milk truck was prevented from using majuor highways due to the emergency declared status," Eckel said.

PFA is asking that in addition to compensating local municipalities for snow removal expenses, some emergency relief be provided to dairymen who suffered milk losses.

The state of emergency imposed during the storm and its aftermath also created problems for milk truck operators.

PFA is urging the governor to declare milk trucks as emergency vehicles and to dismiss any charges brought against milk truck drivers during the storm.

Manheim Young Farmers Hold Awards Banquet

MOUNT JOY (Lancaster Co.) — The Manheim Young Farmer Chapter recently held their annual awards banquet at the Country Table Restaurant. Each year, the chapter recognizes its members who have excelled in different areas of production and community service.

Daryl Bollinger was the top producer in corn silage with 28.9 tons per acre. He also won the full season soybean contest with 69.8 bushels per acre. Jim Musser captured the shelled corn and double crop soybean honors with 175.9 bushels per acre and 39.2 bushels per acre, respectively. Wayne Erb took high yield in ear corn with 193.2 bushels per acre. John Haldeman received the honors for tobacco production.

Three members shared the dairy awards. David Wenger took the honors for high rolling herd average at 22,919 pounds and high two-year-old cow production at 26,671 pounds. Ken Zurin won the high lifetime production award with 251,876 pounds. Joe and Beulah Snavely had the most improved herd average with an increase in production of 3,526 pounds.

The Outstanding Young Farmer Under 30 Award went to Roger and Patti Garber. The Garbers farm in partnership with Roger's father Jim and brother Phil. They produce hogs, poultry, and beef as well as farm several hundred acres. The Outstanding Young Farmer Over 30 Award was received by Jim and Sue Musser. The Mussers operate a dairy and poultry farm. Jim also buys and sells grain. The Community Ser-

Rabbit Breeders Meet

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — A bright Saturday in late February, with a touch of spring weather, set the scene for a successful convention sponsored by the Pennsylvania State Rabbit Breeders Association (PaSRBA) at the Lebanon County Fairgrounds.

Exhibitors and visitors saw 23 vendors representing national and local feed manufacturers, rabbitry equipment dealers, Angora wool, and craft displays.

Twelve American Rabbit Breeders Association certified judges examined 1,500 rabbits and 150 cavies shown by 350 exhibitors in the open and youth shows. Winner of the best in show and best 6 class was a Californian owned by Robert and Opal Gebhart of Hanover. Tom and Mary Whiteman of Lewistown had the best 4 class, an English Angora. The youth Best In Show and best 4 class was a Mini Lop owned by Heather Stone of Hopatcong, N.J.

The youth best 6 class was a New Zealand owned by Jesse Romberger of Millersburg.

Special guest judge was ARBA President Cindy Wickizer.

Special guest speaker was Boyd E. Wolff, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture secretary. He delivered an informative talk and presented the winners of the 1993 PaSRBA's rabbit royalty contest.

The new rabbit queen is Miss Dee Williams, 17, from Horsham. The rabbit king is Jesse Romberger, 18, from Millersburg. Both are members of the Penn State 4-H Ambassador program.

The 1994 PaSRBA convention will be a double show on February 19 and 20 at the Lebanon Fairgrounds.

Dealers Extend Keeping Quality Of Milk

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Thanks to cooperation between the dairy industry and Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences, milk in your refrigerator will stay fresh longer if kept below 40 degrees Fahrenheit and out of the light.

"Fluid milk dealers in Pennsylvania have demonstrated that more than 90 percent of their milk samples in retail containers will keep for up to 14 days at 45 degrees Fahrenheit," said Sidney E. Barnard, Penn State professor of food science. "This is a direct result of the milk dealers' willingness to train employees, change practices, and commit to improving their products."

Milk samples were obtained from 34 plants on at least six occasions by Penn State faculty and students, then tested and evaluated under Barnard's direction with assistance from trained students in the University Creamery Laboratory.

"This year's results are remarkable," Barnard said. "In 1989, less than 90 percent of the samples we tested kept for even 10 days. Pennsylvania is the only state in the union where fluid processors continue to demonstrate that their milk will keep longer than the 'sell by' date at the regulatory maximum of 45 degrees."

"Sell by" dates of perishable foods usually are set by processors to convey that products are best if used by that date. The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture (PDA) strictly regulates "sell by" dates for fluid milk to assure consumers that milk purchased in Pennsylvania stores will remain good until the indicated date, if properly handled.

Using the results of ongoing Penn State research and education efforts, PDA in August 1991 extended the "sell by" dating of fluid milk in the state to a maximum of 12 days after processing, an increase of two days.

Barnard credits Pennsylvania milk's longer shelf life to a series of programs aimed at educating dairy processing plant workers. Starting in 1990, Barnard, in cooperation with PDA and industry technical representatives, conducted training sessions for management, processing employees, pasteurizer operators, and quality assurance personnel of most milk plants.

"We presented and in some cases demonstrated the latest procedures and practices to extend milk's quality," Barnard said. "Some brands of milk have stayed fresh up to five days longer as a result of plants' adopting ideal sanitation and processing practices.

"The benefits of a longer shelf life for fluid milk to consumers, distributors, processors, and dairy producers could exceed millions of dollars each year," Barnard said. "Processors will need to make fewer deliveries, while stores and consumers won't have to discard as much milk. Consumers also won't have to run to the store for fresh milk as often."

These studies have been supported by the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program, Allied Milk Producer's Cooperative, the Pennsylvania Association of Milk Dealers and individual contributions from Pennsylvania and out-of-state milk dealers.

Lutz Family Enjoys Life

89 acres, of which 30 are tillable, and the rest woodland or open grassland.

Lutz said he has lived on the farm all but 10 years of his life (for a short while, in Kempton). He loves the land, which is evident in all the time he spends taking care of it, including his favorite part, the orchard.

The orchard, according to Lutz, has many different varieties of fruit, including 16 varieties of apple, eight of peach, eight of plum, seven of pecan, four of apricot, four of English walnut, two of black walnut, two of hickory, and one of almond. He has also planted cherry trees, many of which still exist, in addition to four varieties of grapes.

Finding time away from full-time work at the freight company has left him little time to manage the varieties, however. About the varieties, he said, "I have the best bloodlines, but that doesn't do you any good. You can have the best encyclopedia on the shelf, but unless that knowledge is used . . . ."

Lutz said the orchard "has been an interesting experiment," and for the time off, "it's better than sitting around the house watching television."

Much of that philosophy dates from when Lutz used to listen to his father, who, like many early residents of the valley, struggled to make a living. Lutz said his father "had a saying, It's better to wear out than to rust out."

Purchased In 1858

The farm was purchased in 1858 by his great great grandparents, Issac and Sybilla Lutz. "They were using English money at the time the transactions were recorded," said Lutz. "Not in dollars and cents, but pounds."

Lutz, who has spent a great deal of time sorting through old documents and digging up information, recalled how fragile the old deeds were — you had to be careful not to easily tear pages because they had become so brittle. Many documents show that, on the deeds, often the names are used with different spellings. His great grandfather's name, "Alanius" on the deed, was spelled "Lenius" on the tombstone. "Sybilla" was often called "Sybia."

In fact, Lutz has kept a careful family tree, noting births, marriages, and deaths of the entire family. Logs on the family name are kept in Frakturs and on an extensive, typed out family tree, wound up in a scroll which Lutz handles with great care.

The one-time farmer has kept an entire library on the Lutz family history, noting important events. One event was a model barn construction demonstration he presented at the 1972 Pennsylvania Dutch Folk Festival at Kutztown, published, with his photo, in the April 1973 issue of National Geographic.

But his love rests with the nearly 90 fruit trees that line the hill nearest the homestead. He said they are in need of upkeep now, and as soon as fair weather arrives, Lutz said he'll be tending to them. He'll also be planting more trees.

Of the trees, Lutz said, "They were fun to take care of when they were little puppies. My wife said, who is going to take care of them when they're fully grown? Well, they're fully grown."

Lester Lutz said he lives in the "Switzerland of northern Berks." On one side lie what countians refer to as "The Pinnacle" and, on the other, the majestic Blue Mountain. The Lutz Farm — recently honored as a Century Farm, with more than a 100 years in the family — sits in the lush valley. Photo by Andy Andrews.

CBF Mag Fancy, 4-Year-Old, Tops Jersey Show

BONNIE BRECHBILL
Franklin Co. Correspondent

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — A tall, strong 4-year-old cow topped the Pennsylvania Jersey Cattle Club's Spring Sale recently.

As a 3-year-old, CBF Mag Fancy made 14,654 pounds of milk with a 4.9 percent fat test and a 4.2 percent protein test.

Solf by John W.H. Batchelder of Quarryvlle, Fancy's sire is Dupont Silver Noble Magnum and her dam is CBF Legend Faith. Richard Crawford of Port Royal purchased the good-uddered dark Jersey for $1,500.

Second highest-selling animal was Queen-Acres Ghosts N Goblins, owned and bred by Deborah C. Osborn of Keymar, Md. Goblins made 13,270 pounds of milk with a 5.4 percent fat test and a 3.8 percent protein test as a 3-year-old. A Schultz Performing Legend daughter out of Acres Wild Gemini Charlene, she was purchased by Steve Meyers of Campbell Run Jerseys, St. Thomas for $1,275.

The sale, held at the Chambersburg Rod and Gun Club in conjunction with the club's annual convention, was the first Jersey spring sale to be held in Franklin County. Fifty-six head were sold. The cows and bred heifers averaged $992, while open heifers and calves averaged $406.

Sale chairman was Doug Reinhart of Chambersburg. Robert Mullendore of Boonesboro, Md., was auctioneer.

Award Recipients

David and Florence Robinson of Waynesboro were named Distinguished Service Award recipients by the Pennsylvania Jersey Cattle Club during its convention breakfast.

The award is given at each annual meeting to a member who has done a lot for the breed in the district where the convention is held, according to state president Lester Martin. This year's meeting was held in District 2 at the Chambersburg Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge.

Florence was state secretary for about 20 years, and David showed Jerseys statewide and in Louisville, Ky., at the national show. He also served as a state ector and assisted with state sa. Dave is a good supporter who would always help out," Martin said.

Receiving awards for high lactation averages by age and cheese yield dollars were:

• Senior yearling — Sun Valley Sooner Sunday; owned by Calvin Watson of Bradford Co.; age 1-11; 21,582 pounds of milk; 900 pounds of protein, 4.2 percent test; 1,114 pounds of fat, 5.2 percent test; $3,712.

The Lutz Family

Proud of heritage

Lutz is proud of his heritage and where he lives. For their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary, their daughter, Lisa, purchased tickets to tour Europe, which included stops in Switzerland. The tour coincided with a recital to be given with their daughter, Louise, a vocalist touring with America Music Abroad in 1984. The recital was given at Notre Dame.

"As part of our tour, we got to appreciate the real Switzerland," said Lutz. "And luckily, it was really nice when we were over there.

"When we were raised in this area, we were told we lived in Eckville and it was a downer. We were always behind in the farming trends. We used horses till I was in high school. The last year in high school, we sold our last horse." Since that time, farming trends have improved and the technology has allowed farmers to make a better, easier living.

Remained constant

In fact, one thing that has remained nearly a constant in the family is a tendency to come down with appendicitis, which is an inflammation of the appendix, an appendage at the end of the large intestine. An operation to remove it is necessary — which was impossible years ago. Lutz said his great great grandfather died from it, his dad almost died from it, and other family members were stricken with it. Even his own daughter, Lisa, 32 — chosen Es Lieblichst Maedel ("most loveable young lady") at the Kempton Fair and selected Miss Lehigh Valley — came down with it.

Lutz said that before the Miss Pennsylvania pageant, the appendix ruptured, but Lisa was determined to go on. The day of the pageant she showed enough improvement and felt well enough to compete for the title. Lisa is a marketing manager with IBM in Camp Hill.

Also, his other daughter, Louise, 24, was chosen Miss Wilkes-Barre Scranton, Miss Delaware Valley, and Miss Berks County. She is a music teacher near Princeton, N.J.

Son Lloyd, 30, is comptroller at Allentown Cement, who lives in a home built on a two-acre lot near the homestead.

Keystone Farm Credit Holds Stockholders' Meeting

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Keystone Farm Credit held three sectional meetings for its stockholders this week. The meetings covered a 15-county territory, with the first held in Allentown on April 6. It was followed by a meeting in Lancaster on April 7, and another in Reading on April 8.

Philip Kimmel, president and CEO, reported a $1 million increase in net earnings over last year as the result of favorable marketing value and reduced operating costs.

During the past year, Farm Credit's headquarters were relocated from four different locations to Lancaster in order to streamline administration costs.

Objectives for 1993, Kimmel said, are to implement an improved business plan, in which actions are taken to improve credit quality of customers, reduce expenses by becoming more efficient in operating expenditures, improvement in marketing and customer relations, and improvement in internal communications.

Kimbel said that 13.6 percent of the loan and lease portfolio was adversely qualified because of credit weaknesses and lack of proper servicing of distressed loans. Changes have been implemented to address these concerns and it is believed that improvement will continue.

Stockholders voted for six director positions and 15 nominating committee members. The results of the election will not be tabulated until April 12. Results will be printed in the next issue of Lancaster Farming.

Keystone Farm Credit, ACA serves about 4,000 members with more than $380 million in loans.

The organization's mission statement is to develop and maintain high-quality customer relationships, which will result in financial returns to adequately support the Association's role as a reliable and competitive provider of services to agriculture.

SRBC To Serve As Analysis Sponsor

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — the Susqehanna River Basin Commission announced recently that it will serve as the non-federal sponsor for an analysis of the feasibility to regionalize small water supply systems in Lebanon County.

This analysis is to be performed by the Baltimore District, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, under the authority of the Planning Assistance to States (Sect. 22) Program of the Water Resources Development Act of 1974.

SRBC sponsorship is contingent upon the availability of non-federal matching funds from the state.

As a result of the Baltimore District's 1992 Harrisburg Metropolitan Area Regional Water Supply Study — for which SRBC also served as non-federal sponsor — the Capital Region Water Board urged the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Resources to request the assistance of the Army Corps to investigate the options available which would lead to a regionalization of small systems within the original study area.

The year-long $100,000 study is to identify and evaluate a range of regionalization alternatives to meet the futre water supply need for two groups of small water suppliers in Lebanon County.

A distribution network will be designed to interconnect all systems within each group in order to facilitate regionalization of sources and treatment facilities.

Interconnections with existing large neighboring water supply systems will also be considered.

Selected alternatives are to be developed in sufficient detail to define an estimated cost and to make judgements on potential impacts and implementability.

This is to be a "reconnaissance"-level study, according to the SRBC, and is to depend on information from existing sources.

The development of detailed specifications for water supply facilities and distribution systems will not be addressed.

However, capacities, sizes, and general types of facilities are to be described for production, treatment, storage and distribution facilities.

The study areas are defined as the portions of Lebanon County which are served by the following water supply systems: Sycamore Hill Mobile Home Park, Stony Crest Estates Water Co-op, Cornwall Municipal Water Company, Mollies Spring Water, Gretna Springs, Mt. Gretna Authority, Mt. Gretna Heights Water Supply, Quentin Water Company, Fredericksburg Water Authority, Sunrise Trailer Court, Lebanon Valley Mobile Home Park, Big Boulder Mobile Home Park, Long's Mobile Home Park, and Countryside Mobile Home Park.

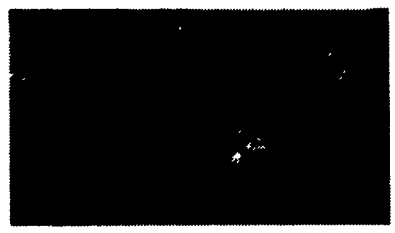
AQUATIC PLANT GROWTH CONTROL

FOR ALL SEASONS

FOR CONTROL OF UNWANTED AQUATIC WEEDS AND ALGAE



The problem of suppressing unwanted Aquatic Growth has never had a simpler solution. AQUASHADE works on a basic scientific principle. THE LIGHT REDUCTION PRINCIPLE.

AQUASHADE IS:
- Economical, because it's long lasting.
- Non-toxic, no harm to humans, livestock, fish, wildlife and turf. (EPA Registered)
- Non-killing, because it controls growth by suppressing.
- Easy to use by just pouring
- Beautifying, by coloring water to a natural teal blue.

tages and Pitfalls of Freezer Beef."

Production and management information was presented by Dr. John Comerford, assistant professor of Dairy and Animal Science at Penn State. His covered topics were, "Fundamental Production Practices for Profit," "Making a Deworming Program Work," "Breed Selection and Crossbreeding Methods," and nutrition.

A session on the business of raising cattle was moderated by Mr. Bill Palmer, a beef producer from Shartlesville.

Palmer presented information covered under the topics of "The Real Cost of Raising Cattle," "Tax Advantages for Small Breeders," and "Should I Borrow Money to Raise Cattle."

In the fourth session, the use of pastures and forages were covered by Chester Hughes, Lancaster County extension agent.

Hughes offered information on "Pasture Renovation and Management," "Experiences with Rotational Grazing," "Big Bale Storage: What is Best for Me?," and "Stalk Fields, By-Products, and Crop Residue as Cow Feed."

Cattle producers could attend two out of the four sessions and a panel of experts were available at each session to answer questions.

The afternoon program, called "Where's the Beef?" was presented by Kelley Shearer, retail merchandising coordinator for the Beef Council.

Because 90 percent of all beef is moved through retailers, concerns centered on quality assurance A panel of retailers discussed their views on the role producers must play to ensure a safe, high quality beef product for consumers.

Serving on the panel were Charlie Lewis of Super Rite Foods of Harrisburg, Bill Fox of Fox's Markets in Lancaster, Bill Howell of Bevaco Food Service in Pittston, and Larry Eisenhart of MacGregs Bi-Lo.

In other business, the PCA elected new directors at their annual meeting at the Toftrees Resort in State College.

Bill Palmer of Shartlesville, Dennis Stockdale of Dayton, Doug Kogel of Souderton, and Dennis Byrne of Nottingham, are to each serve three year terms on the board of directors.

Also, during a re-organizational meeting, PCA officers re-elected were Ray Grimes of McKnightstown, as president; Robert Hay of Somerset, as vice president; and Larry R. Moore of Warriors Mark, treasurer. Dr. Lowell Wilson was elected secretary.

20th performance-tested bull sale

The 20th annual performance-tested bull sale held at the Ag Arena saw D & D Polled Herefords of Gettysburg buying the top-selling bull for $2,400. The Polled Hereford bull was sold by Spring Bottom Farm of Fairfield.

Overall, 56 lots sold for $1,307 per bull.

The average price per bull, by breed showed a range of prices.

Nineteen Angus averaged $1,275, 15 Polled Herefords averaged $1,502, 15 Simmentals averaged $1,243, four Charolais averaged $1,019, two Chianina-Angus averaging $988, and one Gelbvich which went for $1,750.

Breed association female sale

The sale of female cattle of all breeds started with a bang as the first Simmental which entered the ring brought $30,000.

The averages for the sale, by breed, were $2,205 on 30 Simmentals, $1,194 on 36 Angus, $1,313 on eight Salers, and $1,600 for 34 Polled Herefords.

Awards banquet

The annual event also included an evening of award presentations by the Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association (PCA) and its member organizations. It brought attention to the best of the breeds, breeders, and supporters of the cattle industry in Pennsylvania.

The Pa. Simmental Association began the breed association presentations by recognizing the Jack Myers family of Dallastown with the Simmental Family Award for their outstanding representation of the breed and cattle industry.

Junior Member Award went to Rob Liposky of Volant, while Barb Carlisle, a junior advisor, received the Senior Member Award.

Simmental Breeder of Year award went to Lee and Linda Snyder of Harvest Plantation in Franklin. The Snyders established the state Capital Futurity Program at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition which was designed to help breeders sell direct from their farms.

The Pa. Charolais Association began a "heifer chain" by presenting its first youth award to Stanley Reever of York Springs.

Reever entered the Association's essay contest and won a registered heifer donated by Jesse Haas of Coneautville. The first heifer calf out of Reever's heifer is to be donated back to the organization for awarding to next year's winner.

Membership Chairman Dennis Byrne awarded the Top Hand Award to Marie Painter of Hillsprings Farm, in Elkland, for recruiting the most new members.

From the left, Glenn Turk and Jesse Hass, president of the association flank Stanley Reever, winner of the association Youth Award and essay contest. He won the first heifer in a heifer chain.

Bill Palmer, of Shartlesville, stepped forward for the Commercial Cattlemen's Award presented by state Rep. Sheila Miller, of Womelsdorf.

The Seedstock Producer Award went to Robert K. Hay, of Freidens, while Dan Gard of SmithKline Beecham Animal Health received the Industry Service Award.

The PCA recognized Marie Painter of Elkland, for her dedication as secretary. Painter said she plans to devote more time to her expanding Hillsprings beef farm operation.

Pa. Beef Exposition Chairman Glenn Eberly received a pair of boots from the Expo Committee to thank him for his leadership in organizing the Expo.

PCA President Ray Grimes presented a $250 PCA scholarship to Tracey Rouse of Little Marsh, Tioga County.

Mandy Hilbert, 1992 Cattlemen's Queen, handed her duties over to 1993 Cattlemen's Queen Amy Clair of State College with Sherry Ishman of Worthington serving as princess.

Pam Fyock of the National Cattlemen's Association in Washington was on hand to congratulate the PCA for successfully achieving membership goal. She presented a plaque to Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association President Ray Grimes, from McKnightstown.

To recognize Penn State's Beef Bowl Team, which won the National Championship in Phoenix, Rep. Miller read a citation from the Pa. House of Representatives.

The first Beef Award from the General Assembly went to Thomas McCauley, a senior from Elizabethtown, George McQuiston, a senior from Harrisville, Henry Zerby, a junior from Beavertown, and Michele Vonada, a sophomore from Mackeyville.

Block and Bridle Club Advisor Harold Harpster coached the team and thanked the PCA, the Pa. Beef Council, the Pa. Livestock Association, the Penn State Stockmen's Alumni Club, Taylor Packing, and Moyer Packing for sponsoring the team in Phoenix.

In other news, the Simmental Association has scheduled a field trip for July 15 and their Annual Field Day for July 17 at Foust Hidden Oaks in Gettysburg. Call Ken Foust at (717) 334-5966 or Sally Runkle at (717) 939-5894 for more information.

Also, those interested in more information about a scheduled July 24 Field Day co-sponsored by the PCA and the state Angus Association should call PCA Vice President Bob Hay at (814) 445-2008.

From the left, Dan Gard, an animal health representative for Smith-Kline Beecham, receives the state Cattlemen's Association's Industry Service Award from Dennis Byrne, association membership chairman.

From the left, Lee and Linda Snyder receive the Simmental Breeder of the Year award from Tom Walen, president of the state breed association.

Tioga Holstein Club Presents Posthumous Award

Tioga Co. Correspondent

WHITNEYVILLE (Tioga Co.) — Members of the Tioga County Holstein Club were saddened with the loss of fellow member and good friend Clark Bowen of Wellsboro. At the 1992 State Holstein Convention in Pittsburgh, the Pennsylvania Holstein Association had planned to present Bowen with an award in recognition for his many years of dedicated service to the Association's Sales Program. Unfortunately, Bowen was unable to attend. With Bowen's death in August of 1992, the award was then slated to be presented to his son Glenn at the 1993 convention in Wilkes Barre. Unforeseen circumstances prevented Glenn from attending, so the award was brought back to Tioga County by District Representative Ron Wood of Mansfield who was at last able to present it to him at the Tioga County Holstein Club's annual meeting at the Tioga County Fairgrounds.

During the meeting, the club also recognized the recipients of another award presented in memory of Dick Chamberlain, a member and fellow showman who died in 1991. The Dick Chamberlain Memorial Award, presented at the Northeast District Show, is given to the best bred cow still owned by the breeder, a class Chamberlain favored, displays the names of the owner and animal, the animal's age and class and the year award was presented to the owner on attractive plates embellishing the four sides of the trophy. The first recipient was Gordon Wood, with 5 year old Gor-Wood D Jet Rona. 1992's recipient was Olivia Courtney, with 4 year old Esbern Mark Corrine Connie.

Club President Tim Wood acknowledged the Tioga County members who received All-Pennsylvania Awards at the convention in Feb. They were: Paul and Carolyn Moyer, Reserve All-PA Fall Calf, Ty-Ly View Conquest Pam-ET; Gordon and Dorothy Wood, Reserve All-PA Sr. 3 year old, Gor-Wood D Sabastian Rebecca; Gordon and Dorothy Wood, Honorable Mention All-PA 100,000 Lb. Cow, Gor-Wood D Persuading Favor; and Gordon and Dorothy Wood, Honorable Mention All-PA Dam and Daughter, Gor-Wood D Valiant Raquette and Gor-Wood D Jeff Riunite.

Tioga County Holstein Club members with the top Breed Age Average are: Gordon and Dorothy Wood, 110.5%; L. Leroy and Ida Jane Plance, 109.7%; James Bowen, 108.3%; John Bennett, 108.0%; Glenn Bowen, 107.9%; and John and Judy Wheeler, 107.9%.

Club member Leona Robson announced that at the Junior Holstein Club Convention in Wilkes Barre Feb. 5-7, two Tioga County club members received Milk and Fat Awards. Olivia Courtney's cow, Esbern Mark Corrine Connie took 1992 Jr. All-PA. Honorable Mention for four-year-old and Teresa McIlwain's cow, Cha-Do Ned Boy Cauen took fourth in the state in the Three-Year-Old Milking Division, with third in the state for protein. The cow milked 29,101 pounds with 1,045 in fat and 940 in protein.

Robson also reported on the various activities that the county's Jr. Holstein Club are involved in. As a fund raiser, the group sold 1920 pounds of cheddar cheese, over 500 pounds more than the year before. The money from the sale has been earmarked for a clock which will be displayed in the Youth Center Building at the fairgrounds in memory of Dick Chamberlain. In addition, the club has made a contribution towards payment for a cow wash rack on the fairgrounds and club members are planning to attend the Royal Winter Fair in Canada in November.

Jr. Holstein Club members who attended the convention in Wilkes Barre were Heather and Tyler Wood, Teresa and Trisha McIlwain, Laura and Lisa Fitch, John Miller, Kelly Baker, and Jolene Hulse. Chaperones were Doris Porter, Diane McIlwain, Charlene Fitch, Jill Wood, and Leona Robson.

Election of new directors at the annual Tioga County Holstein Club meeting resulted in Paul Moyer of Liberty, Russell Tomlinson of Stoney Fork (Wellsboro), and Barry Hultz of Jackson Summit replacing outgoing directors Tim Wood, Bud Robson, and Kress Simpson, all of Mansfield.

The Tioga County Holstein Club presented certificates of appreciation to several area business men who provided generous donations to the organization in the past. On hand to receive the certificates were David Cornell of Cornell's Agway, Middlebury Center; Harland Martin of Martin's Dairy Service, Troy; Steve Lathrop of Mansfield Farm and Garden, Mansfield; and Lavern Warriner of Landmark Genetics, Hornell, N.Y.

Prior to the meeting, a banquet meal was provided by Gateway II caterers of Millerton. Roloson Brothers of Troy donated maple candy appetizers.

The evening concluded with Jim Welch, better known as The Farmer From Mansfield, entertaining with jokes in-between musical and comedy sketches performed by the Rosevill Lovelies, A.K.A. sisters Anne Clark and Aileen York.

Glenn Bowen of Wellsboro (center) accepts a plaque awarded posthumously to his father, Clark Bowen by the Pennsylvania Holstein Association. Presenting the award is Tioga County Holstein Club president Tim Wood (left) and State Director Ron Wood, both of Mansfield.

Attends Terra Course

SIOUX CITY, Iowa — Marvin Bennetch of Denver recently attended a four-day workshop sponsored by Terra University, the training organization within Terra International, Inc.

Participants from Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, New York, and Pennsylvania traveled to the Agricultural Technical Institute in Wooster, Ohio, where field extension specialists joined the Terra University staff membgers to teach the integrated crop management training program.

Short course programs are one method Terra uses to help upgrade the skills of their representatives and make sure they keep abreast of the latest information. This session included seminars on basic soil science, soil and plant nutrients, environmental growth factors, and crop growth and development.

Terra, a major supplier of crop production products and services for agriculture, operates in 30 states. Their product line includes fertilizers, seeds, and crop protection products.

Crop Strategies Tied To Feeding

carbohydrates should be rumen-degradable.

Of course, sufficient nitrogen sources must be supplied to the rumen microbes for optimum utilization of the carbohydrates.

How can carbohydrates be less rumen-degradable? Years ago I conducted a research project which showed that shorter-length fiber decreased rumen degradability of fiber, and that steam flaking and extruder expanding increased rumen degradation of carbohydrates.

It has been known for some time (though more intuitively) that grinding grains, such as corn, barley and oats, makes carbohydrates in the rumen more degradable.

The degradability depends on the fineness of grinding. Also, processing through roasting and increased storage temperatures, like browning of hay or silage or haylage, increases undegradability.

The fact is considerable variations exist, either naturally or by management, to furnish dairy farmers with opportunities for more efficient ruminant feeding and greater monetary returns.

Allied Milk Producers Gather For Banquet

GAY N. BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

JOHNSTOWN (Cambria Co.) — In spite of the miserable spring rains, about 250 attended the recent annual dinner meeting of the nine-county Allied Milk Producers' Cooperative, Inc. held here at the Masonic Temple.

At least five of the nine-member counties were represented, said Dorothy Naugle, Hooversville, who is the cooperative's dairy marketing specialist.

Eugene Schurman, Indiana Company extension agent, was master of ceremonies. Joel Rose, New Florence, gave the president's report for the board of directors.

Naugle's activity report for the past year detailed how dairy promotion reached the non-farming public through radio, television, give-away promotional materials, bill-board advertising, mall promotions, the local dairy promotion committees, activities of the local dairy princesses, and even the farmers themselves. She used color slides as visual aids with her report.

Naugle told the group how milk punch was served to about 300 last New Year's Eve at the top of Johnstown's Inclined Plane. The dry ice used to keep the half gallons of ice cream frozen until mixing time worked beyond their expectations. But rescue from the dilemma came when the microwave oven in the nearby snack bar quickly softened the bricks of dairy dessert.

Milk was named the official drink for the Pennsylvania Special Olympics for the first time this year when they were held last February in Somerset Co. The Allied Milk Producers' Cooperative is very involved with the Pennsylvania Special Olympics. Besides promotion through a coupon booklet, Naugle and some dairy princess helpers serve unique dairy treats to Special Olympic participants and visitors.

So because of the large contribution the Allied Milk Producers' Cooperative makes to Pennsylvania Special Olympics, it was honored at the dinner by Chris Shovlin, the western development director of the Olympics.

He presented a plaque and two Olympic medals, which he placed around the necks of Naugle and president Rose.

Three dairy princesses who had met 75 percent of their requirements each received a check for $200. These incentive awards, totaling $500 from the cooperative, help to cover expenses incurred while promoting the local dairy industry.

The girls were Melissa Spory, Somerset County; Tammy Farmery, Indiana County, and Jennifer Frederick, Blair County (who, because of a sudden illness, was unable to personally accept her check or to attend the dinner).

Dairy princess awards also went to Leslie Fetter, Bedford County; Shannon Curry, Clearfield County, and Johnny Shaffer, Jefferson County.

Jan Harding, program director for Pennsylvania Dairy Princess and Promotion Services, shared some remarks with guests.

Reports from two area teachers who participated in the Ag in the Classroom workshop, held for the first time last year at Penn State, generated lots of interest. Allied Milk Producers' Cooperative, Inc. paid $250, or half, the tuition for Diane Empfield and Tom St. Clair, elementary teachers, to attend the workshop. It will do so again this year for other teachers, according to Naugle.

St. Clair from the North Star School District in Somerset County told how he incorporates agricultural facts and fun into practically all the subjects he teaches including music or "Moosic," and vocabulary building.

A bulletin board in the classroom is where ag newspaper clippings are tacked up by ag-alert kids. St. Clair also recorded his pupils' classroom ag-fun and played it during his report.

Empfield teaches in the Marion Center School District, Indiana County. She said she was so excited about agriculture in Pennsylvania that she immediately began a project of hydroponic gardening with her young pupils, envisioning beautiful future flowers as a result of their efforts.

"I have a brown thumb," said Empfield, then brought a round of chuckles by adding, "My dad's a farmer — just enough to keep him in debt and out of trouble."

She said that several failed attempts with the flower seeds were educational. Each time they discussed possible causes, then tried again. They also studied apple varieties and made apple sauce.

"The kids didn't know they were reading," said Empfield about their ag-education, "they thought it was a day off."

Members of the Allied Milk Producers' Cooperative Inc. are assessed 10 cents per hundredweight to provide all the promotion, services, and equipment it uses. Some members contribute an additional cent, or 11 cents.

A financial report indicated that radio advertising gets the lion's share. Cited as the most comprehensive tool used by Allied, the 30-second ads are aired over 12 local stations and are broadcast somewhere every day of the year.

Billboard advertising is a far-off second in the promotion budget, which also allocates money for education and research and for one-time events such as Day At The Farm.

Comprising the organization's central board of directors, including Rose, are Robert Beatty, Indiana, Indiana County; Lowell Friedline, Boswell, Somerset County; Janice Lidwell, Ashville, Cambria County; Dave Myers, Summerhill, Cambria County; Fred Shankle, Schellsburg, Bedford County and Marvin Thomas, Hollsopple, Somerset County.

These elementary teachers attended a workshop for Ag in the Classroom at Penn State. Half of their tuition was paid by the Allied Milk Producers' Cooperative Inc. Left is Diane Empfield from Marion Center School District and Tom St. Clair from the North Star School District.

Dairy Princesses Tammy Farmery, left, Indiana County and Melissa Spory, Somerset County, each received $200 at the recent annual banquet of the Allied Milk Producers' Cooperative held in Johnstown's Masonic Temple. Jennifer Frederick also received the incentive award but was unable to attend the banquet.

Farmland Benefits Local Economies

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Local governments should approach residential development with care, suggests research from Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

"Different land uses affect both the services residents demand from local governments and the tax base that pays for those services," said Dr. Timothy Kelsey, Penn State assistant professor of agricultural economics.

"Residential development can end up costing a community more in services than it contributes in revenues," Kelsey said. "Other land uses can bring economic benefits by providing more in revenue than they require in services."

Kelsey recently studied the relationship between land use, community services and spending and revenues in Adams, Lebanon and Perry counties.

He compared 1991 tonwship and school district budgets with the types of land providing the revenue or using the services.

"I found that residential land provides less revenue than it requires in services," he said. "The financial shortfall is made up by commerical, industrial, and farm and open land."

Residential land in Bethel Tonwship in Lebanon County required $1.08 in services for each dollar it provided in all taxes and other revenues, while commercial, industrial and farm and open land provided more in revenue than they took in services.

"Other land uses help subsidize the needs of residential land," Kelsey said. "For each dollar farm and open land contributes to Bethel Township, it takes only six cents to provide services to that land. Homeowners benefit because they pay less for services than they would without these other tax revenues."

The ratios are less extreme, but still skewed, if township and school district finances are separated.

"For township government alone, residential land still contributes less than it takes, while commercial, industrial and farm and open land give more than they take."

School-related expenditures far outweigh most township expenditures, so schools have a much greater impact on local taxpayers.

"All land uses contribute revenue to the schools, even though all school expenses are directly related to families living on residential land," Kelsey said. "For example, in 1991, farm and open land in Bethel Township provided nearly $150,000 for local school district expenses."

This is above and beyond the property taxes farmers paid for buildings and homes, Kelsey said, noting that homes on farms were treated as residential properties to make the study consistent with earlier American Farmland Trust studies.

"Only farmland without buildings was categorized as farm and open land."

The results indicate that local leaders must carefully examine the ramifications of developing farm and open land.

"If farm and open land must be lost, commercial or industrial development can benefit the tax base, if it doesn't dramatically raise demand for services," Kelsey said. "Residential development seems to be another story."

Kelsey's results were consistent across the three counties he studied as well as with studies done in Connecticut, Massachusetts and New York.

Is Your Farm Worthy To Be Named Dairy Of Distinction? Apply Now For This 1993 Beautification Recognition Program.

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

COVINGTON (Tioga County)—Already the Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program, Inc. is looking forward to next year when you will again have the opportunity to receive an award for your dairy farm. This program rewards clean, well-kept farmsteads to help with consumer acceptance of dairy products in the store.

State President Dan Baker, dairyman from Covington, Tioga County, said the program has been well received, and officers look forward to an excellent program again next year.

"There are plenty of good looking dairy farms out there that have not been judged," Baker said. "And even those who have entered the selection process in the past years, without success should enter again."

The program provides rewards of recognition to producers who maintain attractive production sites. This recognition benefits the entire dairy industry, as well as individual dairymen. Not only does the favorable publicity generated by the program in the general press help bring modern farm practices to the attention of urban people, farmers use the distinction to promote their own operation or seek and hire farm labor.

Paul Nichols, the secretary for the Pennsylvania program, said applications may be sent to him any time after January 1, 1993. Deadline for applications is April 15. Judging is completed in May and is based on the roadside appearance of buildings, grounds, and surroundings. The states are divided into districts and a local committee oversees the program in each district.

A team of judges designated by the local committee visits each farm and uses a score sheet to rate each farm. In Pennsylvania, in addition to this team of judges, the sanitarian for the farm's cooperative or dealer-handler is asked to be part of the judging process.

"One of the things I always tell people is that even though they may not now have the most fancy place, they can work toward the principles of the Dairy of Distinction program," Nichols said. "By doing this, they work toward a goal that encourages consumers to use more dairy products."

Winners receive a colorful, 18x24-inch Dairy of Distinction sign to be placed at the entrance to the farmstead. In addition, as in past years, an 11x14-inch color portrait of the farm will be given by Lancaster Farming to each winning farm in the Pennsylvania program.

"As a dairy farmer, you work hard all year long, taking care of your farm," said Helen Fountain, program executive secretary. "In addition to managing your herd, there are lawns to mow, flowers to plant, and overall maintenance to keep farm buildings looking great. You deserve to be recognized for all the hard work, dedication and pride you put into your farmstead.

"It's time you and your farm received some recognition for your hard work. The coveted Dairy of Distinction award will give you that recognition, In addition your attractive farm will enhance consumer confidence in the wholesomeness of milk, thereby stimulating milk sales and encourage public support for the dairy industry."

Active dairy farms in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania are eligible to apply for the award. Criteria for Dairy of Distinction awards include: clean and attractively finished buildings; neat landscaping, ditches, roads and lands; and well-maintained fences. Cleanliness of animals, barnyard, feed areas, as well as manure management, are also taken into consideration.

Applications are available from each state's program secretary or local cooperative extension. In New York, contact Carol Weddle, New York Holstein Assn., 957 Mitchell St., Box 190, Ithica, N.Y. 14851. In New Jersey, contact Angust Knispel, RD 1, Box 325, Pittstown, NJ 08867.

In Pennsylvania, you may contact Paul Nichols, American Dairy Association/Dairy Council, Tower Business Building, 239 Schuyler Ave., Kingston, PA 18704.

The North View Farm of the Calvin and Mary Will family in Somerset County is an example of the farms that were designated Dairy of Distinction last year. You are invited to use the application to have your farm named in 1993.

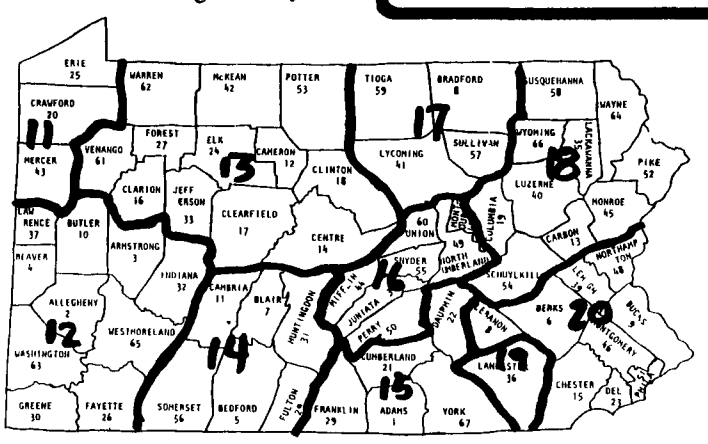
Dair Farm Beautification Pro ram



Pennsylvania Districts

Pennsylvania is divided into ten districts. Approximately 10 Dairy of Distinction awards will be made each year in each district. There is no cost to the applicant.

As a winner, you will receive a certificate and a nice metal sign to install at the end of your farm lane. In addition, LANCASTER FARMING will present a color farm portrait print to each of this year's winners in Pennsylvania. If your farm is a winner, be sure you or your district committee takes a color photograph of your farm and sends the negative and proof to LANCASTER FARMING in time for the awards ceremony.

Income Rather Than Real Estate Tax, Insists PFA

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

OXFORD (Chester Co.) — While Chester County farmers may have to endure a reassessment under Act 319, the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association (PFA) is right behind them.

"What we would like to have is a tax on income versus a tax on real estate. Real estate is not liquid money," said Curtis Kratz, state director of PFA district 3, at the Chester-Delaware County Farmers' Association annual spring banquet Thursday night at the West Fallowfield Christian School.

Kratz told the more than 100 farmer members present that there is "movement afoot" to have local tax reform throughout the state, and the PFA continues to "remain active in your interest.

"Agribusiness leaders and legislators can work together — together we need each other," said Kratz. "Never apologize for your profession. You are a professional. The world will starve without you. Never forget it."

Roy Romberger, regional organization director, said they have looked at Act 319 in other counties and are studying ways to implement it affectively and fairly in Chester County. An open session by the county board of commissioners is scheduled on Tuesday to review action. To learn more about Act 319, farmers are urged to attend the meeting.

The group reviewed the recent legislator meeting in Harrisburg, which included discussions on workmen's compensation insurance, ag security, nutrient management, DER ag advisory board, water resource management legislation, funding for the University of Pennsylvania Veterinary School

Farm Work Has Late Spring Start As Plowing Starts With Horses

For tractor farmers, the soil is still much to wet to plow. But the horses got a head start on Lancaster County Amish and Plain People's farms this week. The late snowfall and heavy rains of last week have put spring farm work back several weeks across the state and all farmers are impatiently waiting for the ground to dry out. In the photo, Everett Newswanger, managing editor, found this plowing scene south of New Holland along Hollander Road.

at New Bolton Center, returnable container laws, local tax reform, and other issues.

In other business, Charles Wollaston, membership chairman, announced that 96 new members have recently been signed up, bringing the total membership to 733.

Treasurer Harold Bryson reported net income of $60,775 with expenses of $60,816, for a net loss of $41.29. Some of the income went into contributions to PFA programs, American Farm Bureau research, and contributions to safety programs.

Board Vice President Robert Lange spoke about the meeting held with Washington legislators last month. He said they are working with the Ways and Means committee and Senate Finance committee to work out a program to re-establish the 25 percent deduction for personal health insurance for self-employed. He said the $600,000 ceiling on the estate tax exemption looks like it won't be lowered to $200,000 after all.

Several awards were presented at the banquet, including special appreciation recognition for Kutz Christmas Tree Farm and Yeager's Farm and Market for their work with the 1992 Chester County Farm/City Tour last October. Also, Charles Wollaston, membership chairman, was presented the Kingpin Award for the third year in a row for membership drive efforts.

Anti-Biotech Supporters May Hurt Consumer Confidence

used to stimulate milk production in dairy cows.

The campaign message is to be included on a leaflet Howard said his group will distribute to patrons at one-third of the MacDonald's Restaurants in the United States and Canada on April 17.

In their literature, the organization tells consumers to be aware of BGH in milk and meat and to eat dairy products and meat coming only from organizations that go on record as supporting a ban on BST.

The leaflet also informs consumers that if they want to know which companies offers BGH-free dairy food (there is no such thing, since it is in all milk and meat) that consumers should call Pure Food Campaign's special 1-900 telephone number to listen to a several-minute recorded message at a cost of 99 cents per minute.

Any funds raised through the 900 number are to go to offset costs of the campaign, Howard said. He estimated a budget for this year of about $1 million.

The Pure Food Campaign literature is very misleading in that it fails to make a clear distinction between milk and meat coming from cows treated with supplemental BST, and milk and meat which comes from untreated cows.

The Pure Food Campaign literature calls for consumers to be concerned and seek a ban on all BGH-milk and meat — however, by definition, that includes all cattle milk and meat.

Also, despite Howard's claim that his group is educational, he and the group's literature fail to mention at all that milk and meat contains about the same, varying amounts of BST, no matter if it comes from a cow given supplemental BST, or if it comes from a cow producing its own levels.

Howard said while that is true, that distinction is not important to him.

And, though Howard said he understood that BST derived from biotechnology is identical to natural BST and poses no harm to humans in and off itself, that wasn't the point. He said the real goal is to get mankind to stop the use of any product resulting from the use of biotechnology, especially recombinant DNA technology.

"It (BST) does appear naturally in milk . . . but that is not an argument" for thinking that it is safe to inject supplemental BST into dairy cattle, he said.

Instead, Howard said he is concerned about the possibility of antibiotics getting into the food supply.

That concern was addressed last week, when it was reviewed by the FDA's Veterinary Medicine Advisory Committee. The committee's verdict was that the possibility of antibiotics getting into the milk and meat supply would not change at all because of the use of supplemental BST.

The conclusion was that with all the safeguards in place by the industry and support industries, the milk supply is safe and will not be threatened by the use of injectable BST used to stimulate milk production.

That position is supported by all respected organizations which reviewed the product.

Further, Howard said that while he does recognize that family dairy farmers — the same ones his organization claims to want to protect — may well suffer losses in income from his campaign on MacDonald's, he said that it would be the farmers' fault because they are not joining him in calling for a ban on BST.

"I think what dairy farmers should be doing is hold the line and keep milk BGH-free," Howard said.

Pure Food Campaign is small in manpower, but makes unsupported claims of having great influence and thousands of volunteers and members.

Howard said that, in addition to him, the staff is comprised of "two and a half people." He explained that meant two full-time and one part-time person — Howard in Washington D.C., a part-time organizer in Wisconsin and another full-time organizer in California.

He said the strength of the organization is its "thousands of volunteers" ready to distribute 9-inch by 4-inch leaflets at 3,000 MacDonald's Restaurants across the country.

The restaurant chain didn't return calls Thursday for comment. However, as of Thursday, the company managing local MacDonald's was unaware of an intention for a demonstration or intent of any protest group to disseminate leaflets.

Nevertheless, Howard said the campaign has been seeking to get large retail and producer organizations, whose livelihoods are staked in public perceptions about quality of product, to go along with a ban on accepting any milk or meat derived from cattle that have been injected with BST.

Those organizations which agree to support Rifkin's proposal are put on a list that he plans to advertise as places for consumers to patronize because they have, "BGH-free milk and meat."

MacDonald's is not on that list.

However, according to Howard, MacDonald's Restaurants were selected "for a couple reasons.

"They're one of the largest food corporations that uses a tremendous amount of dairy food related products — huge amounts of milk, cheese, butter . . . So, we felt that, in terms of a consumer education campaign, they serve about 25 million people a day and it would be a good way to reach those customers."

Howard also said that MacDonald's was also selected because it is frequented more typically by families, implying that those who are targeted to receive leaflets is a group of people more reactive to calls for concern about food additives.

He said that if the pressure from the campaign could convince MacDonald's to sign up with his group, "This would be a very, very powerful signal in the industry.

"For us, success or failure is (based on) consumer acceptance, or lowering the opposition (to Pure Food Campaign), which would be a success," he said.

But, according to Howard, MacDonald's is only the beginning of efforts to get consumers to reject patronizing businesses and products resulting from biotechnology. He also mentioned a tomato variety which has been developed and for which the patent is owned by Campbell's, which hasn't announced plans for introducing it on a commercial level.

"The goal of Pure Food Campaign is to turn these two types of products (which are connected to biotechnology), dairy and tomatoes, into the Edsels of the food industry in the 1990s. We're not opposed to natural foods, but those derived from this technology we aim to stop dead in the market."

Should Rifkin and Howard succeed, the amount of BST in milk and meat will not change, but demand for dairy products will decrease.

Success for Rifkin's campaign would also mean more than the $1 million anticipated budget.

The group's "1-900" telephone number is already in place and charges 99 cents per minute to listen to about 4 minutes of recording of "educational material."

If the group could get a phone call from 10 percent of the 25 million people it intends to "educate" April 17, they would gross a minimum of $2.5 million dollars on one minute. They have a several minute message. The overhead cost for the 900 number was not available by presstime.

The estimated U.S. population for 1990 was 248,709,873. Howard said his group represents several thousand people.

However, if one-half of one-percent of all citizens in the United States were to call and listen for one minute, the 900 number would generate more than $1 million for Pure Food Campaign.

What the caller would get from dialing the 900 Pure Food Campaign number is a recording of the names of businesses objecting to BST in milk or meat.

The businesses that go along with the campaign's desires don't really have anything to lose, since any claims for being BGH-free can't be proven or disproven.

And, if consumers believe they need advice about "What you can do to protect you family against BGH milk and meat," those companies going along with Pure Food Campaign would continue to do perhaps strong business, while other legitimate companies would suffer.

Typically, "900" telephone service is most frequently used as a money making venture by organizations or individuals selling recorded messages or live conversations about sex, adult lifestyles, horoscopes, conversations with music or television soap opera stars, etc.

They are infrequently used by legitimate fund-raising groups, who usually maintain toll-free numbers or at least regular toll-rate telephone numbers.

In fact, of the three carriers — AT&T, MCI, and Sprint — Sprint has stopped selling 900 service lines to any organization that is not strictly a business for business purposes, according to a spokesperson for the company.

According to Robin Pence, spokesperson for Sprint, the reason the company went from being one of the leaders in the 900 business to severly restricting its service is because of the misuses which occured even when strict guidelines were set.

MCI handles the 900 number for Pure Food Campaign.

Howard said he couldn't guess what kind of caller response he would get from distributing leaflets containing the message of fear and distrust of BST. He denied that is was set up for money making per se.

"We would like this to be a million dollar campaign. Since we only have a couple of staff, we're not putting money into staffing.

"Five thousand people in the food industry have joined. We're sending them materials, stickers, decals . . . we have a drive going on right now at about 600 food outlets, both small convential stores and natural food stores. Our target is to have well over 100,000 consumers sign pledge forms for a boycott and then mail them out, and if they want to make a voluntary contribution . . . "

But the campaign has more in its reported plans.

According to Howard, if the FDA actually approves Monsanto Company's variety of injectable BST for commercial use, the Pure Food Campaign will immediately start advertising their words of caution about dairy food safety to consumers.

"We haven't finalized that yet," Howard said of the newspaper ad. However he said it would probably be advertised in the New York Times, the L.A. Times, and the Chicago Tribune.

Also he said they plan to make public service announcements about the dangers of BST in milk and meat and try to have them receive free air time.

The proposed newspaper ad also requests money — a minimum of $2 for handling and mailing a list of "BGH-free companies and stores, so I can protect my family," or a tax deductible donation of any amount.

Experts Give Advice At Northeast Dairy Conference

CORNING, N.Y. — The farms that will survive to the year 2000 "will not only have good farmers but have good managers as well," an ag economics professor said at the Northeast Dairy Conference, held this in Corning, N.Y.

Robert Yonkers, an associate professor at Penn State University, noted that dairy farming in the Northeast had decreased by more than 50 percent over the last ten years while milk production had increased.

And family farms that sold out, he said, did so mainly because farmers preferred to work in the field or milk the cows rather than work on the books. Yonkers equated it to a McDonald franchise owner who would rather flip hamburgers and salt fries, than take care of the books and manage the operation.

"To strive in the dairy industry today and in the future, farmers are going to have to become better managers, implementing better farming strategies to bring production up in the Northeast," he said.

Yonkers went on to say that although New York, Pennsylvania and Vermont are the strongest dairy producing states in the Northeast, they still fall short of states in the western U.S. "However, Northeast productivity is within striking distance of the national leaders."

The tools are here; it's how "we use them" to help the Northeast compete. Yonkers listed several factors that can have a positive impact on northeast farmers: technology - not only the ability but the willingness to see if it fits in the farm operation; marketing to the public; leadership, with a membership supporting and backing the leaders they've chosen. These strategies combined with strong management are what will see Northeast dairy farmers to the year 2000, he said.

AG COMMISSIONER COMMENTS

The dairy industry should not cave in to scare tactics by groups opposing technological advances in agriculture, New York Agriculture and Markets Commissioner Richard McGuire told the 165 farmers and dairy officials at the conference.

McGuire commented on biotechnology and in particular, bovine somatotropin (bST), which is being considered for approval by the Food and Drug Administration.

"The people that scare the public are the same people that are opposed to pesticide use, genetic engineering and technological advances," McGuire said.

Referring to special interest groups with an anti-farm agenda, he asked: "Where do they stop? How far will they go? Where do they draw the line?"

He encouraged the dairy leaders to make sound decisions and "not to accommodate their point of view because they scare you into it."

McGuire also noted that "international marketing is the one issue that has universal appeal and universal necessity." With the world population doubling in the next 40 years, food will be a priority, he said, noting: "They will buy food products before technology."

He added, "If the dairy industry takes advantage of international marketing, not only will the pressure be relieved from the government to eliminate surplus products, but the farmers will experience both humanitarian and economical benefits."

McGuire also commented on environmental issues. "In a world of controllable and uncontrollable problems," he said, "every farm situation is different and must be handled differently." He encouraged farmers to be conscientious stewards of the land in order to stem any unnecessary attacks or overreaction by environmentalists.

DAIRY MANUFACTURERS CHANGE TO COMPETE

With domestic consumption of dairy products growing slowly, competitive pressures are driving manufacturers to use technologies to increase productivity and value, and to look at larger scale production to reduce costs.

Larry Jensen, senior vice president of Denver-based Leprino Foods, discussed the structural changes taking place in the dairy manufacturing sector.

He said, for example, that Leprino, which operates a cheese plant in New York's Southern Tier in Waverly, is looking at things like building plants that can absorb 3 million pounds of milk a day instead of 2 million pounds in order to reduce costs in an increasingly competitive Italian cheese market. Leprino is also using and developing technological advances to improve the manufacturing process and better serve customers like Pizza Hut and other leading restaurants.

Jensen said that adopting an attitude of change was imperative for the industry. The industry needed "to find ways to make decisions and react to issues more promptly," he said, and to change if need be, as it faces shifts in consumer diet trends and new environmental and food safety regulations.

Jense asked Northeast farmers to remember that they are part of a national market, and that proces-

Free Card Helps Calibrate Sprayer

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Economic and environmental advantages of sprayer calibration are many. But many farmers may not calibrate as often or as accurately as they should, according to the Alliance for a Clean Rural Environment.

The Alliance is is an organization to encourage environmental stewardship and protect water quality, supported by the manufacturers of America's crop protection chemicals.

According to the Alliance, many practices we can adopt to help safeguard water quality from contamination by crop protection chemicals are common sense, including protecting wellheads from spills, rinsing containers, use of soil conservation farming methods, etc. But common sense may not be enough for calibrating sprayers.

The Alliance indicates that recent studies in several states have found that as many as one out of every three sprayers is miscalibrated by as much as 30 percent. Wrong pressure, wrong ground speed, and worn or damaged spray tips are common.

According to Fact Sheet Number 11, available from the Alliance, calibration errors add excess chemical costs, reduced yield because of pests if the chemical is underapplied, crop damage if the chemical is overapplied, and increased potential for water contamination.

A way to calibrate the sprayers more accurately is essential.

Farmers can now write for a free sprayer calibration card in order to help them meet their production and environmental goals, said Patrick B. Haggerty, director of the Alliance. (See address at end of story.) Here's how farmers can calibrate their sprayers accurately and easily, through 10 steps outlined in the Fact Sheet by the Alliance:

1. Fill your sprayer tank with water. Only use clean water to calibrate.

2. Measure the distance between the nozzles on your spray boom.

3. Choose the Test Course Length (in feet) from the chart included here, which corresponds to your nozzle spacing. For directed and band rings, use the row-spacing of the field you plan to spray. Carefully measure the appropriate course distance in the field and mark for easy visibility.

Nozzle Spacing (inches)	Test Course Length (feet)
14	291
16	255
18	227
20	204
22	185
24	170
26	157
28	146
30	136
32	127
34	120
36	113
40	102

4. Drive the test course at your normal spraying speed. Be sure to operate all equipment. Record the seconds required to drive the measured distance. For greatest accuracy, do the speed check with the spray tank half full. Be sure to take a "running start" at the starting flag so that your tractor/sprayer reaches the desired spraying speed before you begin timing.

5. Park your tractor/sprayer but keep the engine rpm at the same setting used to drive the test course.

6. Set the desired pressure on your sprayer (this will vary with the type of spray tips you use and the gallons per minute you wish to spray through them. Consult the spray chart for the tips you have chosen).

7. Using a plastic container marked in ounces (a baby bottle or measuring cup works fine), collect the water sprayed from one nozzle during the same amount of time that it took you to drive between the flags on your test course.

8. Measure the flow of each nozzle on the boom to assure uniform distribution. If the flow rate of any tip is 10 percent greater or less than that of the others, replace it. If two or more are faulty, replace all tips on the entire boom. At about $3 each, the total cost is small compared to the avoided problems and dollars you will be saving by replacing defective tips. Whatever type of spray tip you choose, be sure to use all the same type on your boom.

9. The amount of water collected in ounces per nozzle equals gallons per acre applied. Vary the sprayer pressure slightly to fine-tune your overall sprayer output. 10. Be sure to read the product label for proper application information.

Getting your sprayer ready for spring spraying generally involves three steps: cleaning strainers, examining the pump and valves, and checking for leaks, according to the Alliance. Follow these steps:

1. Clean the line strainer and all tip strainers, and examine the tips for obvious signs of clogging or damage. Use only a soft bristled toothbrush to clean the tips — a wooden toothpick or paper clip can severely damage the finely machined thin edges around the spray tip orifice. It's a good idea to replace all spray tips about every two years, and more frequently if you grow crops requiring frequent sprays.

2. Check the casing of the centrifugal pump for cracks caused by freezing of water left in the pump over winter. While the pump is running, check the throttling valves. The pressure gauge should move as you turn the throttling valve if it is working properly.

3. Check the hoses and hose clamps for splits and leaks by running the pump with various combinations of valves closed or partially closed to increase the line pressure.

For more information and to obtain a free spayer calibration card, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Lancaster Farming/Alliance For a Clean Rural Environment, P.O. Box 200, Bowie, MD 20719-0200.

Needed: Tobacco Growers To Support Their Industry

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

PARADISE (Lancaster Co.) — Tobacco growers, did you know:

• Your product nets you about $3,100 per acre, but the state rakes in $45,000?

• Out of every pack of cigarettes sold, you get only about 3 cents? (The state gets 36 cents, and the federal government about 12 cents.)

• That you may lose valuable aid for tobacco development, because the Penn State Research Farm will no longer commit public funds to tobacco research?

• That unless you organize as an association to protect your interests, buyers could head elsewhere?

Those were the messages heard by 265 farmers who jammed the Paradise Auction late last week at a special educational and organizational meeting sponsored by the Pennsylvania Tobacco Growers Association.

The Association is trying to educate the tobacco growers and to help collect money to continue research and development of tobacco at the research farm.

According to Association president Larry Weaver of New Holland, money may arrived from private companies to continue the research. That may be good news in light of the dismal growing season last year, the depressed price of tobacco, and the increased competition for the "filler type" product grown here.

Formed in 1991, the Association has been trying to help farmers get better prices for the product and to protest the 30-cent increase in a pack that took effect last year.

"We feel that it is an unfair tax," said Weaver.

At the meeting, tobacco lobbyist Bill Cornell spoke about how much money goes to the federal and state government from taxes on cigarettes. He said that out of a yield of 1,800 pounds per acre, when manufactured into 72,000 packs of cigarettes, it provides the federal government with $17,280 and the state with $27,520 in taxes, according to a report on the meeting published in the Lancaster Intelligencer Journal.

Cornell said Pennsylvania receives an average of $467 million in tax revenue each year from cigarette sales.

And President Clinton's administration has proposed hiking the tax on cigarettes even more — as high as $2 a pack.

Another big concern is cheap imported filler-type tobacco coming from Caribbean countries and Africa, which may be driving down the price Pennsylvania growers have been receiving. The glut on the market now has kept some buyers away. "When the economy is in the forefront," said Weaver about the price given to producers by buyers, "they will do what they have to to be competitive."

The purpose of the meeting, according to the Association president, is to get the producers to "pull together" to support each other.

Tobacco is Lancaster County's Number 1 cash crop, planted in 9,570 acres, netting about $3,100 per acre, with a value of $27.9 million, according to the state's ag statistical summary.

sors can buy milk from other regions if prices in the Northeast become too inflated.

On a more positive note, he pointed to the Northeast as an important region for supplying new global markets. In fact, he said, the global marketplace is where the real growth in sales will come, and Europe in particular is presenting a unique opportunity for Northeast processors.

He said some of Leprino's customers were looking to expand pizza sales in Europe. The U.S. can deliver the cheese they need, he said. "We would already be doing a lot of exporting were it not for trade barriers," he said.

But international trade agreements should bring down the barriers, giving the U.S. an edge, he said, especially since it has the third lowest dairy production costs in the world.

FOOD POLICY CONTINUES TO CHALLENGE AGRICULTURE

Even though agriculture is losing political clout, ultimately there are many positives, said Bill Perry, director of member and governmental affairs for Milk Marketing, Inc.

Two major trends are affecting Congress today, he said. Twenty five percent of rural America lives in only five states including North Carolina, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Texas. Three states - California, Florida and Texas — account for 20 percent of the population. These two trends alone have a tremendous impact on Congress and the diminishing clout agriculture holds in government issues.

With continuous negative publicity decreasing the image of agriculture, consumers must realize farmers' ability to produce and store food at a relatively low cost, Perry said. "In France, for example, they shop for food by day; in the United States, we shop as soon as the light shines through from the back of our refrigerator."

Despite these challenging food policy issues, agriculture has many positive aspects. Most importantly, "we deal in food and everyone needs to eat three times a day."

Agricultural leaders must change and expand their way of thinking. Issues must be framed in an effective way to change and improve public perception of agriculture. "Remember: our perspective isn't the world's perspective."

FARM MANAGEMENT EXPERTS GIVE DAIRY TIPS

Success in the dairy business will not happen by accident in the future, but by following a carefully crafted management plan, according to banking and farm management experts.

Gary Snider, a farm business consultant at the Farm Credit Banks of Western New York, said: "Labor management is one of the most difficult challenges a farm manager has. Farm managers find out that they have to not only be successful themselves, but they also have to be successful at managing others."

Dairy farmers must be prepared to face environmental and animal rights issues, as well as adapt to price volatility and new technologies, he says. The farm manager of the future therefore has to be particularly well informed and management-minded. Above all, he cautions, the successful farm managers of the future must be open to changing their farm operations and must be financially flexible so they can take advantage of the opportunities that change presents.

"It's also important that the farm business continues to grow by at least 10%, whether in herd size or in the amount of dept repaid every year," Snider said.

Farmers should be reducing or eliminating open accounts and make sure that debt does not account for more than 20% of the farm milk check, he said. A farm must also have a capital spending plan that contains a good balance between equipment purchases and repairs.

William Kuppas, also of Farm Credit of Western New York, echoed Snider's assertion that a farm must have a management strategy plan to be able to ride through the times of changing prices.

"You must have an accurate and timely record-keeping system and be able to control costs," Kuppas said. "Develop a capital spending plan and set financial goals. Budget and plan everything related to your farm business."

GREAT START.
The Suzuki QuadSport® 80 is designed for novice riders who think learning should be fun.
- 82 5 cc, forced-air-cooled, 2-stroke, single-cylinder engine
- Parents will appreciate the built-in throttle limiter enabling them to control the ATV's speed
- The perfect ATV to learn on

The Suzuki QuadSport 80 may be used only by those aged 12 and older. Adults must always supervise riders under the age of 16. All other Suzuki ATVs may be used only by those aged 16 and older. Suzuki highly recommends that all ATV riders take a training course. We'll even pay for it. For safety and training course information see your dealer or call the SVIA at 1-800-852-5344. ATVs can be hazardous to operate. For your safety always wear a helmet, eye protection and protective clothing. Never ride on paved surfaces or public roads. Never carry passengers or engage in stunt riding. Riding and alcohol or other drugs don't mix. Avoid excessive speeds. Be extra careful on difficult terrain. Along with concerned conservationists everywhere, Suzuki urges you to "TREAD LIGHTLY" on public and private land. Preserve your future riding opportunities by showing respect for the environment, local laws and the rights of others when you ride. Professional riders pictured.

Pennsylvania German History Comes Alive

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANDIS VALLEY (Lancaster Co.) — Walking through the quaint village of Landis Valley Museum, visitors often yearn for the slower paced lifestyles of the 1700s to 1800s.

But don't let the serenity that permeates the grounds fool you.

"Life was no picnic," says a tour guide. "It was not as romantic an era as magazines make it appear."

The guide points to the fly chaser that was used to chase mounds of flies off the food during summer months when screens were unheard of. An iron heated at the fireplace required more time to clean than actual ironing time as early American women pressed their white caps that had been dipped in potato starch.

Food preparation required long hard hours of drudgery over beehive and outdoor ovens not controlled by thermostats.

Perhaps, life was hard when the Pennsylvania Germans settled in the Lancaster area. But the crossroads village complete with rural artifacts is a showcase of fascinating living history.

The museum was founded by George and Henry Landis, two brothers who lived on the land. The brothers were concerned that the Pennsylvania German history would be lost. They kept many family heirlooms and collected more than 75,000 objects for display in the 1920s.

In 1953, the state acquired the museum and since then several original structures have been relocated on the grounds.

The homes are furnished with painstaking detail to show life spanning from the mid 1700s to the 1900s. Details include corn cob checkers set up for a game, a pair of shoes made before shoes were formed to fit right and left feet, and raised bed gardens growing from heirloom seeds.

Twenty-one separate buildings include a print shop, leatherworking shop, log farm, blacksmith shop, farmsteads, hotel, school, country store, firehouse, tin shop, and pottery shop where Pennsylvania redware and stoneware are created during special demonstrations.

The collections of buildings and artifacts and demonstrations of decorative arts have resulted in Landis Valley Museum being selected as one of the 20 best places to see historical America.

Visitors may participate in a guided tour or explore the grounds at their own pace. Guided tours make history come alive as guides intersperse an abundance of folklore and local history.

Superstitions of the era were enforced with such commands as "go back out the door we came in so we don't leave our good luck behind."

For example, the guide points out that the three styles of fences, which appear on the grounds, represent the different eras with the earliest a split rail, then a groove and rail, and finally a picket.

The museum is open yearround, but a special exhibit of traditional American crafts are on display until April 30. These crafts represent the skills and creativity of more than 100 of the most talented artisans working in America today. Furniture, tin, pewter, folk art, baskets, textiles, and other reproductions produced by artisans are so skillfully executed that it is difficult for even experts to discern from the originals.

The museum is located 2.5 miles northeast of Lancaster on Rt. 272 (Oregon Pike). Admission is $6 for adults and $4 for children 6 to 17. The museum is closed on Easter Sunday and on Mondays.

For more information, call (717) 569-0401.

From May to October, daily living history and craft demonstrations span the period from the mid 1700s to 1900.

The living history display at Landis Valley Museum is rated exceptional by AAA and is considered one of the best of 20 places to see historic America.

Museum craftspeople demonstrate early American skills as visitors tour the buildings.

Some of the buildings have been relocated while others are recreations. Historical breeds of sheep, horses, and geese graze on the land.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

Why, hello there. And welcome!

We're so pleased you've come to visit Ye Olde Farmstead Water Gardens.

Sit down and relax a few moments, while we share some brief background on this attraction. Then we'll take the walking tour.

You did bring your boots, didn't you?

History of the gardens goes back hundreds of years, though our knowledge of that period is understandably sketchy. At one time, we believe, they were part of the endless hardwoods which covered the eastern part of the United States (before asphalt was invented.)

Though no Indian artifacts have ever been unearthed here (only old bottles dug from the flower beds), it's possible that American natives and pioneers alike probably passed through the vicinity. Perhaps they even paused to drink from the spring which bubbles up on the boundary our present Gardens.

Thanks to a current climatological gliche, the dependable spring, which has never failed through repeated droughts, has been joined by numerous smaller groundwater outlets in the surrounding half-acre or so.

This creation of Mother Nature you're now entering is Ye Old Farmstead Water Gardens, not open for visitors since the post-Hurricane-Agnes-era, June, 1972. In other years, the Gardens has been devoted to lawn, floral and vegetable culture.

To your right is the Pussywillow Shady Niche, with daffodils, tulips and lily-of-the-vally following the pussywillow into bloom. Large, old plantings of hosta fill the cool, damp bed through the summer months. Yes, the water standing there is nature's answer to a landscaping feature we tried adding many years ago- a small watrerlily pool, which leaked after just a few seasons.

You're now standing in the midst of the Birdfeeding Center, which recently underwent seasonal renovation. Several large, wind-broken limbs of maple and corkscrew willow, moved here for songbird feeding cover through the winter, have since been recycled to the firewood stack.

Cleanup of this area will be completed as soon as the waters reside enough to retrieve the remaining cut lumbs and brush without donning hipboots.

Beyond the Norway Spruce and to your left is the Forsythia Border, a thick planting of shrubs to hold and beautify the steep bank from the road fo the former back lawn. A new addition to this shrubby bank are the small springs which ooze up at the forsythias' feet, enabling the many small birds which take refuge here to drink right at their doorstep.;

This addition of springs added the new Gardens feature which spreads before you, into the perennial border and beyond. We call it the Squishy Swamp, a favorite attraction to little kids because of the waters which squirt up with every step.

Squishy Swamp is avoided by the dog, who hates to get his feet wet unless he's slopping through a stream on a hot summer day. This area offers visitors a sports challenge called Hopping From Clump To Clump Because You Came Through Wearing Sneakers. We warned you about needing boots.

At the farthest edge of Squishy Swamp is the Blueberry Bog. This addition is not yet a year old, having just been added last May. There should be no need to plan for irrigation in the immediate future for the blueberries.

Crowning jewels of Ye Olde Farmstead Water Gardens are the twin brooks babbling on either side of the vegetable garden. Source of the flows are a conservation terrace in the hill fields, drained underground to empty through a grass waterway beyond the yard, and springs which opened above the garden patch.

Plan your visit soon. If the weather holds, we may convert to Ye Olde Farmstead Rice Paddy.

Workshop Fine-Tunes Dairy Promotion Efforts

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

DENVER (Lancaster Co.) — Don't be fooled. The majority of milk promotion is not done on television commercials. Neither is it done by paid advertisers nor by professional sales people.

Enticing people to drink more milk, eat more cheese, and use more dairy products in cooking is a job largely done by volunteers. These volunteers work together in small committees throughout the state. They are the people who help dairy princesses do a more effective job in setting up promotions on the county level.

"They are the 'arms' and 'legs' of all dairy promotion efforts," said Jan Harding, director of (PDPPS) Pennsylvania Dairy Princess and Promotion Services, Inc.

To expose committee members to the resources available for dairy promotion, PDPPS holds annual workshops in districts throughout the state. One of these meetings was held on Tuesday in Denver for the southeast district.

Committee members from Berks, Lancaster, Lebanon, and Dauphin counties exchanged ideas on the best and worst promotions and heard updates on issues facing the dairy industry from several industry representatives.

On controversial issues such as animal rights, BST, and nutrition, committee members were encouraged to ask Dairy Council, MAMMA, and other dairy organizations for help.

"Let the experts in these fields handle the issues," Bill Snitcher of MAMMA told the audience.

Snitcher encouraged committee members to speak at a level that the non-farming community can understand.

To help the public understand why farmers want to use BST, Snitcher suggested they say, "If your car got 20 miles per gallon, wouldn't it be in your best interest to get 40 miles per gallon?" Or, "If your electric bill could be cut through more efficent use of electric, wouldn't that be in your best interest to pursue it?" Or, "Would you do anything to jeopardize your investment of $1,500 — the average price of a cow?" Or "BST is a natural element found in every glass of milk that you drank in your entire life."

Carolyn Weaver of Dairy Council reviewed the food pyramid put out by the USDA. Although much nutritional information is taught to dairy promoters, Weaver reminded Deb Dietrich, left, of Berks County said that her committee will be holding a milk CHEERS promotion in the mall. Dairy princesses will wear prom dresses and a balloon arch will be used to attract shoppers to taste the milk punches and pick up recipes. Marie Switzer of Dauphin County said that shoppers in Harrisburg are wary of tasting free samples during mall promotions.

the committee that dairy princesses are not nutrition experts or scientists. "When they don't know the answer to a question, they should said, 'I don't know, but I will get back to you,' and forward the question to the Dairy Council.

"In crisis communication, call knowlegeable poeple or you can come off looking bad on a very vulnerable subject," Carolyn Weaver said. "Never, never use the word steroid in relation to BST."

New resources that Dairy Council recently made available are children's books and videos that provide contemporary teaching tools for use in classroom teaching.

"The books are extrememly popular. We needed to purchase $1,000 worth of more books to meet the demands of elementary teachers," Weaver said.

Dairy committees are encouraged to loan the books for use in classroom promotions.

"People don't read. We need to spoon feed them with visual information," Weaver said.

In a light-hearted approach to helping members understand how to work more effectively together, Jane Mecum, Perry County Extension agent, spoke on the differences between left and right brain dominance.

Most of those in attendance are right brain dominate, which, according to the theory, means that they are probably creative in promotional and pageant planning, but lax in record keeping.

"When you understand the differences between left and right brain individuals, you can learn to work together more effectively," Mecum said.

Peanut Butter Favorites

Peanut butter has been a dietary staple for more than 100 years. Peanut butter is remarkably like that made a century ago. It contains a minimum of 90 percent peanuts, with no artificial colors or preservatives. Some brands add about 7 percent sweeteners (usually corn syrup or dextrose) and 1.5 percent salt for taste, plus a stabilizer (hydrogenated vegetable oil) to keep peanut butter fresh up to one year after opening without refrigeration.

Peanut butter supplies about 15 percent of an adult's daily protein needs. It contains no cholesterol and has as much fiber as two slices of whole wheat bread.

Peanut butter is adaptable to many recipes as these recipes confirm. Clip them and try them.

PEANUT BUTTER TASTY CAKE

4 eggs
1¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons butter, melted
2 tablespoons oil
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup milk
12 ounces chocolate chips
18 ounces peanut butter

Beat sugar, butter and oil until light and fluffy. Add 1 egg at a time and beat well. Add dry ingredients, milk and vanilla alternately. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes in jelly roll pan. Spread warm cake with peanut butter ½ -inch thick. Refrigerate until set. Melt chocolate chips and spread over peanut butter. Refrigerate. Cut and enjoy.

MARSHMALLOW PEANUT BUTTER CANDY

¼ pound butter
8-ounces marshmallow creme
4¾ cups confectioners' sugar
12-ounce jar chunky peanut butter

Cream butter and half of confectioners' sugar. Add marshmallow creme, peanut butter, and remaining sugar. Mix thoroughly (works best to use hands).

Shape in balls and cool in refrigerator before coating with chocolate.

Myerstown

CHOCOLATE PEANUT BUTTER FUDGE

2 cups sugar
⅔ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
8 ounces marshmallow creme
1 cup crunchy peanut butter
6-ounces chocolate chips

Butter sides of a heavy 2-quart saucepan and combine sugar and milk. Stir over medium heat until sugar dissolves and mixture comes to a boil. Cook until it forms a soft ball. Remove from heat and add peanut butter, marshmallow creme, and chocolate chips. Add vanilla. Pour into a greased 8- or 9-inch pan.

CHOCOLATE SHEET CAKE WITH PEANUT BUTTER ICING

Cake: Bring to a boil:
1 cup water
1 cup butter
4 tablespoons cocoa

Add:
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
2 cups sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Mix well. Add:
2 eggs
½ cup buttermilk

Beat well. Pour into a greased and floured 11½ x18-inch cookie sheet with sides. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes or until done.

Icing: Boil 1 minute:
½ cup butter
1½ cups sugar
⅓ cup milk

Add ½ cup peanut butter or chocolate chips. Blend well and frost on slightly cooled sheet cake.

April Walker
Mercer Co. Dairy Princess

PEANUT BUTTER CEREAL CRUNCH

4 cups cornflakes
1 cup puffed wheat
1 cup rice crispy cereal
½ cup sugar
1 cup molasses
½ cup peanut butter

Mix cereals. Set aside. Heat sugar, molasses, and peanut butter until peanut butter is melted, mix well. Stir in cereals, pour into buttered 8x8-inch pan and press down lightly. Cool and cut.

R. Zimmerman

Peanut butter and chocolate is always a favorite. Gertrude and her brood was made by Nancy Fasolt and Karen Flick of the Cake and Kandy Emporium in East Petersburg. Gertrude weighs 6 pounds, her brood of yellow chocolate each weighs 5 ounces, and the 6-pound basket of peanut flavored candy is filled with five pounds of chocolate "straw." This week, Gertrude and her brood appeared on the NBC Today Show with Willard Scott.

PEANUT BUTTER ICING

2 cups confectioners' sugar
½ cup butter
12 ounces creamy peanut butter
⅔ cup milk

CHEESE AND PEANUT BUTTER PRETZELWICHES

1 slice American cheese
1 teaspoon peanut butter
8 unsalted pretzels, about 1½ -inches wide,

Cut cheese into 4 slices. Place a little bit of peanut butter in the center of each square. Press a prezel into the peanut butter so the pretzel sticks to the cheese square. Turn over and repeat with the remaining peanut butter and pretzels. Makes 4 servings.

BUCK EYES

1 cup butter
4 cups crunchy peanut butter
1½ pounds confectioners' sugar
6 cups rice crispy cereal
¼ pound coating chocolate
12-ounces chocolate chips
Piece of paraffin 1½ x½ -inch

Combine and mix by hand butter, peanut butter, confectioners' sugar, and cereal. Form into balls the size of walnuts. Chill. Melt chocolate chips and paraffin in a double boiler, over hot, not boiling water. Dip balls into chocolate and drop on wax paper.

If you're cooking for a crowd, a prize winning recipe from the American Egg Board is just what you need.

Bonnie Wachholz, who is cook and manager of the Powers Elementary School Foodservices in Beloit, Wisconsin, submitted the Grand Prize Winning Recipe in American Egg Board's 1992 Diced Chicken Entree Recipe Contest.

Her creative use of diced chicken in Cheesy Chicken Supreme won her a trip to the American School Food Service Association annual meeting to be held in Boston.

Ms. Wachholz said that her students love cheese, and the cheesier, the better. By making a cheese sauce, less cheese actually tastes like more cheese.

Here is her prize-winning recipe, which yields 100 1-cup servings.

CHEESY CHICKEN SUPREME

16 pounds frozen, cooked, diced chicken
4 pounds rice, uncooked
1 cup chicken base
1 tablespoon plus 1 teaspoon salt
4¼ gallons warm water
1 gallon skim milk
1 cup cornstarch
⅔ cup dehydrated onion bits
½ teaspoon white pepper
4 pounds American cheese, shredded or cubed
Frozen chopped broccoli

Coat 4 12x20x4-inch steamtable pans with non stick spray. Place 1 pound rice and 4 pounds chicken into each pan.

Blend chicken base and salt in warm water until dissolved. Pour 7 cups water over chicken in each pan. Cover pans and bake one hour at 350 degrees.

Combine milk and cornstarch in saucepan. Over medium heat, bring to boil, stirring frequently.

Reduce heat to low; stir in cheese until melted and creamy. Stir in onion and white pepper. Cover and remove from heat.

Stir 6 cups cheese sauce and 6 cups broccoli into each pan. Cover and bake additional 30 minutes at 350 degrees. Stir before serving.

Lessons from the "Blizzard of '93"

Each night this past week, I've been venturing to my back yard to check on the progress of my daffodils, hyacinths and tulips. (And I smile at the snow drops that are already blooming.) I'm amazed that the "Blizzard of '93" happened less than a month ago. I'm also amazed at how our communities learned from the experience.

I suppose it takes a "storm of the century" to shake up our thinking and break our hurried routines. During the days of recorvery from the storm I listened to people talking. From their comments I gleaned five lessons that all family members need to learn or re-learn.

First, communities are stronger when neighbors talk to neighbors. Many people met and talked with those around them for the first time as they tunneled through drifts to clear lanes and driveways. Four-wheel drive owners volunteered to transport others to work, doctors' appointments and grocery stores. People found it impossible to continue holding grudges against others who took the time to help them out the day before. For the first time in months, we had neighbors inviting us over for a cup of coffee just as a friendly gesture because we had spent the morning clearing snow together.

My household was fortunate not to lose power over the weekend, but we were still challenged to plan creative meals using leftovers and the supplies that had been accumulating in the pantry. So often individuals forget how, in a time of shortage, they can make a little go a long way. I think many of us truly appreciated our next glass of milk because of the experience. (Thanks to those of you who bring that product to our tables!)

Between meals and plowing, many families ventured out into the hills for sledding or wandered down deserted roads just to look around. How quiet it was. I kept saying to my husband as we walked, "Listen! It's so quiet." That walk showed me that the silence could be refreshing and calming. We need to occasionally treat ourselves to silence. Don't wait until the next snow storm to take a break from the "noise" in your life.

One lesson that I wanted to reinforce was the fact that an extra effort to do a job well should be recognized. Unlike many other places in our area, we actually received a paper on Sunday morning. Of course, we live in a more developed area, but as far as I could see no one except the newspaper carrier had ventured out. We tipped him extra for his work on such an impossible delivery day. We wanted to say, "We appreciate your work ethic." in a tangible way.

For our family and for many others, probably the best lesson from the blizzard was one that taught us the importance of family time. For the first time in weeks, families were forced to stay home and spend time together. And the surprise in it all...it was fun. Adults laughed and relaxed; children and parents played with each other instead of passing on the road while racing to and from activities. I heard stories of people rediscovering the fun of playing board games together. Others talked and reminisced. One couple lit candles, played Christmas carols, and had an unexpected holiday together. Families recommited themselves to taking time once each month to do things together. I hope this lesson, more than any of the others, is one that we will remember and act on until the next "storm of the century."

Wildflower Meadow?

"Wildflowers have great potential for saving time and money when compared to maintaining the same area in turf," says Susan Barton, University of Delaware Cooperative Extension horticulture specialist. "For people with large properties, in particular, a wildflower meadow can be a wonderful alternative to mowing several acres of grass."

Establishing a wildflower meadow can be fun, but it also takes planning.

"Don't expect your wildflower meadow to automatically look like the picture on the seed can," warns Extension horticulture agent Jo Mercer. "Like any other gardening project, it takes planning, persistence and aftercare."

Seed-to-soil contact is most important when planting wildflowers, Barton says. There are several ways to achieve this contact. One approach is to till the ground, but the problem with this is that weed seeds will be exposed.

Another alternative is to closely mow existing grass or weeds, then spread a growing medium lightly over the area to be seeded. The medium can be mushroom soil, topsoil or a compost product such as Fairgrow.

"For smaller areas and steep slopes, wildflower sod is an appropriate alternative to seeding," Barton says. "Sod produced an immediate effect and dramatically reduces weed problems."

Wildflower sod hasn't caught on yet with home gardeners, Mercer says, but it is available locally, especially at the wholesale level. It makes an instant floral carpet. But even with sod, soil proparation, care in establishment and aftercare are essential to long-term success.

For homeowners eager to try growing wildflowers, Barton has a final piece of advice- use them appropriately. Despite their appeal, wildflowers aren't suitable for every site.

"People have to realize that a mass of wildflowers in a little patch by the front door may prove disappointing," she says. "Wildflowers give a loose, open, somewhat wild-looking type of landscape that's most effective when seen from a distance. Don't expect them to work well in a formal setting."

QUESTION — Mary Snyder, Manheim, writes that she planted hot Senano peppers by mistake. She froze them but has not used them. She would like recipes using this type of pepper, which could perhaps be used for gift jars of sauces, relishes, etc.

QUESTION — Roland Kamoda, R.D.1, Box 282 Monongahela, PA 15063, would like names of favorite cookbooks and where to purchase them. Write directly to him with your suggestions because we do not have room to publish the information.

QUESTION — Karen Yourga is looking for a recipe to can strawberries in a glaze that can be poured right from the jar onto a cake. She has tried several recipes that bleed and turn pink. She would like one with a dark red color in which the strawberries are not mushy.

ANSWER — Tina Forry, Quentin, requested methods to can and freeze fruit with little or no sugar. Thanks to Alice Yoder, Lewistown, who writes that she freezes fruit in a very weak sugar solution. Just make sure that the solution completely covers the fruit, she writes. She has a friend who cold packs fruit in plain water. Follow the same process as using a sugar solution but omit the sugar.

ANSWER — Tina Forry, Quentin, wanted recipes using ground turkey. Thanks to Alice Yoder, Lewistown, who writes that she uses ground turkey to make chili, meat loaf, and casseroles requesting chicken. Substitute ground turkey for any recipe calling for ground beef, writes Alverna Martin of Wellsboro and Rhoda Sauder of York. However, Rhoda writes, you do not need to brown and pour off fat when using ground turkey recipes in casserole dishes as you do ground beef. If you do brown ground turkey, use a non-stick skillet or add a bit of vegetable oil. Thanks to June Deifler, Pine Grove, for sending a recipe.

Garden-Fresh Turkey Burgers

1 pound ground turkey
1 cup rolled oats, uncooked
¾ cup finely chopped onion
¾ cup finely chopped red or green pepper
½ cup shredded zucchini
¼ cup catsup
2 cloves garlic, crushed
6 whole grain rolls, split, toasted
½ cup sour half and half

Lightly spray rack of broiler pan with cooking spray. Combine ingredients and mix well. Shape into 6 burgers. Broil 7 to 9 minutes on each side. Serve on rolls with a tablespoon of half and half. Garnish with lettuce and tomato, if desired. Calories 330, fat 11 g, cholesterol 65 mg, sodium, 400 mg.

ANSWER — M. Long, Dalmatia, requested a recipe to make and can maraschino cherries. Thanks to Mrs. Harold Diller, Hagerstown, Md., for sending a recipe.

Maraschino Cherries

Wash and pit 4½ pounds sweet cherries. Soak overnight in brine of 2 tablespoons salt and 1 teaspoon alum for each quart of water used.

Drain and rinse thoroughly. Add:

9 cups sugar
3 cups water
1 ounce red food coloring

Bring mixture to a boil. Let stand 24 hours and bring to a boil. Let stand another 24 hours and bring to a boil. Add 1-ounce almond extract and juice of 1 lemon. Can according to cold-pack canning directions.

ANSWER — Joanne Martin, Stevens, wanted a recipe for patty shells. Thanks to Peg Koser, Lancaster, for writing that she uses her favorite pie dough recipe. Roll out dough and cut circles using the top of a glass for a pattern in the desired size. Lay the circles over inverted cup cake tins and press to stick to tin. Prick several times and bake. Peg also writes that patty shells may be purchased in places such as Bird in Hand Restaurant Bakery and Joe Myers Restaurant on Lincoln Highway East.

ANSWER — Maria Cook, New Castle, Del., wanted a recipe for honey mustard chicken. Thanks to Susan Howard, Mt. Pleasant Mills; Linda McCuean, New Galilee; and Karen Yourga, for sending recipes.

Honey Mustard Chicken

20-ounce can pineapple slices in juice
4 boneless, skinless chicken breast halves
2 teaspoons vegetable oil
2 large garlic cloves, pressed
1 teaspoon thyme, crumbled
1 tablespoon cornstarch
¼ cup honey
¼ cup dijon mustard

Drain pineapple; reserve juice. Sprinkle chicken with salt and pepper to taste. Rub with garlic and thyme. Brown in hot oil in nonstick skillet. Combine 2 tablespoons reserved juice with cornstarch. Combine honey and mustard; stir into skillet with remaining juice. Spoon sauce over chicken. Cover and simmer 15 minutes. Stir cornstarch mixture into pan juices. Add pineapple. Cook, stirring, until sauce boils and thickens. Serves 4.

Honey Mustard Chicken

4 tablespoons butter, melted
½ cup honey
¼ cup prepared mustard
1 teaspoon salt
½ to 1 teaspoon curry powder
3 pounds chicken parts

Mix and use to coat 3 pounds cut-up chicken. Bake at 325 degrees in a single layer for 1 hour and 45 minutes. Lay skin side down, then turn after first hour.

"Delicious," writes Linda McCuean.

Oriental Honey Glaze For Grilled Chicken

¼ cup soy sauce
2 tablespoons plue 2 teaspoons honey, divided
1 tablespoon plus 1 teaspoon sesame oil
½ teaspoon ground ginger
1 small garlic clove, mashed

In a microwave proof bowl, combine all ingredients except 2 teaspoons honey. Heat until melted, not hot. Pour mixture over 4 chicken breasts and refrigerate 10 to 30 minutes. Grill, brushing with remaining sauce, until breasts are done. Brush with honey and grill a few minutes longer.

PEANUT BUTTER AND OATMEAL SANDWICHES

1 cup peanut butter
1 cup sugar
¼ cup butter, softened
¼ cup light or dark corn syrup
1 egg
2 tablespoons water
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 cups quick or old-fashioned oats
1¼ cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup peanut butter
⅔ cup light corn syrup

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Beat peanut butter, sugar, and butter until fluffy. Add ¼ cup corn syrup, egg, water, and vanilla; mix until smooth. Stir in combined dry ingredients. Roll into 1-inch balls. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Press into 2½ -inch circles. Bake 9 to 11 minutes or until golden brown. Cool 1 minute; remove to wire rack. Cool completely. Mix remaining ingredients until smooth. Spread rounded teaspoonful onto half of cookies; top with remaining cookies. For added flavor, sprinkle top cookie with powdered sugar and streak on melted chocolate. Store loosely covered. Yields 2½ dozen.

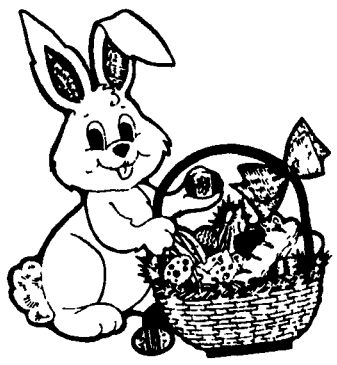
Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

This year we expect most of our children to come home for Easter. And, I shall attempt to cook a meal for twenty people. I've just counted and I do have enough plank-bottom chairs to seat that many. One of my daughters usually made a big bunny cake and I expect to make one too if I can remember how to do it.

Speaking of traditions, my mind goes back to years ago, when all six children were home, and we always tried to find time to color eggs on Saturday afternoon. They would compete to see whose eggs were the most fancy. We would do two dozen and they were eaten in no time. Some eggs were dyed with onion skins the same as my Grandmother Landis did before there were paints for sale in stores.

Now I go to the grocery store and see that they actually sell dry onion skins for dying eggs. And, no longer do some people take the time to have their children paint eggs and make a mess. Rather, now you can buy ready-to-eat, hard-boiled, egg six-packs already colored. Consumers demand convenience as they fill Easter baskets.



One fun time in our family was Easter morning when the baskets were hid in the dryer, behind the piano and other hard to find places. After everyone had found their basket, we would have a breakfast of soft-boiled eggs and smoked beef tongue The meat was a once a year treat and after we no longer used our smokehouse, I used a liquid smoke but it simply wasn't the same flavor.

It takes some work to keep family traditions alive, but I think it is worth the effort.

CHIPS O'CHOCOLATE PEANUT BUTTER CAKE

2¼ cups flour
½ cup butter, softened
2 cups brown sugar
1 cup peanut butter
1 cup milk
3 eggs
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon vanilla
6-ounces chocolate chips

In large mixing bowl, combine flour, butter, brown sugar, and peanut butter until crumbly, using mixer at low speed. Reserve 1 cup crumbs for topping. To remaining crumbs, add milk, eggs, baking powder, baking soda, and vanilla. Blend at low speed until moistened; beat 3 minutes at medium speed, scraping bowl often.

Generously grease bottom of 13x9x2-inch pan. Dust with flour. Pour batter into pan; sprinkle with reserved crumbs. Top with chocolate chips.

Bake at 350 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes or until done.

? QUESTIONS?

USE THIS PROBLEM SOLVER

WITH DRAG AUGER FEEDERS			WITH BIG DUTCHMAN CHAIN FEEDERS
PROBLEM	CAUSES	SUGGESTED SOLUTIONS
System Stalls	Bad braze Kinked auger Feed level too high Too many feed cycles	File or grind excess braze Cut out kink and re-braze Lower feed level Delete a feed cycle	Chain never needs brazing Chain does not kink Chain runs at high or low levels of feed
System runs, stops then reverses	Foreign object in trough Bad braze at drive	Find and remove object Make sure feed cleaner is working Determine drive and repair	Chain virtually is unaffected by foreign objects. Feed cleaner is unnecessary and system cannot run backwards
Feed on floor at row ends	Elbows worn through again	Cut auger, remove elbows and couplers, replace and re assemble	Chain feeders have no elbows to wear out.
Feed line is not running	Failed motor	Determine which motor(s) out of the four are bad, replace and reset.	Only one motor per feed line.
Auger jumped out of trough (and is wound all over the walk ways).	Auger broke	Gather a welder, torch and grinder. Replace auger in trough, and braze. Be careful not to stretch auger.	If chain breaks, it is easily repaired with a hammer and chain breaker tool. Chain does not stretch.
Too many smaller sized eggs	Birds not getting enough feed	Add yet another feed cycle. (May require at least 8 per day.)	Chain feeders provide 2½ times more feed space than drag auger feeders allowing it to be run as few as 3 times per day.
Too many cracks	Feeder runs too often causing excess bird movement in the cage during laying periods.	Delete feeding during laying period. (Beware that reduction may result in smaller eggs.)	More feed space allows less feeding cycles, which means you don't have to feed during laying period.
Wasted feed in the walk ways	Feed trough lip is not high enough	No solution	Big Dutchman has high-lip trough.

Three Dairy Maids Love All Animals And The Farm

GAY N. BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

SPRINGS (Somerset Co.) — Carrie and her twin sisters Wendy and Jenny Miller love cats. Not only that, but they don't mind rats, mice, snakes or any other kind of animal, bird or insect they might see. They believe one critter is as good as another. So they just lvoe 'em all.

In fact, Glenn, their dad, found a young black snake and gave it to 10-year old Carrie for her birthday. For a very short time Carrie had it in the house.

Boy! Did her mom, Tammy, ever put her foot down about having a snake in the house.

She said to Carrie, "It's either me or the snake, Carrie, but one of us has got to go!" Of course, it was the snake that went, but Carrie's mom said she was really relieved when Carrie chose to keep her instead of the snake.

The Miller's have a wonderful big old house that has a bedroom for each girl. Imagine that, no sharing. They rent a farm across the road with a barn for all their cows that's down a long country lane. That's where they spend hours riding their bikes in the summertime.

Wendy says, "I like living on a farm because there's kitties."

But Jenny says, "Because there's calvers."

Carrie says there are so many cats in the barn, you can't count them all. But they have at least 18 different meow-ers there.

Whatever their dad finds in the animal or insect kingdom, he gives it to his daughters (there are no other children in the family). Some creatures they have had were an opossum, a screech owl, a praying mantis, salamander, and wild baby bunnies. Once they saw a deer that accidentally got caught in the barn.

The girls said that catching frogs is one of their favorite pastimes. And they can catch butterflies with their hands. Wendy said she does not think rats are ugly at all. The have a dog named Sloan.

What they really want is a horse. But for some reason their dad isn't interested in getting a horse.

Carrie knows why. "Daddy says they slobber," she said.

The sisters love the cows and are happy when they can see a calf being born. In fact, a bull calf was born the day of this interview with the girls.

Their parents think that farming is a very good family life.

Carrie, Wendy and Jenny have lots of things to do for fun besides helping in the barn by sweeping the walks, feeding the cats, and unloading newspapers for bedding.

Their mother has taught them to embroider. They own oodles of Barbie dolls. A favorite hobby is that of fusing beads to make bright and pretty refrigerator magnets. The latest project with the fuse beads is to make lots of tree ornaments for next Christmas.

Once a year, in June, the sisters put on their finest clothes so they can be Dairy Maids at the Somerset Co. Dairy Princess Contest. This year will be the last time for Carrie who says the best thing about being a dairy maid is, "Getting the ice cream, after."

"After Carrie isn't in it, I'm not either," said Jenny, Going across a stage is less scary with a big sister nearby.

Once, the master of ceremonies called both of the twins by the same name although they came on-stage separately at the contest. They didn't tell the man about his mistake.

The sisters attend the Salisbury-Elk Lick Elementary School.

You can pretend lots of things with all the Barbie and Ken dolls that belong to the Miller sisters. From left, Carrie, twins Wendy and Jenny.

ANSWER — A reader wanted to know the name and address of a seed company that has a good variety of non-hybrid garden seeds. Thanks to Susanna Bicher, Bethel, for suggesting Southern Exposure Seed Exchange, P.O. Box 158, North Garden, VA 22959. Thanks to Roland Kamoda, Monongahela, for suggesting Heirloom Seeds, P.O. Box 245 West Elizabeth, PA 15088-0245, for free 27-page catalog.

ANSWER — A Bedford County reader would like a recipe for Danish (cheese and fruit filled) similar to those made by Sara Lee and one that can be frozen. Thanks to an anonymous reader for sending a recipe.

Cheese Danish

2 cans crescent rolls
2 8-ounce packages cream cheese
¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 egg yolk
1 egg white

Spread one tube of crescent rolls on bottom of ungreased 9x13-inch pan. Roll out one tube of crescent rolls between two sheets of waxed paper into a 9x13-inch shape.

Combine cream cheese, sugar, vanilla, lemon juice, and egg yolk. Beat until smooth. Spread over rolls in pan. Place rolled out cresent rolls on top and press the sides together. Brush with egg white.

Bake at 350 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes, until browned. Remove from oven. Drizzle with confectioners' sugar glaze, if desired.

ANSWER — Blanche Holenbaugh, Carlisle, wanted to know how to start yeast to bake bread. Thanks to a reader for sending a recipe for this plus answers to many other questions. Unfortunately no name is attached so I can not give credit. This recipe is the way that old-time homesteaders make yeast.

Homemade Yeast

Mix together:
1 cup mashed potatoes
¼ cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1 cup warm water

Pour the mixture into a 1 quart glass jar, cover with cloth and leave in a warm place for two days or until it ferments and bubbles up. One cup of this mixture is equivalent to one package of active dry yeast or one cake compressed yeast. Every time you use a cupful, replenish the starter by stirring in ¾ cup flour and ¾ cup potato water, water, or milk. Allow to ferment for a day or so and return, covered, to the refrigerator. It is best to use the starter once a week. If you do not, stir it down after three or four weeks, discard half of it and replenish the balance with flour and one of the liquids.

ANSWER — A reader wanted to know how to make dill pickles remain firm because hers become semi-soft when canned. Thanks to Una Lee Burton, Dagsboro, Del., for sending a recipe.

Dill Pickles

Boil brine together 10 minutes:
1 quart vinegar
2 quarts water
¾ cup salt

To each jar, add:
2 grape leaves
1 garlic clove, peeled
1½ teaspoon dill seed

Wash cucumbers, cut in spears. Put washed grape leaf in bottom of quart jar. Add 1 clove garlic and 1½ teaspoon dill seed. Pack jar with cucumber spears. Cover with simmering brine. Top with another grape leaf and seal. Needs to season about 2 weeks.

Rotz Finds Similarity Between Butchering And Conducting

BONNIE BRECHBILL
Franklin Co. Correspondent

McCONNELLSBURG (Fulton Co.) — Richard Rotz is just as comfortable talking about commissioned choral works as he is about dry-cured country ham.

Rotz, 52, is a partner in his family's business, Rotz Meats, near McConnellsburg, and the conductor of the Mercersburg Area Community Chorus. Classical music has been a large part of his life for many years.

"I took piano lessons as a child," he said, "but I didn't take it seriously until I got into high school." He joined the Columbia Record Club's classical division, and received one record a month. "I got to know a lot of music that way."

"I knew instantly — I vividly remember the moment — that I knew I was going into music," Rotz said. He was playing percussion during band practice at McConnellsburg High School, but didn't have anything to play at the moment. "I was listening to the music, and I thought, 'This is great!' I'm sure the Lord had a lot to do with it."

After receiving a bachelor of arts degree in music education from Lebanon Valley College and a master's in music from the University of Michigan, he taught music at James Buchanan High School in Mercersburg from 1965-1979. He was not involved in Rotz Meats during those years.

A resident of Mercersburg in Franklin County, Rotz helped to start the Mercersburg Area Community Chorus in 1975, and has conducted all its concerts except the first one. The chorus, which has about 110 members from the tri-state area, was incorporated as a non-profit organization in 1980. It gives five performances a year in the arched Gothic cathedral on the grounds of the Mercersburg Academy.

"One of the reasons we organized the chorus was that building," Rotz said. "It just cries out for the kind of music we perform."

While Rotz is highly skilled as a conductor, he admits freely that he has "a terrible voice."

"(The chorus members) are the makers of the sound," he said. "Music is in your head."

As part of the 100th anniversary celebration of Mercersburg Academy, the chorus performed a commissioned 12-minute cantata, "For You O Democracy," based on the texts of Walt Whitman. The composer, Lee Hoiby of Long Eddy, New York, was present.

A committee of three people, including Rotz, began the search for the cantata's composer several months ago. They contacted experts in the field for recommendations, and chose 35 composers from their suggestions. They invited those 35 to submit music, specifying a lyrical, 20th-century romantic style.

"We didn't want anything avant garde," he said.

Twenty-five composers applied for the commission by submitting tapes and scores as samples of their style. The committee chose Hoiby to write the piece.

"Lee Hoiby is nationally known as a fine composer," Rotz said. "He's in the upper echelon, (but) we chose him because of his music, not his reputation."

It took Hoiby about three months to compose "For You O Democracy."

Rotz, who enjoys a variety of classical music, hesitates to choose a favorite work or composer.

"Great music lasts," he said. "You get to know it by listening to it many times. It has a great inner beauty and inner rightness that stands the test of time."

Classical music plays in one of the back rooms at the butcher shop, where Rotz can enjoy it while he works.

Rotz's parents started the meat business in the 1940s on a farm about a mile from the present location. He and his sister, Marion Walker, and her son, Stephen, run the business with the help of five employees. Their mother, Beulah, 87, helps to trim meat. Marion's husband, Charles, operates the farm beside the shop, raising about two-thirds of the hogs processed there.

The division of labor is not clear-cut. "We all do anything that's to be done," Marion said.

"That works best," Rotz added. "We're a close family."

Over the meat case in their red-and-white wallpapered salesroom are wooden cut-outs of pigs with revolving tails. Most of the customers who enter are known to the Rotz family, even those who come from as far away as Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

What they come for is the country-cured ham and bacon, and the sausage, puddin' and ponhaus made in the shop.

(Turn to Page B15)

Richard Rotz is equally at home in front of a piano or in his family business, Rotz Meats.

Richard Rotz checks hams in the drying room. The hams lose weight as they dry, but no water is added.

Bull Behavior Is All In The Handling, Says PCA President

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

MCKNIGHTSTOWN (Adams Co.) — "It's all in how you treat 'em. If you start beating on 'em, forget it."

Ray Grimes, president of the Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association (PCA), said that he enjoys working on his Charolais cattle, as part of his 125 brood cow/calf operation. As he places specially prepared feed on the ground for the heifers, he calls them, gently, and ruffles their fine white coats, and says, "Nice girl, nice girl."

Grimes works with his 3,000-pound bull, a "puppy," according to Ray's wife, Mary. The bull was paraded last Saturday at the seventeenth annual Adams County Beef Producers Association Beef Ball during the famous Parade of Bulls at the New Oxford Social Club Pavilion in New Oxford. The bull, one of 12 breeds presented, is nicknamed "Max" from Rainbow Maximillian, obtained from Dave Douglas' Rainbow Farms in Martha's Vineyard, Mass. Max was paraded at the ball by 14-year-old Donna Classen.

With the bull, Grimes knows its best to take the gentle approach. But those sentiments toward handling any kind of cattle, particularly beef cattle, are the result of experience. "It's how you treat them, it's how their behavior is. If you treat them rough, they're going to be rough on you."

Care is crucial

Grimes serves his second term as Council president, said that bulls, who are more intelligent he said "than half a dozen cows," explained that care in treating the animals is crucial. Bulls, he said, remember mistreatment.

More importantly, mistreatment of animals before the auction can result in decreased sales and generally bad news for the beef industry in general, which has been recently blamed for deaths from e. coli contamination to increased causes of cancer.

"It pays for use to treat our animals right," he said. "If you don't, you don't make any money."

South Mountain Farm

Ray and wife Mary operate South Mountain Farm just off of the Old Rt. 30 northwest of Gettysburg. Ray purchased the farm from his brother Don in 1969. The purchase included 154 acres (120 tillable), but Ray rents additional ground to make about 300 acres of hay. He grows about 20 acres of corn and some oats, enough to feed the heifers and young stock. They raise the feed to mix with protein in the supplement, which often also contains some apple pumice (a waste product in making apple juice) for energy.

Ray and Mary maintain about 125 brood cows. Their operation consists of 80 percent purebred Charolais and about 20 percent commercial.

Ray chose the Charolais cattle because, he said, "they just appealed to me." At the time, the industry was looking for size, and the breed is noted for its large frame and leanness of meat. He obtained seedstock from various producers, including Linden Farms, New York (dispersal sale); Dave Douglas, Martha's Vineyard, Mass; Stonedale Farms, Ohio; Leroy Meyers, Maryland; and Royal Charolais, Greensberg.

"They're big," he said. "Now, the trend seems to be going to the smaller carcasses.

"They're a beautiful cow as far as I'm concerned," said Ray. However, he said, "they're hard to keep clean. It shows."

"They make a good crossbred animal," said Mary. "They cross with other English breeds."

Ray said he enjoys working with the Charolais breed because they don't finish out until they're through growing — compared to other breeds, which can get fat while they grow.

He said he hasn't had too much trouble with the disposition of the cattle. "They got a name of having a wild disposition," he said, but that depends on how you treat them.

"I've raised Angus too, and as far as I'm concerned, they have a better temperament than Angus."

In the beginning, when Charolais were used because of their size, many traits, such as hard calving, were not corrected. But that is now becoming history, as the calving ease improves.

Taking aim

The PCA, with annual dues of $12 per member, is associated with the National Cattlemen's Association (NCA), of which members pay $60 in annual dues. The Association, with a budget of $36,000, is taking aim at problems beef producers face. Their goal is to help disseminate information to allow them to produce better beef at a lower cost, and to keep the entire industry, and those who are members, abreast of the latest producer information.

They work closely with the Pennsylvania Beef Council, based in Harrisburg, to help producers survive in a world where many consumers are continuously growing leary of eating beef. "We try to learn with other people how to raise meat, and the Beef Council tries to tell people to eat meat," said Ray.

But through the Council efforts, as the result of the beef checkoff funds generated through sales of beef, the picture is changing. Slowly but surely more doctors and dieticians are recognizing the importance of beef in a balanced diet.

"It's not as bad as it used to be," said Grimes, who emphasized the vital need for the checkoff dollars. "We've gotten the word through to them that beef is still one of the best foods there is and also the safest."

Depend on checkoff

But the money from PCA comes mostly from the members. They also depend on the checkoff to help promote beef — and they need heavier weapons considering the growing strength of the animal rights groups, which continue to make their presence known.

At the recent NCA convention in Phoenix, Ariz., animal rights activists arrived there the first day of the convention "and they were promptly arrested for trespassing," said Ray.

The PCA is concerned, mainly because the rightists are well-organized and well-funded, and are making headway into the backyards of several producers. They will inevitably open fire on Pennsylvania cattle producers, too.

"It's going to come," said Mary. She said rightists began at some of the larger industry conventions in the Midwest because there, "they could get more publicity and more bang for their buck."

EASTER DINNER-SERVE IT SAFELY

Easter will be a special day in many homes, when families and relatives gather to celebrate and enjoy dinner together. Food safety precautions will help insure a pleasant holiday for you and yours.

Ham, the traditional Easter meat, contains some bacteria. Bacteria are found in the air we breathe, on our skin, everywhere. Under certain conditions, bacteria multiply very rapidly. This is what you want to avoid.

Hams labeled "cured" or "cured and smoked" must be cooked before you eat them. They need to be cooked to an internal temperature of 160 degrees F. to bring out their best flavor and tenderness. Fully cooked hams have been cured and cooked by the packer and they only need to be reheated to an internal temperature of 140 degrees F.

Never leave cooked or uncooked ham at room temperature for more than two hours. Keep it COLD (below 40 degrees F.) or HOT (above 140 degrees F.).

People with colds and infections, or sores or cuts on their hands, should not handle food, especially perishable foods such as ham or other meats and poultry. This may spread bacteria.

Keep half hams, cured ham slices or fresh ham, no more than three days before cooking. Once open, any canned ham should be refrigerated. Check labels to see if it needs refrigeration before opening. Use it within seven days.

Creamed vegetables are perishable items, too. Serve them immediately. Do not allow them to stand at room temperature for more than two hours. Use some method of keeping them hot(above 140 degrees F.).

Cream-filled desserts such as cream puffs or cream pies are extremely perishable. Make them shortly before serving; keep them refrigerated; and do not keep leftovers, even though they are refrigerated, more than a day.

Easter eggs are decorative and fun for youngsters to make. But, if you intend to eat the eggs, keep them refrigerated. If you use eggs as a table centerpiece, they should not be used for longer than two hours. Then, they can be refrigerated and eaten. Otherwise, just use the eggs as decorations and do not plan to eat them.

Can you prepare and serve Easter dinner to avoid foodborne illness? Your family may enjoy meals everyday without problems, but on holidays when large groups get together, the types and larger quantities of foods present different problems. You may not have enough refrigerator space.

Foodborne illness can couse diarrhea, vomiting, stomach cramps, and other unpleasant symptoms which can last for several hours or even days. With young children and elderly people, the results can be more severe. Often, people mistake foodborne illness for a simple "bug" or virus. The real cause may be food that was not properly handled, prepared, or served. This can be prevented.

Perishable foods such as cooked poultry, seafood, and meats should be kept HOT or COLD. Remember bacteria grows best in lukewarm foods. Never allow these foods to stand at room temperature more than 2 hours.

Holiday meals are fun but they need careful planning. Ask yourself how many people you can safely serve? How much time will it take to prepare the food? Don't try to feed more people than you can handle. Consider the size and quantity of your cooking equipment, your supply of eating utensils and dishes. Figure out how much refrigerator space you will need to store foods safely. Enjoy your Easter dinner, but serve it safely.

Bull Behavior

"It's a well-funded group," said Ray. "And a lot of people believe in it. What I believe in, I'm not trying to push my ideas on you — you got your own ideas. But that's not their way of thinking. They got to push their ideas on you."

Alert and educate

What PCA is trying to do is alert and educate their 1,100 members about implementing animal welfare activities in their operations. One concern is downed cattle — what to do about them?

"It's a bad thing," said Ray, "and there really isn't a complete answer for it, because when you haul a load of cattle any distance, there may be a weak one in there that gets down. And when they get to the unloading destination, they got to have a place to unload it. And when they have to hook a chain to it and tow it off the truck, that isn't a pleasant thing to do. I'm sure they don't like it any more than anybody else, but it's a job that must be done. The most human way is to put an animal out of its misery. Most people believe that, but there's always a few that don't."

PCA continues to act as a support organization for the many small producers, who find it increasingly hard to compete for the consumer dollar (especially when consumers are preferring poultry and swine products more often). Ray said the PCA doesn't have the money to spend on advertising that other organizations have. Other industries are supported because they are contract-type, such as feed companies owning poultry and swine. Without the checkoff, beef producers would be "snowed under."

Ray remains grateful that packers such as Moyer and Taylor, who hold positions on the PCA board, continue to remain in the area and purchase beef. Producers would have a very difficult time, according to Ray, selling beef otherwise.

Supports activities

Nevertheless, through the contributions of industry and individual producers, the PCA continues to support activities which promote beef.

One of the promotions includes youth groups that require money to attend trips as part of meat judging contests. The Penn State meat judging team captured first place in the recent NCA convention in Phoenix.

Mary calls the event the "Superbowl of youth groups in the beef industry." Penn State beat out Oklahoma's meat juding team for the honors.

An event the PCA helps sponsor is the recent Pennsylvania Beef Expo. At the Expo, PCA held its annual meeting, where they elected the new PCA queen, Amy Clair, and princess, Sherry Ishman.

According to Ray, the Beef Expo is scheduled in April next year at a new location — the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg.

In the coming weeks, Ray will be speaking on a panel for beef producers in Somerset County. In April, Ray will be addressing the Susquehanna Cattlemen's Association in Sunbury. In July, he will be attending two field days, including one at a Somerset Angus farm and for the Simmental Association in Adams County.

The breed associations form a vital part of the PCA, according to Ray, and help the PCA do its job.

Butchering And Conducting

"Country-cured hams are our special niche," Rotz said. No one else in the area produces dry-cured hams, and there are only a few others in the state, he said.

Fresh hams are rubbed with a dry sugar cure made from the family's recipe, and kept at 36-38 degrees for eight weeks. They are smoked over a hickory wood fire for two or three days, then hung in a drying room for three weeks.

No water is added. The hams lose about 20 percent of their weight during the process, Rotz said.

There is one similarity between Rotz's two seemingly disparate interests. He said of his family's business, "This is an art, not a science."

Joe Byler receives the FFA Agricultural Achievement Award in memory of John W. Decker.

Recently the Penns Valley Chapter of the FFA held their 36th annual banquet.

Shelly Ogline, state reporter, brought greetings from the state association.

The 1992-1993 Honorary Member Award was presented to Randy and Mary Rider for their contribution to the FFA. The Greenhand Degree was given to first-year FFA members, and the Star Greenhand was awarded to Jenifer McClellen.

Chapter certificates were awarded to the second year FFA students, and the county degrees were awarded to the third year FFA students.

Chapter Star Famer this year was William Krape, also chapter president. Senior Leadership, sponsored by Centre Hall Farm Store, and the Senior Scholarship went to Hannah Auman, chapter chaplain.

The Agriculture Communications Award, in memory of Sara Zimmerman, was awarded to Jason Wolfe, chapter treasurer.

Star Agribusinessmen went to Robert Weaver. Tussey-View Farm Dairy Award went to William Krape. Outstanding Female Award was awarded to Kimberly Grubb.

Agriculture Mechanics Award, sponsored by Dunkle and Grieg,, Inc., went to Robert Weaver. Swine Production Award, sponsored by Gary Homan, was awarded to Jason Wolfe.

The Agriculture Achievement Award, in memory of John W. Decker, went to Joseph A. Byler, chapter reporter.

The Penns Valley FFA Chapter was awarded the BOAC Award, which was accepted by William Krape. The Keystone Farmer Degree is the highest award given by the state. This year's recipients were Hannah Auman, Joseph Byler, Kimberly Grubb, William Krape, Robert Weaver, and John Wells. These students also received special citations from Representative Ruth C. Rudy. Retiring officer plaques went to William Krape, president; Robert Weaver, vice president; Hannah Auman, chaplain; and Joseph Byler, reporter.

Bucks-Montgomery Seeks Dairy Princess Candidates

OTTSVILLE, (Bucks Co.) — The Bucks-Montgomery Dairy Promotion Committee is seeking candidates to compete in the 1993 Bucks-Montgomery Dairy Princess Contest scheduled for June 26 at Delaware Valley College.

To acquaint candidates with the opportunities of being a dairy princess, the promotion committee is sponsoring a social on April 18 at 2 p.m. at the David and Sharon Bishop farm, Curley Hill Road, in Doylestown. Committee members and 1991-1992 Bucks-Montgomery Dairy Princess Tanya Martin will explain what the program entails and the benefits involved.

Young women interested in attending the April 18 social and/or learning more about the Bucks-Montgomery Dairy Princess contest should contact Tanya Martin, chairperson, at (215)795-0454.

4-H HAPPENINGS

4-H Tractor Club to Begin

The 1993 Wayne County 4-H Tractor and Farm Machinery Safety Certification Program began April 6, at the Wayne County Cooperative Extension, at the Courthouse in Honesdale. Other meeting dates are April 13, April 20, April 27, and May 4.

This 4-H program is designed mainly for 14 to 16 year old youths that intend to work on area farms this spring and summer. It can also be valuable safety training for others currently operating or working with farm tractors or other farm equipment.

A totalo of five classroom-type meetings are scheduled for this year's program. One of these meetings will be conducted at an area farm equipment dealership.

The requirements of this 4-H project include completing a 4-H tractor and machinery safety project book, taking and passing a comprehensive, written examination, and successfully competing in a 4-H tractor driving and machinery handling test.

All young people interested in this valuable 4-H project training are encouraged to contact the 4-H Office so that the necessary 4-H project materials can be ordered. Participants must attend all five meetings that are planned for this 4-H project area.

Every 4-H member that completes this project will also receive a 4-H Tractor and Machinery Maintenance and Safety Completion Certificate.

Please contact the Wayne County 4-H Office for additional information, (717)253-5970, ext. 239.

- New top-of-line bias-ply tractor rear, featuring our long bar/long bar design for tread stability, and heavy bar bracing to extend tread life.
- Long wearing and smooth riding, due to the more uniform, flatter contour of the long bar/long bar design.
- Proven 23° bar angle for traction and open center for self-cleaning.
- Bead and rim protector shields the rim to help keep stubble and soil from getting between the bead and rim flange.

"I switched to AminoTek Dairy Pellets from a cob chop mix in 1991. My cows cleaned the pellets up as good as my cob-chop mix. However, I got a jump in milk right away. In one week my cows were up 5 pounds/head/day. My production went up and just stayed there. The highest average I got was 68 pounds a day. I was never close to that before feeding AminoTek. My butterfat stayed about the same, 3.6, for the '92 year. For the past year my cows have not gone below 60 pounds and this fall my test went up to 3.9 and even 4.0.

My fresh cows are cleaning very good and they just take off in milk., My herd health, since feeding AminoTek, is real good. I thought with my jump in milk, that my reproduction would get worse, but it hasn't. With the great service Sensenig gives and the results from the AminoTek Dairy Program, I am very happy "

"My December milk average was 77.1 POUNDS."

"I started milking cows in March of 1992. The herd I bought was being fed a TMR, mineral program. The RHA was 21,000, so I was hoping to keep close to that by individually feeding the cows. At first, the biggest difference was that my butterfat dropped from 3.6 to 3.4, but surprisingly the milk held pretty good. Some mid-lactation cows even picked up.

As the cows are drying off and coming fresh, they are taking off and peaking very good. My December milk average was 77.1 pounds. My RHA has climbed back over 21,000 and should keep going if my calving interval keeps going down.

My breeding with the new herd was my biggest problem, but the past few months it is going the other way, and things are looking real good. With the way they are milking and breeding now, I hope 1993 will be a good year."

FOCUS ON QUALITY

Pork Quality Assurance

The National Pork Producers Council (NPPC) introduced the Pork Quality Assurance Program in 1989 as a three-level management education program. The Pork Quality Assurance (PQA) Program emphasizes good management practices in the handling and use of animal health products and encourages producers to review their approach to their herds' health programs.

The PQA Program is for all pork producers, regardless of the size of their operation. The benefits of participation for the individual producer are:

- To improve management practices
- To avoid violative drug residues
- To decrease production costs
- To increase awareness of food safety concerns.

The entire pork industry benefits from widespread producer commitment to the program. The program, if put into practice by the majority of U.S. pork producers, will help the industry protect or even expand its market for pork. This will be accomplished by reducing the risk of incidents that could destroy consumer confidence in pork.

How can you participate in this effort to produce quality pork? Contact your veterinarian, feed company, or county extension agent and ask them about the pork quality assurance program. You may also write to the National Pork Producers Council, P. O. Box 10383, Des Moines, Iowa 50306 and ask them for Level I and II materials. It will take you about 30 minutes to complete Levels I and II. Next you complete the prestamped card from the level I/II booklet and return it to NPPC.

You will then receive the Level III booklet. To complete Level III, you need to review the Level III booklet with a verifier who may be a veterinarian, extension specialist, or agricultural education instructor. Verifiers will make appropriate recommendations for your operation as well as aid you in doing the drug residue testing of one market hog that is requested.

Management education for pork producers is critical if pork is to remain competitive in U.S. and world markets and is to be the "meat of choice by the year 2000." By completing this program, you will join many thousands of other producers who have committed themselves to "quality assured" pork production.

National Beef Quality Audit

By the year 2001, the beef industry must improve the quality and consistency of its product and become more competitive with alternative protein sources. Industry leaders believe this can become reality if the various sectors of the industry utilize results of the National Beef Quality Audit.

Funded by the industry through the $1-per-head Checkoff, the National Beef Quality Audit was conducted the summer and fall of 1991. Its No. 1 goal was "to conduct a quality audit of slaughter steers/heifers — their carcasses, cuts and dress-off/offal items — for the U.S. beef industry in 1991, establishing baselines for present quality shortfalls and identifying targets for desired quality levels by the year 2001." This it accomplished.

The audit consisted of three phases: 1) face-to-face interviews with packers, restauranteurs, purveyors and retailers; 2) slaughter floor and cooler audits in 28 beef packing plants; and 3) a strategy workshop involving 43 industry specialists who assigned a dollar value to the problem areas and outlined four key industry objectives. In its final analysis, the National Beef Quality Audit showed that carcass nonconformities in the beef industry cost approximately $279.82 for every steer/heifer slaughtered in the United States during 1991.

Labeled one of the most important checkoff projects every undertaken, the National Beef Quality Audit provides benchmark data identifying areas of nonconformity and quality shortfalls. Using these data as a measuring stick, the industry can start to manage its inconsistencies and nonconformities. And it can develop and implement additional initiatives — such as extending the "war on fat" — aimed at improving beef's position in the marketplace.

Yes, the National Beef Quality Audit is a critical piece in the big picture — total quality management — of the beef industry. It's also a natural next step in the overall picture that includes the Beef Quality Assurance Program, value-based marketing, carcass data collection service, National Feedlot Quality Award, integrated resource management, and research projects such as gene-mapping and instrument grading. These projects all work hand-in-hand to ensure beef's future in the battle for consumer allegiance and dollars.

Quality and Yield Grading of Lamb

Questions continue to rise on the quality and yield grading implemented this past July. Following are some excerpts taken from Sheep Magazine (October 1992).

- RUMOR: There is no demand for quality and yield grade product.
- FACT: Retailers have wholeheartedly embraced this program. In fact, they are demanding lamb that is quality and yield graded product because it addresses their key issues: consistency, quality, cutability, and value. They backed American Sheep Industry Association (ASI) in supporting quality and yield grading and Certified American Lamb, rejecting an alternative proposed by packers which significantly loosened criteria on leanness. In fact, in the first two weeks of the program's implementation, retailers rejected whole loads of lambs that had not been quality and yield graded.

ing, and showing their willingness to pay for the increased value of the product.

• RUMOR: The new lamb grading program has caused disruption in the marketplace.

• FACT: With any new change comes some disruption to the market. But look at some of the facts and see if the disruption is contrived.

Feeders are not selling lambs based on yield grade. Packers are not using the program to buy lambs. They're still buying on averages and dressing percentage, as always. There have been no discounts on any particular grade of lamb. Packers are selling lamb based on yield grade and differentiating at yield grades 1 and 2 for certified and recently at yield grades 3 and down. So the argument that prices have declined due to the implementation of quality and yield grading holds no water.

Any natural disruption from the implementation of this program will be limited because of its gradual movement into the marketplace. It cannot be attributed as the cause of continual large declines in carcass and live price.

• RUMOR: Quality and yield grading are hurting the producer.

• FACT: Quality and yield grading is the first real step by producers toward value-based marketing. It is a tool to help the producer market his product based on lean meat yield. With the addition of good market price information, it will help the producer determine the value of his product, analyze market condition and ultimately market lamb in a profitable way. Our major competitors in the red meat industry — beef and pork — have already made significant cuts in the amount of fat in their products.

Preventive Measures Lower Herd Health Costs

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — One of the more easily-controlled cost factors in livestock management is the investment needed to keep your herd healthy. Nutritional supplements, antibiotics, and other medications all contribute to a healthier herd, but can drain profits if not used correctly.

Keeping your herd healthy is much more cost-effective if practiced in a preventive fashion as opposed to a reactive manner, according to Dr. John Hough, director of education and research for the American Polled Hereford Association.

"Maintaining a healthy herd is key to a total quality management (TQM) system to maximize quality beef production and profitability," said Hough.

"Preventing illness in cattle can be viewed much like keeping yourself healthy," he said. "If you take care of your herd by providing quality forages, supplements, veterinary care, and adequate environmental conditions, the likelihood of serious illnesses greatly declines.

"A well-planned, verified, preventive care program can help keep operating costs lower and unplanned veterinary expenses to a minimum," he said.

Several items contribute to profitable, overall herd health, whether you have a large or small herd. First, it's important to work your veterinarian to develop a program based on the factors present in your operation. These include disease history, seasonal changes, your management style, cattle origin, genetics, and calving seasons.

Secondly, nutrition is probably the most critical factor to any animal's health. It not only includes the proper amount of forages and supplementgs, but the proper balance of nutrients, minerals, and vitamins. Don't hesitate to have forages tested at a reliable lab.

Record keeping is essential to getting the "big picture" of your herd's needs. Complete records give you the history of a specific animal, the medications it has received, and the growth rate of its offspring.

"Just as nutrition, record keeping, and breeding have a substantial impact on your herd's health, so do your medication practices. When you're giving vaccinations or antibiotic injections, it's natural to be in a hurry and want to get as many animals processed as quickly as possible." Hough said.

"However, when you're completing a procedure on an animal, take time to check for other problems such as external parasites," Hough said. "While these are seldom serious problems, they can create stress and lower performance. A few extra minutes with the animal can help you identify an irritation and treat it before it becomes a major problem."

Parasite control is important, too. There are several effective parasite control programs you can use to keep infestations and the relcated diseases in check. Many parasite control methods easily fit into current management practices and require little initial investment.

By providing effective overall herd health care from birth forward, and following a preventive schedule, you can reduce annual medication costs and generate greater profits from healthy animals. These factors are important as the beef industry and cattlemen focus on TQM production. Your county extension office can provide more information on preventive herd health.

Hereford Show, Sale Set

MERCER (Mercer Co.) — The Northwestern Pennsylvania Polled Hereford Association would like to invite the public to attend their 39th annual show and sale, set for April 24 at 2 p.m. at the Mercer Co. 4-H Park. The park is located one mile North of Mercer on U.S. Route 19. The sale will begin at 7 p.m.

The Association will be offering 38 lots of bred and open heifers, 24 cow and calf pairs, and 14 bulls which would make great herd prospects. Some of the sires are notable trait leaders: BT Prophet 117P, CWF Special Force, Jr Nick the Butler P183, Ihry GK Race, BT Butler 452M, Ace Mohican Broker 44, SCH Dukes Marvel 230, Anhinga Vic 69R 834.

Eric Ligo of Mercer will be the judge and Frank Darcey, Jr. of Gettysburg will be the pedigree announcer. Harry Anderson of Georgetown will be the auctioneer.

Education Key For Animal Use

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — Participants in the second annual conference on the ABC's of Responsible Animal Care, Handling and Use, sponsored by the Pennsylvanians for the Responsible Use of Animals (PRUA), heard speakers from a variety of animal-use backgrounds issue a similar message: working together to educate the public is vital.

The conference was held in Harrisburg recently, with 75 participants.

Harry Rozmariek, D.V.M., director of the University Laboratory Animal Resources at the University of Pennsylvania, said, "We must communicate to the public in every way." He challenged the audience to "be active and vigilant in your own industry, to communicate their accomplishments to others, to volunteer to participate in the community about your industry's use of animals, and to learn more about the use of animals within your own industry."

He said they should be constantly on top of all legislation. "The more we stick together, the more our message will be heard."

One hundred years ago, with 90 percent of the population engaged in agriculture, people were more realistic in the use of animals because they were close to it, Rozmariek said. Now, he said, "children give human qualities to animals," and know only that most food comes from the grocery store. He added, "We live in a society of people looking for a cause."

Karl Brown, president of PRUA, said, "It's a battle to win the hearts and minds of the people."

He said that both those concerned for animal welfare and those who are animal rightists are in the minority, and, "We must communicate with those in the majority who are not on either side."

Brown said the conference participants must be more "pro-active in self policing, in defending legal rights, in scientific research and in legislation." He also supported the need to be informed, adding, "Legislation is interpreted through regulations and case law."

Dr. Stanley Curtis, head, Department of Dairy and Animal Science at The Pennsylvania State University, told participants they must "look for a balance." He said there must be a tolerance for the use of animals as food, he said those who work with animals must respond by caring for the animals humanely.

Luncheon speaker Dr. Peter Safar, University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine, Pittsburgh, was more blunt. "The extension of our life span could not have come about without animals. There is no substitute for using whole animals because the interaction of organs cannot be duplicated."

PRUA is coalition of associations and individuals representing agriculture, biomedicine, entertainment, sports and hunting groups. The umbrella organization encourages the humane treatment of animals used for food, clothing, biomedical research, entertainment and sport, and strongly supports Pennsylvanian's right to continue using animals to enhance the quality of human life.

PRUA offers a forum for 25 member organizations and several hundred individuals to work together in communicating their concern about threats to the continued, responsible use of animals.

The coalition also provides facutal information to the public, media, elected officials and those responsible for the care of animals so they can have a better understanding of proper care standards.

HEXAMITIASIS — A DEADLY DISEASE RETURNS II

D. L. Singletary, DVM
Dept. of Veterinary Science

In my January article I described how hexamitiasis all but disappeared from the turkey industry and had reappeared since certain anti-blackhead medications were taken off the market.

In this article I'll describe how to identify the disease by its signs and lesions and how to control it.

Symptoms

The symptoms of hexamitiasis can be confused with poult enteritis (which is caused by a number of viruses) and starve-outs.

Early in an outbreak poults act strangely — they are hyperactive and nervous. Then they act as if they are cold. They sit huddled together with their heads drawn in and seek a heat source. They are dull and listless, with drooped wings. Their feathers are rough and ragged in appearance, and they look unthrifty. A watery diarrhea develops and the birds dehydrate and die.

Soiled vent feathers are common due to the diarrhea. The affected birds go off feed and start eating litter, a common observation in a sick bird with intestinal problems.

Lesions

The lesions are few and confined to the intestinal tract. The intestine lacks tone (it is flabby and soft), breaks easily, and has dilated/sacculated areas along its length in typical outbreaks of hexamitiasis.

The intestinal contents are watery with an excessive amount of mucus. The crop is usually empty and the gizzard is filled with litter.

Transmission/ Spread

Sick birds shed the hexamita parasite in their droppings, thus contaminating the feed, water and litter, and spreading the disease to their pen mates.

Birds that survive become carriers, shedding the organism in their droppings. Therefore, old birds should not be mixed with younger ones.

Also, various other poultry species (chickens, etc.) must not be raised together because the parasite infects a wide variety of poultry.

Hexamitiasis becomes increasingly severe in each flock of poults raised in the same facilities flock after flock.

Economic Effects

A severe economic effect of hexamitiasis is based on the fact that many of the affected birds become stunted. Many of these birds never make it to market and most birds take weeks longer to reach market weight.

Control/ Treatment

Hexamitiasis is difficult to eliminate from a farm once it gets well established. Drastic and unpopular changes in management practices may be required to control this disease on problem farms.

Some of these changes in management include:

- Depopulation of all birds on the farm. This eliminates old carrier birds and other infected poultry.
- Cleaning and disinfecting. This reduces the number of disease organisms.
- Do not raise different age birds on the same farm. If necessary to do so, use different caretakers and tighten biosecurity.
- Because droppings contain the organisms, try to keep them from contaminating the feed and water.
- Although some very popular and effective drugs have been removed from the market, some other products are still available. The most common are the tetracycline antibiotics (tetracycline, terramycin, and aureomycin). These antibiotics, available for both feed and water use, can be used for both prevention and treatment of hexamitiasis.

The anti-blackhead preventive drug nitarsone (Histostat) added to the feed may also aid in preventing hexamitiasis.

We hope that hexamitiasis will not become a major health problem for the turkey industry, as it was earlier. While some products have been removed from the market, others are still available to help in controlling this deadly disease.

Where trade names appear, no discrimination is intended, and no endorsement by cooperative extension is implied.

ADC Meets Farmers' Needs
More Than $129 Million in Extra Payments

"At Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, our mission is to maximize returns to members. In the past six years, we returned more than $129 million to members in equity payments, over-order premiums and quality bonuses. That's an average of $36,600 per member. And these extra dollars are continuing at the rate of $1.7 million a month.

Robert B. McSparran
President

"When non-members ask me why they should belong to Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, I am happy to report that we are financially healthy, strong in membership and growing in sales. ADC is the region's largest and most fiscally-sound cooperative, with a guaranteed market and outstanding benefits.

"More dairy farmers joined us last year than at any time in the past decade. If you are not an ADC shipper and are worried about your own milk market, then you should talk to the cooperative that is facing the future with confidence."

"The AgMaster difference really shows up in my forage test results!"

"I've used AgMaster Inoculants for the past three years and I think it's an excellent product... We milked 115 registered Holsteins during the first year we fed AgMaster-treated silage, and we saw a definite increase in milk production as a result of increased consumption... I sure would recommend AgMaster to other farmers because it gives me good quality feed, it's easy to handle, and the frozen shipping/ liquid application method really makes sense."

Available for parrallel parlors in three- and four-stall modules, the Maestro™ Automation System integrates the functions of automatic SST™ II SS Deluxe Take-Offs, milk meter controls, vacuum lines, and wiring within a single unit.

System Streamlines Milking

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — A revolutionary system that automates milking functions is available from Alfa Laval Agri Inc.

Available for parallel parlors in three- and four-stall modules, the Maestro™ Automation System integrates the functions of automatic SST™ II SS Deluxe Take-Offs, milk meter controls, vacuum lines, and wiring within a single unit. With Maestro, milking functions for the entire operation can be controlled from one centralized panel.

The De Laval SST™ II SS Deluxe Take-Offs include, in each unit, feature advanced electronics for maximum control. The timing of milkings, retraction, vacuum decay, milk sweep, and a number of other functions can all be programmed. Milk meter controls are included on each Maestro unit so a milk meter — such as a Flo-Master™ 2000 — can easily be added at any time.

According to Mark Hart, marketing manager for Alfa Laval Agri, an operation can really profit from milking system automation.

"The automated milking components in each Maestro unit are designed to work together — as a system — in perfect harmony," said Hart. "This dramatically improves an operation's efficiency. Plus, it gives the dairyman extra time to devote to other, farm activities."

All the elements — including the vacuum lines and wiring used to connect the controls — are housed in a rugged, industrial-quality stainless steel enclosure. By keeping bulky components, wires and pipes out of sight, Maestro gives parlors a streamlined, high-tech appearance and enhances visibility. With just one surface to wipe off, it also makes clean-ups easy.

As part of the De Laval Heavy-Duty Installation (HDI™) line of products, Maestro is designed and manufactured to perform efficiently for years in even the harshest conditions.

"Maestro was developed to make things easy on the dairyman," said Hart. "Since it's a complete milking system, there's no need to worry about selecting individual components and making sure they'll work together. By ordering one of the two available Maestro units, the dairyman is automatically assured of maximum performance and minimum downtime.

"Special color-coded wiring harnesses mean installation is easier, too. So Maestro will be up and running — and harvesting milk — as quickly as possible."

The Maestro Automation System is available exclusively through Alfa Laval Agri's network of more than 300 independent dealers nationwide. For additional information, visit a local dealer or call (800) 365-1883.

Tenneco Adopts Restructuring Program

RACINE, Wis. — The board of directors of Tenneco Inc. has adopted a comprehensive restructuring program for Case Corporation, Tenneco's farm and construction equipment unit, which together with prior actions will continue moving Case to sustained profitability and enhance its competitive position.

Adoption of the program resulted in a pre-tax restructuring charge of $920 million, all of which will be reflected in Tenneco's 1992 results.

"Our Case restructuring program announced today will increase our focus on core product lines in which Case is currently or potentially a market leader, including medium to large agricultural equipment and light- to mid-sized construction equipment," said Dana Mead, Tenneco president and chief operating officer and chairman and chief executive officer of Case.

The pre-tax charge of $920 million reflects estimated costs of $441 million for rationalizing the production of selected components: $161 million for consolidating and resizing production capacity; $126 million for addressing unprofitable, highly proliferated products; $91 million for transferring Case-owned retail stores to private ownership and restructuring the parts distribution systems; and $101 million for associated costs of restructuring.

"Case is in industries characterized by unrelenting global competition and flat to declining markets," Mead said. "Accordingly, we will align our products, manufacturing capacity and fixed costs to the realities of these industries and economic climate. As a result, we will be better able to capitalize on our substantial strengths including world-class core products, excellent brands, a well-structured distribution network, loyal customers and dedicated employees."

Mead said, "Our action plan in 1991 included a $461 million restructuring charge taken at Case for work force reductions, plant closings, and product line rationalizations. We also cut production by 26 percent from 1990 to 1991 and by an additional 24 percent from 1991 to 1992 in declining markets. As a result, inventories at Case and its dealers dropped $664 million compared to year-end 1991 levels, the organization was streamlined at all levels, and employment was cut 38 percent from late 1990 through the end of 1992.

Moews Presents Award

COCHRANVILLE (Chester Co.) — Mr. and Mrs. Norman Laffey, left, are shown here as Norman Laffey accepted the Moews Master Dealer Award from Charlie Truman, district sales manager for Moews Seed Company. The award presentation was part of the annual Moews Master Dealer Convention held recently at the Opryland Hotel in Nashville, Tenn. J-Star Announces 'EZ'-To-Use Scale Indicators

FT. ATKINSON, Wis. — J-Star Electronics announced the introduction of two new electronic indicators, the EZ150 and EZ210, both of which are compatible with all J-Star Scale Systems.

Features include:

• New scrolling messages that provide the operator with direction and answers to questions on site, without the user manual.

• New easy-to-read and large backlit LCD display that features new fiberoptic technology for longer life.

• New microprocessor design that provides a wider variety of "EZ" front-panel set-up features for convenience and accuracy.

The EZ150 features the best in basic weigh-up and weigh-down capability most commonly used with simple feed mixing applications, grain carts, weigh wagons, and deck scales.

The EZ210 features simple single pre-set weighing and offers options, including print capability, identification number, memory accumulation function, plus a recall memory function for feed mixing applications and platform scales.

In addition, the EZ Electronic Indicators provide the same 99.9 percent system accuracy as the original J-Star models. The EZ Indicators are housed in rugged, seamless high-impact Lexan, providing moisture, dust, and rust resistance. The indicator series is adaptable to almost any scale system.

For more information, contact J-Star Electronics, 801A Janesville Avenue, Fort Atkinson, WI 53538, (414) 563-5521.

No – Till Drill Models Available

HUTCHINSON, Kan. — Krause Corporation announces the addition of 13 feet and 20 feet models to its 5200N Series no-till grain drill line.

Krause 5200N no-till drills are now available in 10 feet, 13 feet, 15 feet, and 20 feet models with row spacing of 7½ inches or 10 inches.

The 5200N Series drills feature a "unitized" design with the coulter beam mounted close to the openers to insure the openers track accurately with the coulters on gradual turns, contours, and hillsides. Both the coulters and openers are "staggered" for optimum residue flow-through.

A unique weight transfer hitch allows the operator to increase coulter down pressure by transferring weight from the tractor to the coulters for penetration in extreme conditions.

Krause's innovative adjustable opener down pressure system allow the operator to choose opener down pressure from 160 pounds — 250 pounds per row to match any field condition. Krause doubler disc openers feature a ⅝ inch offset design which results in superior penetrating ability.

The 5200N openers also feature an enclosed seed drop tube located in front of and below the opener bearing that enables the seed to be placed accurately in the narrowest part of the seed trench, eliminating seed bounce. Krause openers are cast from ductile iron for long life even in rocky conditions.

Accurate seed depth placement is gauged by the press wheels. Krause press wheels feature quick, easy adjustment for depth and are smooth-sided to aid in residue flow-through. The 1993 models also feature a new seed metering drive system shielded from residue interference.

For more information, contact Krause Corporation, P.O. Box 2707, Hutchinson, KS

Northeastern Farm Credit Posts Record Earnings

LEWISBURG (Union Co.) — Northeastern Farm Credit, ACA, reported net income of $2.1 million on a $191 million loan portfolio in 1992 in year-end financial statements released this week.

Net earnings for 1992 advanced $300,000 or 17 percent from the previous year, while 1992 loan volume increased $17.1 million, or 9.8 percent over December 31, 1991.

"We are satisfied with the 1992 operating results of the Association, particularly given the generally unfavorable economic environment," said Robert T. Reich, president of Northeastern Farm Credit, ACA. "Earnings and loan volume growth continued during the year. But, most importantly, we maintained solid levels of profitability and growth while emphasizing sound credit management as we strengthened our capital base."

The year-end record of $191 million in loans outstanding represented a continuation of a growth trend in loan volume that began in the late 1980s. Since 1988, loan volume has increased more than $64 million, or in excess of 50 percent.

Reich commented that Farm Credit expects business activity to increase in 1993, with moderate growth in loan volume as a result of anticipated improvement in the regional and agricultural economy and continued favorable interest rates.

AGCO ALLIS
8600 SERIES TRACTORS
36 SPEED CHOICES

AGCO Allis 8600 Series tractors give you 36 speed choices, an electronic engine speed governor and many other quality performance features, as well as a comprehensive 4-year/4,000-hour warranty

- Speed choices for all conditions. The standard synchropower transmission offers 24 forward and 12 reverse speeds. An optional power Hi-Lo transmission boosts that to 36 speeds both forward and reverse. Both 8600 Series models are AWD with planetary final drive, and a self-adjusting, hydraulically-actuated clutch.
- The air- and oil-cooled engine advantage. The 8600 Series tractors feature the high-output, 6-cylinder, air- and oil-cooled diesel engine that eliminates components that cause downtime in liquid-cooled engines The 8610 model has a 103 PTO hp engine with a 22% torque rise and the 8630 model has a 120 PTO hp turbocharged engine with a 30% torque rise
- PTO power and versatility. The independent PTO operates at 540/1,000 rpm with 6- and 21-spline shafts and an electrohydraulically-actuated wet PTO clutch The 3-point hitch comes standard with telescopic stabilizers: Category II/I on the 8610; Category III/II on the 8630. Optional telescopic lower links are available
- Quality performance features. The 8600 Series tractors ride on premium Goodyear radial tires. They have hydrostatic steering, a tilt-telescope steering wheel and hydraulically-actuated wet disc brakes on all four wheels for 40% better braking. These models also have electrohydraulically-actuated rear and front differential locks that an operator can manually disengage for tighter turns.

To learn about all the quality features of the 8600 Series tractors, or any of the "orange" line of AGCO Allis tractors ranging from 40 to 128 PTO hp, stop by or call us soon

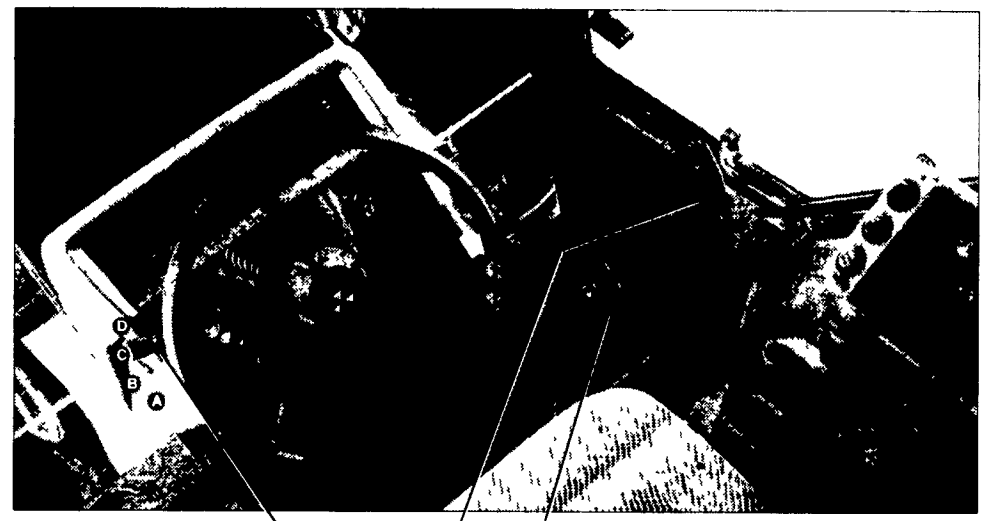
• HARDWARE • FARM SUPPLIES

Your shift has come in.



Sitting in your Silent Revolution cab you hardly hear the big diesel purring in anticipation as you turn into the field

Lower the implement Open the throttle You literally surge ahead With over 92% of available power being delivered to the wheels you're moving faster and more efficiently than conventional powershift tractors

Suddenly a tough spot lugs you down Without taking your hand off the wheel or your eyes off the implement you flick the Dynashift™ lever from C" to B" range

2 Reverse shuttle provides synchronized forward/reverse shifts in any gear

3 Main gearbox delivers eight base gears, for a total of 32 speeds when combined with the four powershift ranges

There's no jerk Just a smooth ideal 17% downshift to power you through

End of the field Flick the Dynashift lever up to "D" Again no lurches or jerks Just smooth, positive acceleration

"Amazing" you think "That a transmission this advanced could also be so simple and reliable"

Test cruise a Dynashift today in selected MF 3600 Series tractors at your nearby Massey Ferguson dealer

Program Enhances Beef Quality

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Adding value to cattle, cutting costs, and producing high-quality beef are but three objectives of the recently formed American Baldy Beef Council.

Response to the program, to be launched in July by the American Polled Hereford Association (APHA), is expected to be substantial.

Initially, the services offered by the Council will include a marketing service for superior Baldy cattle, and a certification plan allowing for quality and genetic documentation throughout the production chain.

"Baldy cattle are recognized by many as the animals most in demand by producers and feeders," said John Hough, director of education and research for APHA. "The Council is working to make this demand more beneficial to cattlemen."

The Council's marketing service will provide greater direct access to high-quality Baldies, providing increased profit and value to producers. A nationwide network of professional sales representatives will create a direct link with producers on local levels. Baldy sales representatives are knowledgeable in production practices and marketing. They will operate within guidelines based on integrity, service, skills, and standards.

"The Baldy Source," a computerized sales listing service, is being established to provide listings of Baldy replacement females and feeder cattle for sale. Each Baldy sales representative will have access to the most up-to-date listings on the service and will also have information on the superior genetics in each herd.

Hough said the certification aspect of the program adds value to Baldy cattle, already recognized as a profitability benchmark throughout the beef industry.

"The certification procedure documents management practices, genetic background information, and can serve as a vehicle for tracking the source of cattle from birth to slaughter," Hough said.

Those who participate in the certification plan will receive "management record" certificates identifying the cattle as "Certified Baldies." Management records will include sire information, dam information, production records, and a vaccination and implant chart.

"This certification provides vital genetic and management documentation on individuals or groups of animals to enable owners to manage for maximum profit and quality," Hough said. "It (certification) will also help build the reputation of Baldy producers to provide greater and lasting equity in their herds."

Hough adds that this program incorporates the beef industry trends toward superior British breed crossbred cattle with total quality management, emphasizing the National Cattlemen's Association's focus on quality. It also provide an opportunity to measure financial success by encouraging involvement in Integrated Resource management and NCA's Standardized Performance Analysis.

"The services of the American Baldy Beef Council are tools to help the beef industry and individual cattlemen who participate obtain greater bargaining power, increasing their competitive advantage," Hough said.

For more information about this new program, write to American Baldy Beef Council, 11020 N.W. Ambassador Dr., Kansas City, MO 64153, or call Dennis Schock at *816) 891-8400.

Tree Growers Elect Directors

HALIFAX (Dauphin Co.) — Six state tree producers have been elected as directors of the Pennsylvania Christmas Tree Growers Association (PCTGA).

The directors took office at the association's winter meeting held recently in Carlisle. Elected for three-year terms were: Peter Abraczinkas, Catawissa; Francis Botek, Lehighton; Paul Shealer, Auburn; Bruce Thompson, Williamsport; and Dave Beck, Mt. Bethel. Elected to serve a two-year term as director at large was Ed Campbell, Bloomsburg.

As PCTGA directors, the producers will work with a team of Christmas tree growers in planning strategy and goals for the state association and its 500 members involved in Christmas tree production.

Abraczinskas is a fourth generation Christmas tree and nursery producer from Columbia County. He will serve on the association's legislative and summer meeting committees.

A native of the Mahoning Valley area, Botek operates a tree and nursery operation. He has been assigned to the Farm Show and nominating committees.

Shealer has been involved in tree production for the several years near Auburn and will serve on the PCTGA research committee.

Thompson is a Christmas tree and nursery producer from the Williamsport area and was the host for the association's 1991 summer meeting. He will also serve on the Farm Show and winter meeting committees.

Dave Beck returns for a second term on the PCTGA board. He operates his business in the Mt. Bethel area and is also president of the Mid East Penn Christmas Tree Growers Association.

A native of the Benton area in Columbia County, Campbell is active in a number of civic and service organizations and owns Heritage Acre Evergreens near Bloomsburg.

PCTGA officers for the 1993 year were also elected: Joe Ahearn, Berwick, president; Darryl Bowersox, Middleburg, vice president; Michael J. Weaver, Orbisonia, secretary; and Sandy Walker, Lehighton, treasurer.

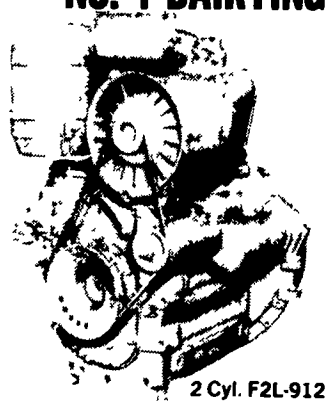
NO. 1 DAIRYING DIESEL



2 Cyl. F2L-912

KHD DEUTZ

Since 1968 F2L-912 diesels have earned the reputation as the most reliable diesel. Don't settle for less.

EASIER STARTING: Heavy flywheel provides easy starting. No electric heater plugs.

QUIETER: Runs quieter than most water cooled diesels. Very quiet exhaust.

Continuous Duty Rating:
26.5 HP @ 1800 RPM

Fewer repair parts than comparable three-cylinder diesels - cheaper to overhaul.

It has direct injection, lube oil cooling, and oil cooled pistons. This engine has proven to survive the extreme heat of a heavy load in a small engine house better than any other engine.

BREWEX - For Use In Dairy Feeds

BREWEX is used extensively in complete dairy formulations to contribute utilizable energy. It is a price/performance value when used in dry feeds, liquid feeds and on-farm mixes.

MIX WITH DRY FEEDS: BREWEX is found in commercial pelleted rations for dairy, hogs and poultry as an energy source to replace corn. BREWEX replaces corn on a pound for pound dry basis and provides for improved pellet durability, reduced mineral segregation, dust control and improved palatability in dairy rations.

ON-FARM MIXING

A commercial Jersey dairy farm, having over ten years of experience in feeding BREWEX to partially replace corn finds that

- BREWEX replaced 5% to 10% corn/day
- BREWEX improves butterfat about 0.1%
- BREWEX mixed with forage reduces mortality due to displaced abomasum
- BREWEX helps cattle to stay on feeds

HIGH TENSILE FENCE...THE FARMER'S BEST INVESTMENT

Testimonial from a very satisfied customer—

The Beaver Fence Systems are tops! We installed 1 mile of their fence on our farm on Feb. 3, 1993, full size post, 3-1/2 feet deep, excellent braces. We used 5 strand (2 elec.) high tensil, all in place in just 8-1/2 hours! The fence is as straight as an arrow-excellent equipment-very efficient work!

"I am a hard man to convince, but after I saw how Beaver built the fence, I'm ready to put my digging iron away," says David W. Brubaker of Honey Grove Acres, RD1, Box 629 Honey Grove, PA 17035

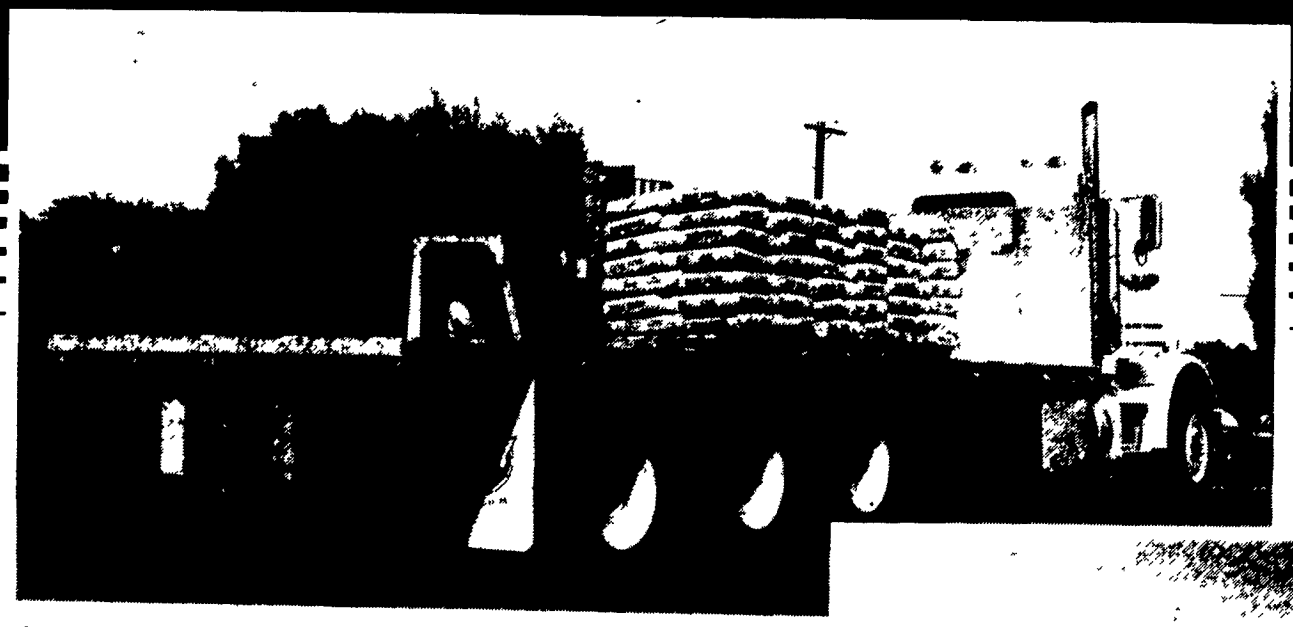
EBY ALUMINUM FLATBEDS: WE MAKE HARD WORK LOOK GOOD



On the farm or in the city, Eby aluminum flatbed bodies are built for your toughest hauling jobs. Their all-welded construction features 3" aluminum I-beam crossmembers (4" I-beams on bodies 16' and longer) on 12" centers, heavy side rub rail and aluminum diamond floor plate. A full list of options includes slated or solid aluminum sides, tool boxes and tire carrier.

Eby aluminum construction is up to 40% lighter than steel, so you get more payload capacity. The corrosion-resistant aluminum never needs painting and requires minimum maintenance but gives you maximum resale value. That's a winning combination to complement any truck.

In standard lengths to 32 feet and 5 widths from 78 to 102 inches, there's an Eby aluminum flatbed that's matched to your requirements. With Eby value and quality, hard work can look good.

THE AMERICAN DREAM

No one said owning property meant spending all of your free time on upkeep.

With the ability to mow more than four acres an hour the Ingersoll 5018 will make short work of mowing your lawn.

And since it's a true zero turning radius machine your trimming time will also be cut; leaving you time to enjoy the American Dream.

THE ONLY LIFETIME WARRANTY IN THE INDUSTRY
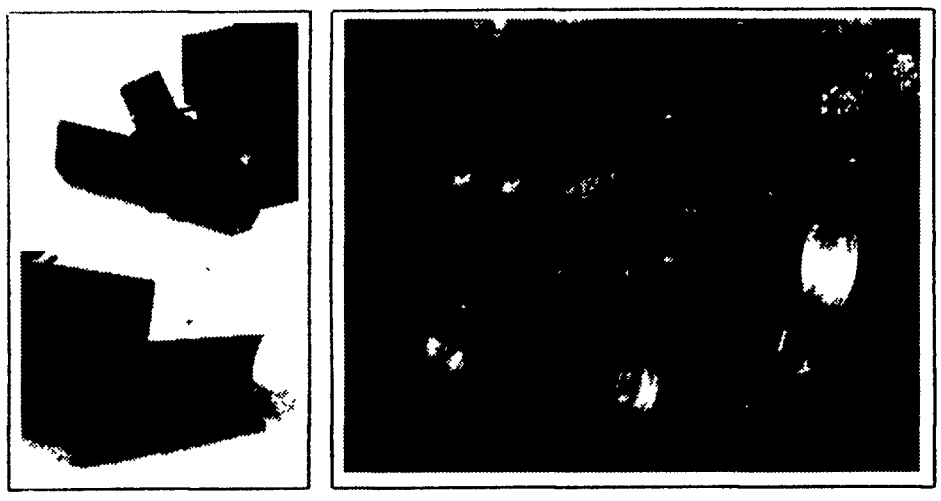
SPRING, SUMMER, FALL OR WINTER



All Ingersoll 3000 and 4000 series Garden Tractors feature HYDRIV™, a hydraulic drive system patented in 1965 and manufactured by J.I. Case until 1983 when Ingersoll acquired the product line and further enhanced it with state-of-the-art technology. Almost 30 years of reliable performance gives us the confidence to offer the TOP™ total Owner Protection Lifetime Warranty. Consult your dealer for specific TOP™ details.

Ingersoll offers the most complete line of time saving hydraulic attachments to tackle the tough chores on your small farm or ranch. Shown here is a Tiller and Chipper Shredder, but we also have Brushcutters, Log Splitters, Mowers, Vacuums, Scraper Blades and Snow Blowers.

Super Spreader

Double Rotating, Heavy Duty Expellors

Meyer Mfg. Corp. has developed a new style of manure spreader that can handle a wide variety of manure. The double expellor system rips away tough pen or frozen manure and applies it to the field in a smooth, even pattern. The new Meyer unit unloads out the rear, not the side, to prevent debri from coming back to the spreader and tractor. The Super Spreader is available in 260 bu., 325 bu., 360 bu., 390 bu., 450 bu., and 540 bu. units.

Two Large 20" Augers Help Prevent Bridging Problems

Our tank sides are almost straight up & down, not V shaped like other units. The augers are made of tough 3/8" sectional steel flighting. Our auger design cleans the bottom of the tank completely — no frozen manure buildup like beater type spreaders have.

Five Models To Choose From

Torture Tested And Field Proven For Your Satisfaction

Meyer Mfg. Corp. has developed a new style of forage box that can unload at a much faster rate of speed. This is accomplished thru a low range-high range variable speed system. Apron speeds range from 0-7.5' per minute in low range and 0-17' per minute in high range. The Meyer TSS also allows the operator to inch the augers free of material before engaging the apron chain. This box is available in the All Steel TSS or the TSS AL Aluminized model.

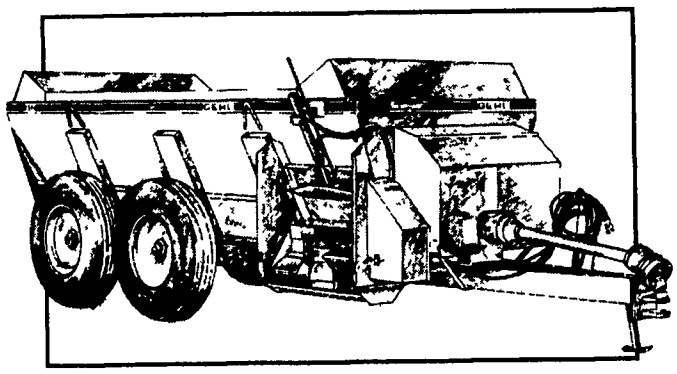
GEHL®

NORTH AMERICA'S #1 V-TANK SPREADER



The Gehl Scavenger® II is the "original" V-Tank spreader and still the best. It delivers outstanding performance in all types of manure, from liquid to semi-solid to pen-packed or even frozen manure.

- Patented square-tube auger – Hydraulically powers up and down to break up solid material.
- Variflo discharge – Spreads smoothly and evenly for complete application control.
- Five models – From 192 to 596 bushel heaped capacities to match your operation.
- 10-Year warranty – Against rust-through on the tank for peace of mind.
- Options include – Truck-mounted units and hydraulic lids.

BIG SAVINGS ON A SUPER BALER.

When it's time to bale, you demand reliability and performance And that's what a Gehl baler delivers. Here's how:

- Gehl's simple knotter, with fewer moving parts, ties a stronger knot.
- The wide hay pickup has close-spaced tines and flared side sheets to bring in more crop.
- A self-aligning plunger system means reduced wear for longer life.
- The optional hydraulic bale thrower has a self-contained hydraulic system and accurate electric controls.

Buyer's Choice Coupon

Present this coupon when purchasing a new Gehl rectangular baler between March 15 and June 30, 1993, and choose one of the following

- A Model 3200 Hydraulic bale thrower for for only $1,500. (That's more than 60% off the suggested list price!)
- 0% Interest for 24 Months.
- $1,000 Rebate.

ProAg Holds Second Annual Meeting

TUNKHANNOCK (Wyoming Co.) — Russell Redding, executive assistant to United States Senator Harris Wofford, addressed the second annual meeting of the Progressive Agriculture Organization (Pro Ag) recently at the Pink Apple.

Redding congratulated the members of the Pro Ag for their sincere efforts in seeking a solution to the declining farm prices. Redding told the group the presence of Pro Ag's activities are well known in Washington, D.C. Redding urges the members to keep informed on present proposed trade agreements, because the agreements will have a long lasting effect on farm prices.

John Pardoe, president of Pro Ag from Sullivan County, announced to the group that Pro Ag is cooperating with several farm organizations across the United States in supporting a new national dairy campaign. Pardoe said, "I'm pleased to report that Pro Ag will be playing an important roll in bringing unity among dairy farmers."

Arden Tewksbury, manager of Pro Ag, reported on recent meetings that Pro Ag and several other farm organizations that were held in Washington D.C. with staff members of the Senate and House Agriculture committees.

Tewksbury also reported on a meeting held in the New York State Grange Headquarters, where Pro Ag, New York State Grange, New York Farmers Union, and the New York Farm Alliance agreed on a position paper in support of the national dairy campaign.

John Tewksbury, chairman of the Resolutions Committee, presented several resolutions to the delegates for their consideration.

The delegates voted to stay neutral on the upcoming referendum concerning the continuance of the National Dairy Board—the Dairy Board is funded by a mandated assessment on all dairy farmers. However, Pro Ag will urge Secretary of Agriculture Espy to send a ballot to all dairy farmers and not permit bloc voting by dairy co-ops on the National Dairy Board issue.

The delegates also passed a resolution urging Pro Ag to work toward having the federal laws changed governing amendments to federal milk marketing orders. When amendments are proposed for a marketing order, producers must vote yes or no on what is called an amended order. Failure to pass the amended order results in the complete federal milk marketing order to be thrown out. The Pro Ag delegates believe strongly that dairy farmers should have an opportunity to vote only on the proposed amendment without the threat of loosing the whole order.

The delegates also passed a resolution urging Pro Ag to make tax reform a major issue in next year's Pennsylvania gubernatorial election. The delegates felt the burden must be removed from real estate owners as being the principle method of funding local municipalities.

Tewksbury reported that three years ago the voters of Pennsylvania turned down a proposed tax reform bill. Tewksbury said the bill became so complicated that voters turned it down because of fear and misunderstanding. The proposed bill would have allowed school districts to reduce their real estate taxes by 43 percent. Tewksbury, who serves on the board of directors of the Elk Lake School District, said the Elk Lake Board was geared to reduce the real estate taxes by the full 43 percent if the reform bill had passed.

Tewksbury said, "We will follow the instructions of the delegates and work diligently on a tax reform bill. No longer can the burden be placed on retired people who are trying to hold on to their households, small business people, and agriculture producers!"

Farmhand WingPackers break clods, level seedbeds...then gently firm the soil to reduce air pockets and seal in moisture.
Flat fold WingPackers range from 19' to 36' wide. Behind a disk harrow or field cultivator, they're an ideal final tool before planting. Behind a drill, they gently but firmly pack soil to increase seed-to-soil contact, improving germination for even field stands.

FACTORY DIRECT
ALSO SMALL NON-FOLD PACKERS

Check these high-performance features:
- All units fold flat to a safe transport width of 13'6".
- Single hydraulic control for transport and to raise/lower wings.
- Heavy-duty tubing and plate construction with 4"x6" tool bar
- Choose smooth 6-spoke rollers or crowfoot rollers for more aggressive action

BIG SAVINGS ON A SUPER BALER.

Buyer's Choice Coupon

Present this coupon when purchasing a new Gehl rectangular baler between March 15 and June 30, 1993, and choose one of the following:

- A Model 3200 Hydraulic bale thrower for for only $1,500. (That's more than 60% off the suggested list price!)
- 0% Interest for 24 Months.
- $1,000 Rebate.

See your Gehl Dealer for complete details.

NOTICE... We Have A New Gehl Demo SB 3250 Square Baler In Stock With An Additional Approximate $1,000 Discount. So With These 2 Deals Combined The Savings Are Big! Don't Miss It! Let's Make Your $ Saving Deal Now!

When it's time to bale, you demand reliability and performance. And that's what a Gehl baler delivers. Here's how:

- Gehl's simple knotter, with fewer moving parts, ties a stronger knot.
- The wide hay pickup has close-spaced tines and flared side sheets to bring in more crop.
- A self-aligning plunger system means reduced wear for longer life.
- The optional hydraulic bale thrower has a self- contained hydraulic system and accurate electric controls.

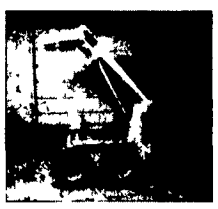
The Perfect Size Compact Low Clearance Diesel Skid Loader In Stock At Binkley & Hurst Bros.

Ready To Work For You!

54" Wide



GEHL

Unmatched serviceability. The entire ROPS/FOPS structure pivots back and out of the way and locks in the "up" position for full and easy access to drive and hydraulic components. The spring-loaded, counter-balanced ROPS/FOPS makes roll-back an easy, one-person operation that takes only minutes. In addition, the rear grill swings open and the engine cover swings up for access to the engine, battery and filters.

North America's #1-Selling V-Tank Spreader

The Gehl Scavenger® II is the "original" V-Tank spreader and still the best. It delivers outstanding performance in all types of manure, from liquid to semi-solid to pen-packed or even frozen manure

- Patented square-tube auger — Hydraulically powers up and down to break up solid material
- Varifio discharge — Spreads smoothly and evenly for complete application control
- Five models — From 192 to 596 bushel heaped capacities to match your operation
- 10-year warranty — Against rust-through on the tank for peace of mind.
- Options include — Truck-mounted units and hydraulic lids

OPERATOR FRIENDLY

The AGCO Allis 6600 Series row crop tractors are engineered to put you comfortably in control. In addition to a comfortable cab or a platform and ROPS you get low maintenance, low operating costs and a 4-year/4,000-hour warranty.

- Trouble-free, air- and oil-cooled engine.
- Many speed choices.
- PTO power and versatility.
- Quality performance and comfort.

To experience the user-friendliness of the 6600 Series tractors, or any of the "orange" line of AGCO Allis tractors ranging from 40 to 128 PTO hp, stop by or call us soon.

AN ALL-NEW BREED OF POWER - READY FOR IMMEDIATE DELIVERY

NEW 6000 SERIES TRACTORS...
NEW 600 SERIES LOADERS... GREAT NEWS

Your hydraulic power needs vary from one loader job to the next. So we built a new hydraulic system for new 6000 Series Tractors that varies pressure and flow to match your demand. If you need a big flow of oil, you'll get it... the 16 gpm main pump provides maximum pressure up to 2900 psi. You get exactly the response you need, fed to the fastest cycling, most productive new loaders we've ever built. Come see us for more details.

Who makes the most practical tractors?

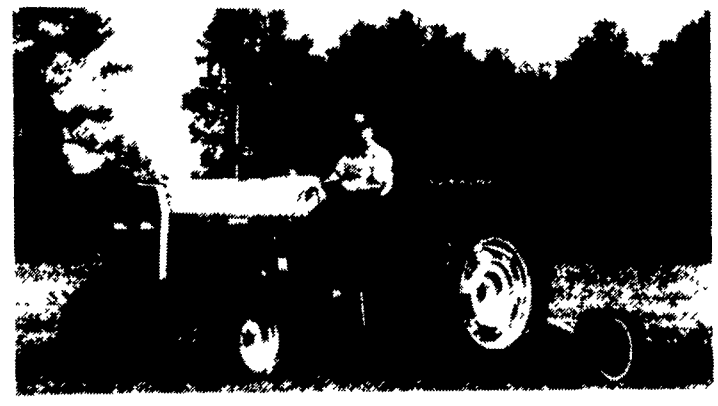
In fact, one of every five tractors now sold in the Western World is an M-F. Which makes Massey-Ferguson the Western World's largest tractor manufacturer.

One of the big reasons for this popularity is the great value of the 50-90 PTO hp line of M-F 300 Series tractors.

They all give you the torque, economy and reliability of world-famous Perkins diesel engines and all the advantages of advanced Ferguson system hydraulics. Plus you get the practical features you want, like hydrostatic steering as standard equipment.

Massey-Ferguson engineers put a lot of time and effort into designing these tractors to save more of your time and effort. They're incredibly easy to operate and maintain. And they have one of the best reliability records of any tractor ever made.

We'd like to show you why an M-F 300 Series tractor can be the best value for your hard-earned investment.



Practical choices.

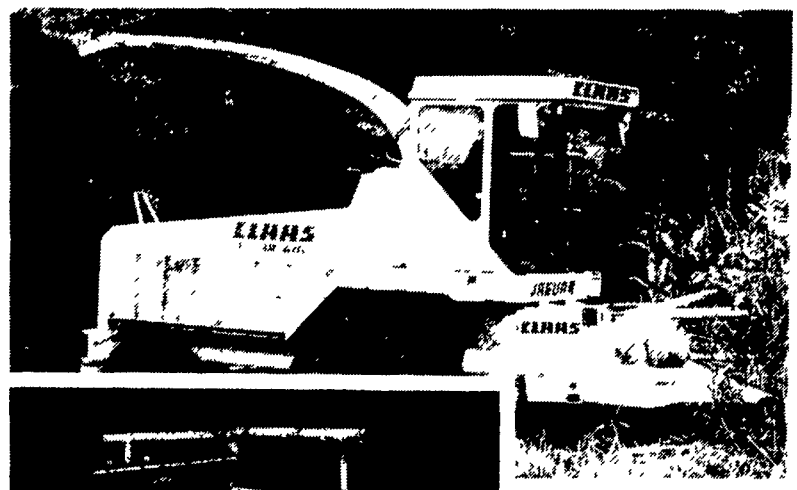
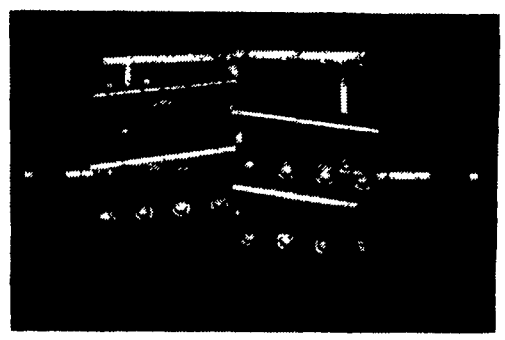
THE CLAAS HARVESTER





MAXIMUM FEED QUALITY

To ensure maximum feed quality from maize it is vital to crack every kernel. Digestion of uncracked maize falls as the maize becomes drier Independent trials have shown the Claas corn cracker to be close to 100% effective From the cylinder the corn passes through the two large diameter rollers with saw tooth profiles The rollers run at different speeds to intensify the grinding effect and open up each kernel It is a fairly tough process so the latest generation of corn crackers take account of the wear involved on the rollers. Nothing can reduce the wear but Claas have cut the cost of repair by making the outer sleeve replaceable The shaft, drive pulley and bearings can all be reused which cuts down repair bills dramatically Adjusting the distance between the two rollers is accomplished by turning two handles, easily accessible behind the cab. In no time at all the degree of cracking can be matched to the ripeness of the crop

RELIABILITY

The CLAAS Cutterbox is a unique balanced design using 2 knives in a V configuration. This forces the cutting action toward the center instead of the outside. This is the secret of their horsepower requirement and good quality of cut.

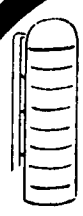
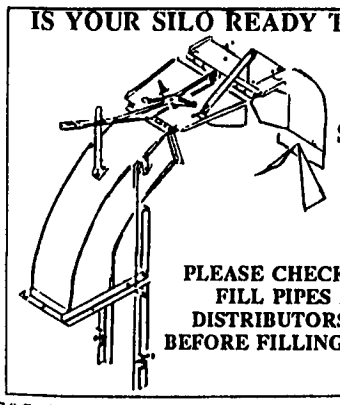
S & S SILO SERVICE



ATTENTION FARMERS
Strengthen And Reseal Your Silo With Shotcrete
STRONGER AND WILL OUT LAST PLASTER

IS YOUR SILO READY TO BE FILLED WITH GRASS SILAGE?



PLEASE CHECK YOUR FILL PIPES AND DISTRIBUTORS NOW BEFORE FILLING SEASON

S&S Silo Service prepares the silo surface by using a 3,000 lb. pressure washer, thus making the silo moist, making a much better surface to bond shotcrete. After shotcreting, S&S always takes away any roughness by applying a steel trowel finish.

The excellent bonding of shotcrete to the silo will keep out moisture and prevent mold from growing on the side of the silo.

If Your Silo Needs New Life...

Try Our Poly Silo Liners

-THE ADVANTAGE OF A POLY LINER-

- Spoilage is reduced around doors.
- Feed is exposed to less oxygen - better fermentation.
- Allows storage of high moisture grains or dry grains in a conventional silo.
- Delays repair or replacement of corroded silos.
- Prevents corrosive acids from contacting silo wall - extends silo life.
- Quick installation.
- Effectively seals silos from air and weather.

The Liners Are Manufactured To Fit Most Standard Diameter Silos.

CONCRETE REASONS WHY A NEW POURED CONCRETE SILO IS YOUR BEST INVESTMENT...

A. Enhancement of cash flow. Improved forage quality results in consistent, and increased milk production.

B. "Safe Silo" Our silos meet or exceed industry standards, reducing/protecting lender liability.

C. Initial Cost. Used or cheap pre-fab silos may have a lower initial cost, but based upon useful life, the new poured concrete silo will have a lower annual cost: due to longer life and lower maintenance costs.

D. Residual Value. Our new, poured concrete silos are built for "generations of use", and enhance the future value of the farm.

E. Storage Losses Reduced. Poured concrete silos consistently out-perform all other methods of storing and preserving the total digestible nutrients in forage crops.

F. Protecting Forage Quality. Oxygen and heat cause the most damage to stored silage and haylage. Our poured concrete silos are the very best system to PROTECT YOUR FORAGE QUALITY... "NOBODY PROTECTS FORAGE QUALITY LIKE WE DO...NOBODY"

NO USED SILOS!
NO PREOWNED SILOS!
